

Draft Deferment Regulations And Classifications Told

Men who seek deferment from the draft because of their occupation will have to prove that their jobs are necessary in civilian activities or to the war production program, selective service headquarters announced here Wednesday.

The new regulations, issued since the declaration of war, provide that such deferments shall be granted for six months or less, or be restricted to the time required to train a replacement for the registrant.

Men necessary in any industry, business, employment, agricultural pursuit, governmental service, or any other activity which is essential to the national health, safety or interest will be placed in class 1.

Class 1-B will include men in war production industries.

The new regulations were interpreted to mean that many young men now in war industries and other vital activities will go into the armed forces, when men are trained to take over their jobs.

- List of classifications of all men follow:
- Available for or in military service—class 1-A: Available for military service; 1-A-O: Conscientious objector available for non-combatant military service; 1-B: available for limited military service; 1-B-O: conscientious objector available for non-combatant limited military service; 1-C: member of armed forces; 1-H: man deferred by reason of age.
 - Deferred by reason of occupation—1 I-A: man necessary in his civilian activity; 1 I-B: man necessary in war production program.
 - Deferred by reason of dependency—1 I 1-A: man deferred because of having dependents.
 - Deferred for miscellaneous reasons—1 V-A: man who has completed service; 1 V-B: official deferred by law; 1 V-C: neutral and enemy aliens; 1 V-D: minister of religion or divinity student.

Available for work of national importance under civilian direction—1 V-E: conscientious objector available for civilian work; 1 V-E-S: conscientious objector available for limited civilian work; 1 V-E-H: conscientious objector deferred by reason of age.

Deferred by reason of being unfit—QV-F: physically, mentally or morally unfit.

Portland Gets Guard Offices

The Oregon state guard, created recently by order of Gov. Charles A. Sprague to replace the Oregon national guard now in military service, Wednesday moved its headquarters from Salem to the Portland armory.

Brig. Gen. Alvin C. Baker is commander of the state guard.

Service Men

Nine young men from Salem, who enlisted in the army air corps between January 1 and 10, have been assigned to duty at Wichita Falls, Tex., according to Tech. Sgt. Willis S. Estep, in charge of the local army recruiting office.

The group includes Thomas Roen, Stanley E. Parton, LeRoy R. Bright, Ralph E. Torgerson, Joseph F. Huneger, Harry S. Gambit, George D. Henderson, Kenneth E. Stewart and Eugene J. Reynolds.

James T. Kirkin, Salem, has also enlisted in the army.

Second Lt. Howard G. Adams, 1386 State street, Salem, was recently graduated from the officers' course (tactical) of the quartermaster school located at Camp Lee, Va.

PORTLAND, Jan. 14—(AP)—William Thompson, Portland, who fibbed about his age to get into the Union army, observed his 94th birthday Tuesday. He is in good health.

Where They Are What They're Doing

Thompson served with the 157th volunteer New York infantry during the war between the states and said he "voted for Lincoln before I was 18."

HAZEL GREEN—The first Japanese to volunteer from the Lash area is Frank T. Tanizaki, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Tanizaki. Young Tanizaki passed his examinations and is now in training with the US army.

According to news reaching his family in Salem Wednesday, Dr. W. E. Buren received his captain's commission early this week. Capt. Buren is now with the 115th medical regiment, 40th division, at Los Angeles. He recently completed an intensive two-month course at the medical service school at Carlisle Barracks, Penn. While studying in Carlisle, as one of the 450 medical officers, Capt. Buren took work in chemical warfare under Capt. Glenn Campbell, a Willamette university graduate. While in the east Capt. and Mrs. Buren met Col. Willis Vincent at Alexandria, Va., Capt. John Poorman at Washington, DC, and visited Mr. and Mrs. Perry T. Buren also in Washington.

Three enlisted men on duty at Oregon selective service headquarters since their induction from the national guard, October 6, 1940, have been selected to attend the officers' candidate school of the quartermaster corps at Camp Lee, Va., Lt. Col. Elmer V. Wootton, state director, announced Wednesday.

The men are Tech. Sgt. Robert S. Hussey, Salem; Staff Sgt. Charles A. Schaefer, Portland, and Sgt. Grant H. Alexander, Portland.

The men will report at Camp Lee on or before January 23. Upon completion of the course the men will be commissioned second lieutenants in the quartermaster corps.

Navy Takes Salem Youth After He Loses Tonsils; Twins Join

Cecil James Gantenbein of Salem, first man to apply at the navy recruiting station here for enlistment following the attack on Pearl Harbor, has now been accepted, the delay being due to a tonsillectomy. Gantenbein enlisted as a third class baker in the naval reserve, reports Robert B. Fallon, chief quartermaster, in charge of the Salem recruiting station.

Two sets of twins have recently enlisted through the Salem office, the latest being Edward Aloysius Walk and Lawrence Anthony Walk of Stayton. Brothers enlisting together include Edward George Kreitzer and William Kreitzer, also of Stayton.

Enlistments are now open for construction regiments in class V-6 of the naval reserve, Fallon reports. These regiments contain all ratings of the other branches of the navy and naval reserve. Regiments will consist of three battalions, four companies each, plus a headquarters company.

Those enlisting in this branch of service under the present plan will be placed on inactive duty subject to immediate call.

Men from the Willamette valley district enlisting in navy or naval reserve since January 7 include:

Lebanon—Cecil Robert Fitzwater.

Brooks—Lyle Edward Klampe.

Salem—Cecil James Gantenbein, Nile Jennings Pearce, Otto Kelly Relling, Llewellyn Hale Powell, jr.

Dallas—Lloyd Winfield Lane, Floyd Amos Ross.

Dundee—George William Ottenbacher.
