serious damage. Assistant Chief William Iwan said.

Momentary breaks in power service around 6 p.m. were followed by a total failure at 6:45, the business district included, that lasted until 7:30. Much of north Salem remained in darkness for hours afterward.

Three major transmission lines were disrupted north of Salem, two of them operated by Portland General Electric company and the other the big 115,000-volt Bonneville circuit. The latter was supplying customers as far north as Salem on an emergency basis from the Eugene municipal generating plants.

District Manager W. M. Hamilton said six poles fell along the 67,900-volt line between Salem and Silverton—an all-night job to repair—and the Portland General's line from Portland on the west side of the Willamette river was broken north of Newberg. The company's suspension line across the river connecting Salem circuits with the West Salem substation also went out.

Crashing glass heard during the "blackout" in downtown Salem came from the Hartman Jewelry store, Liberty and State streets, where a large display window broke. Skylights collapsed in one Liberty street store building.

A large fir tree in Marion square fell across Union street, temporarily blocking the Southern Pacific railroad's Dallas line.

A small garage collapsed, damaging the automobile of a line-man called out by the power company.

Anzac Pleas Stir Rift in Parliament

LONDON, Jan. 24—(AP)—Australia's urgent demands for aid deeply stirred Britain Saturday night and imperiled what most parliamentary circles regarded as Prime Minister Churchill's plan to protect criticized cabinet members with the mantle of his prestige.

Members of parliament, the press and the man in the street united in looking searchingly at Whitehall for definite news of help dispatched to the far-flung ABCD Pacific front—news that may be forthcoming in Churchill's report to parliament early in the week.

Critics in parliament took potshots at Sir Archibald Sinclair, air minister, and others of the cabinet in speeches.

Even Sir Stafford Cripps, recently returned from Moscow as retired ambassador, took a slap at Whitehall with the suggestion that certain countries might follow Russia's lead in ousting old generals and giving younger officers a chance.

The long silent political bureau of the communist party of Great Britain bluntly asked for the ousting of "the men of Munich" from the cabinet as responsible for the critical situation in the southwest Pacific.

Churchill, it was reported, planned to head off his critics by demanding an immediate vote of confidence.

Song Written In Silverton On Program

SILVERTON—A patriotic song, written by Lowell F. Hoblitt of Silverton, formed a surprise feature in the well received program given by the Eugene Gleeman Thursday night at the high school.

John Stark Evans, who directed, announced that without consulting anyone he had decided to give as a special number this song written by one of the local townsmen. It was sung as a solo by Hershahl Scott. The number had a delightful tilt and a large number of the audience later expressed that it would undoubtedly become one of the popular war numbers of World War No. 2.

An attractive feature of the concert was the violin work of Verne Sellin, who played "Romance" (Concerto in D Minor) by Wieniawski as a solo, and accompanied Robert Johnson's baritone solo, "Bendemeer's Stream" by Moore-Gatty.

The program closed with "Star Spangled Banner" with a special brass quartet arranged by Conductor Evans, and played by Carson, Bates, Hunt and Spough. Cora Moore Frey was accompanist for the men in their 17th season and 76th concert.

The Gleemen were brought here by the Silverton Rotary club and all proceeds of the concert will go toward the high school tennis courts and other youth service in Silverton.

Navy Reports Possible Raids Off West Coast

SEATTLE, Jan. 24—(AP)—The 13th naval district staff headquarters reported Saturday the possibility that the Japanese may attack merchant shipping off the west coast similar to attacks by enemy war craft in Atlantic waters recently.

"Investigation of reports of flares at sea and of blinker shore lights is going forward," the report added.

"US and Canadian air and surface patrols are continuing their night and day vigilance. In the interests of security, detailed information received through such patrols was not given out. Recent appearances of submarines off the west coast, and of unidentified vessels off Alaska, probably means that the enemy was attempting reconnaissance."

"However," the report to the public said, "there is no reason to assume that the Japanese will not attempt an attack on merchant vessels similar to that staged the past few days on the Atlantic coast."

It said other reasons for the submarine menace on this coast might be enemy tests of the effectiveness of US patrol forces; an effort to divert these forces to convoy duty, or possibly even to land or pick up enemy agents.

It said Rear Admiral C. S. Freeman, commanding the Pacific northern naval coastal frontier, and the naval district, was continuing conferences with commercial fishery industry leaders on plans for protecting the fishing fleet. He said he considered the matter of "the utmost importance."

British Hit Axis Forces In Africa

CAIRO, Jan. 24—(AP)—Mobile columns of the British Eighth army smashed Saturday night at the counter-attacking forces of Nazi General Erwin Rommel in a hard and sprawling battle of tanks on the eastern side of the Cirenaican desert hump.

The engagement was on a battlefield of great size, in a triangle bounded by Agedabia, Saunna, 42 miles to the east and Antelat, 30 miles to the north.

British middle-eastern headquarters was without word of precise results, but it felt able to report that the strong RAF forces in the desert had done "great execution" in bombing and strafing assaults on the enemy's mechanized transports all around Agedabia.

Rommel's force was split in several columns, each with tanks. His immediate objective appeared to be destruction of the big depots of supply which the British are said to have established in the present battle area as a preliminary to continuation of their general drive on Tripolitania.

Battle Rages On 80-Mile Malay Front

SINGAPORE, Jan. 24—(AP)—A mighty battle raged indecisively in the greatest of confusion along the 80-mile breadth of the Malay peninsula approximately 70 miles north of Singapore Saturday night.

Australian gunners poured fire into massed tank, truck and infantry columns and RAF squadrons roamed the battlefield strafing and bombing troop concentrations and supply columns to the rear. Australian lines in general were contracting, faced with the difficult problems of insufficient men and material.

In the western and eastern sectors the battle was a melee of Japanese who had infiltrated through jungles and rubber groves and Australian detachments sent out to track down and eliminate them.

On the western coast Saturday's communique said some of the heaviest fighting was taking place at Batu Pahat, where only Japanese infiltration activity had previously been reported.

Dispatches from the front even mentioned some Japanese patrols south of Batu Pahat, but apparently they were not numerous or strong.

Bukit Payong, the rugged hill where a violent battle was in progress two days ago, is about nine miles northeast of Batu Pahat, and 11 miles west of Yong Peng.

up and down the entire front territory as large as England and Scotland put together.

In driving to Khelm red forces were credited with drawing the Germans out of position by tricky feinting maneuvers, then smashing them one by one.

Not only was this northern anchor of the German line seized, but the Russians found evidence in town after town that the Germans had stocked up for a winter stand, Izvestia declared.

Warehouses packed with food and military supplies were reported captured. At recaptured Andreapol alone it said large stores of French wine, 1000 barrels of gasoline, 10,000 cans of Norwegian food and 150 freight cars laden with war supplies were taken.

News is lacking of such sweeping advances on the southern front as in the northwest, but there have been indications of heavy engagements similar to those preceding yesterday's announcement of the recapture of Khelm and numerous other strategic centers in that area.

A 10-mile advance along the road beyond reclaimed Mozhaik toward Smolensk was announced Saturday with the capture of Borodino, where Napoleon won his last great victory.

Girls Read Home News In Capital

SILVERTON—Even the bright surroundings of the periodical reading room in the Congressional library at Washington, DC, didn't keep Oregon girls from looking up The Oregon Statesman and reading the "home town news," according to Inga Thorkildson in a letter received at the city hall Wednesday by her former co-workers.

Miss Thorkildson left for her new work at Washington shortly after the first of the year. She and her sister, Hildur Thorkildson, formerly of Salem but now also in Washington, went on a sight-seeing tour and it was upon their first visit to the Congressional library that they sought out The Statesman. Miss Thorkildson wrote that it seemed "good to see the paper again! A third sister, Alice Thorkildson, is also employed in Washington.

Miss Thorkildson wrote that the three had visited with Arthur Dahl, Jr., of Silverton who, too, went to Washington this month in government service.

Short Says—Not a Word

Both Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short left Honolulu some time ago and there was no official comment here on the report.

Intensely interested service men and civilians bought out newspaper extras by the thousands.

Particular amazement was caused by the commission's revelation that although a Japanese submarine was sunk off Pearl Harbor more than an hour before the raid, no general alarm was sounded.

Besides verifying many rumors that had been afloat here persistently since the attack, the report brought out many facts which had not even been whispered outside high official circles.

The most common unofficial reaction could be summed up in this way:

"It's a good thing. It will clear the air and clear the decks for the hard job ahead. The report contains a lesson for all. It will make the entire Hawaiian area more alert from now on."

One unofficial criticism of the report expressed by numerous persons was that it failed to tell what happened that morning at Pearl Harbor.

A letter from Duvell enclosing a check for $30 and a note saying "although my income is too low to be taxed, I want to help our war chest."

A $2 money order from a resident of Ince. He explained that with an income of $950 and two dependents, he was required to file no income tax return, but "wanted to help out the war effort."

A $5 bill from a retired Everett man whose income was less than $750. He sent it "as a gift to the United States defense program."

"Keep the change," a Tacoma woman wrote Uncle Sam, enclosing a $400 check with his $384.97 tax returns.
