

Local News Briefs

To Talk on Marketing—N. E. Dodd, western division AAA director, will discuss marketing problems with Oregon farmers at a Salem Monday in the first of two scheduled meetings in Oregon, the state AAA office announced Saturday at Corvallis. Producers and handlers of poultry, dairy products, fruits, and vegetables have been invited to attend the meeting in the hearing room in the basement of the state capitol.

Shorthand, grammar and punctuation, letter writing, commercial law, typing—Classes in these subjects for beginners on Monday, Feb. 16, at the Capital Business College Liberty and Chemeketa Sts. Ph. 5087.

Brooks to Speak—Principal talk at the Monday night meeting of Capital post, American Legion, and auxiliary will be Russell Brooks, formerly of Salem and a member of the US consular service, recently in South Africa. The session, at 8 o'clock, is at the Legion hall at Cottage and Chemeketa streets.

Lutz florist, Ph. 9592 1276 N. Lib.

Tires Stolen—Mrs. N. Elberg, 555 North 15th street, reported to city police Saturday that four tires, tubes and rims had been stolen from her car. She placed the theft at something more than two weeks ago. Police thought they had traced the job to a youth who had since left the city, but they were investigating reported resale of the tires here.

Argo Hotel—Special Sunday Dinner from 55c. Quality and Service.

Child Burned—Dorothy Green, 7, resident of 66 Williams avenue, was taken to Salem General hospital Saturday morning after city first aid men had given her first aid for second and third degree burns sustained when her clothing caught fire at her home. Hospital attendants said her condition was not critical.

For watch and clock repairing—H. T. Love, 141 S. Liberty.

First Taxes Paid—First of the 60 persons who Saturday went to Marion county courthouse to pay 1942 taxes, less than 24 hours after statements were in the mail, were John E. Grivey and Goldie A. Grivey, 270 South 14th street, Salem. A total of 31,725 statements were mailed out.

Taxes Turned In—A turnover of $9,225.04 from the 1941 tax roll Saturday by the tax collection department of Sheriff A. C. Burk's office includes $1229.08 earmarked for the Salem school district and $1149.34 for the city of Salem.

Meeting Stated—ARYE, No. 12, will meet at the George Stoddard home, 1420 North Fourth street, Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Coming Events

Feb. 15 National Christian Mission opens here.

February 27-28—State High school speech contests at Willamette university.

Denies Report—Attorney General I. H. VanWinkle declared Saturday that he would not be a candidate for justice of the state supreme court at the primary election. It was reported previously that he was being urged to enter the supreme court contest. Three incumbents of the supreme court, whose terms expire early next year, already have filed to succeed themselves at the primary election.

Bible Book House has moved to new location, 150 S. Liberty.

Speeches Scheduled—Speakers on the Salem Trades and Labor council monthly educational program Tuesday night will be Gov. Charles A. Sprague and Russell Brooks. Brooks, a former Salem man, now in the government diplomatic service, is in Salem for a visit before going to a new post in northern Africa.

Savings—insured to $5,000.00—are earning 3 1/2% at Salem Federal, 130 South Liberty.

Speaker Named—"The Right Way to a Better World" will be the subject of Dr. Ralph Walker, of the White Temple church of Portland when he speaks at the regular Monday luncheon meeting of the chamber of commerce. Dr. Walker is to be main speaker for the National Christian mission to be held in Salem this week.

To Attend Conclave—John D. Caughell, H. J. Walrath, and A. A. Hoscher, Salem, and Ralph Adams, Silverton, will be among the insurance men in this district attending the national convention of the State Farm Mutual Insurance company in Chicago, February 23-25. The delegation is headed by E. A. Guenther, district manager.

Borrowed Car Left—Charles J. Sundland, 663 North Liberty street, told Salem city police Saturday that he would go to Portland to get his car which Portland police had reported finding abandoned and stripped on a downtown street in their city. Sundland said he had let an acquaintance use the vehicle.

Wheatland Ferry Down—While a new gasoline engine is in process of installation on Wheatland ferry, the vessel, operated jointly by Marion and Yamhill counties, is inoperative, Marion county court was informed Saturday.

Expert, reliable roof repairing, Johns Manville materials, Mathis Bros., 164 S. Com'l. Phone 4642.

Stockman Files Candidacy for Congress

Lowell Stockman, Pendleton, Saturday filed his declaration of candidacy for the office of representative in congress from the second congressional district, eastern Oregon, at the republican primary election.

His slogan: "Wheatgrowers: All out war effort instead of pensions to congress."

As his platform, he promises to work for a strong national defense in the war, establishment of defense industries in his district "out of danger zone along the coast," farmer protection and profiteering prevention. Stockman was until recently a member of the state liquor control commission and has held other public positions of trust. Walter E. Pierce, La Grande democrat, is the incumbent.

Sunday School Workers Set For Banquet

Dr. Norman C. Thorne, assistant superintendent of schools in Portland and well known leader in educational circles, will be the main speaker at the Sunday school workers banquet to be held Wednesday at 6:15 p. m. at the First Methodist church.

The dinner, one of a series during the National Christian mission, will have Dr. Franklin Thompson, vice president of Willamette university, as toastmaster. After his talk Dr. Thorne, who at present is in charge of a large Sunday school class of college age people in Portland as well as being a teacher in other fields of Bible instruction, will lead a round table discussion.

Special music will be provided by Delbert Henderson, John Schmidt and Fred Bates. Tickets for the dinner, which will be served by the women of the church, should be purchased by 4 p. m. Monday from Salem church pastors, according to Mrs. Leslie Carson, who is chairman for the event.

Teachers Meet—National Teachers club will meet for a covered dish dinner Tuesday night at 6 o'clock at the Central Howell school. All interested teachers are invited to attend.

Joins Chamber—New member of the chamber of commerce is Lewis Judson, farmer and dairyman, 1000 Judson street. The membership was obtained by F. D. Thielsen.

Oregon Pulp & Paper Company Files Incorporation Papers

Supplementary articles of incorporation for the Oregon Pulp & Paper company, provided for in a resolution by directors at a meeting earlier in the week, were filed Saturday with the Marion county clerk. Authorized capital stock of the corporation, through the additional articles, becomes $1,500,000 in 15,000 shares of common stock with $100 par value, and $65,800 in 658 shares of preferred stock with the same par value.

Signatures on the supplementary articles are those of Laban A. Seavey, W. S. Walton, M. C. Finley, A. M. Cronin, Jr., H. L. P. Ledbetter, T. Osmund and Nils G. Teren.

—CIRCUIT COURT— Whites vs. Southern Pacific company; opening Monday before Judge L. H. McMahon.

Kantelberg vs. Prudential Insurance company; opens Monday before Judge E. M. Page.

Pence vs. State Industrial Accident commission; demurrer sustained and case dismissed by Judge McMahan on motion of defendant.

John Gottfried vs. State Industrial Accident commission; complaint dismissed on mandate from state supreme court.

Credit Bureaus, Inc., vs. Loren T. King and Frances King; order of dismissal as to defendant Frances King.

L. E. Barrick and Vera I. Barrick vs. Ralph Helm and others; complaint to quiet title to lot 2, block 8, original townsite of Salem.

W. A. Matting and Kathryn H. Mosley vs. Marie Hortense Lederer, Grant H. Lederer and Charles A. Matting; complaint seeking cancellation of a deed, alleging that it was given to Marie Hortense Lederer by Angelique Hortense Matting, now deceased, after undue influence and misrepresentation; charges that Mrs. Lederer failed to carry out provisions of deed in supporting her mother for the balance of her life.

—PROBATE COURT— Cornelia A. Davis estate; report by Turner Memorial home, trustee, covers home's activities for 1941, shows appraisement of $95,064.42 with cash receipts of $25,269.53, disbursements of $16,544.34, including loans of $4900. All farm and pasture land is declared leased and subject to sale and home is reported as caring for 26 persons under provisions of will of late Mrs. Davis.

Mary V. Charlton estate; E. Carl Charlton named administrator of estate of probable $3000 value in Crook county property; Hugh Stewart, R. J. Carpenter and H. W. Gilbertson appointed appraisers. Horace D. Hobbs estate; appraised at $1125 by W. G. Krueger, Genevieve Walling and J. Ray Rhoten; order authorizes H. M. Hobbs to sell specified personal property.

Appa Stober guardianship; Grace B. Stober, guardian ad litem, authorized to settle a claim for $1900 against T. L. Kuhns and H. E. Spaulding growing out of a collision at Winter and D streets March 26, 1940; negligence on part of Kuhns and Spaulding is denied in the formal settlement. Claims of $585 for physician's and medical services, $200 attorney's fees and $8.65 filing fee ordered paid.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

—JUSTICE COURT— C. L. Gosser, disorderly conduct, ordered dismissed.

—MUNICIPAL COURT— Harold Francis Bailey; vagrancy; 10 days in jail.

Frank Downard, transient; drunk; 30 days in jail; suspended on promise to leave city.

Oscar Wenger, Pratum; drunk; 10 day jail sentence suspended on promise to leave city.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

Dick Powell Makes Song Parts Pay

There's always a certain disadvantage about being known as a crooner.

Dick Powell, playing Sunday at the Liberty theatre opposite Joan Blondell, his real-life mate, in Universal's "Model Wife," in which, incidentally, he has only one line of a popular ballad to warble, learned about that disadvantage a long, long time ago.

Hollywood had him crooning to a paper mache moon so much that the public began to believe that he had something to do with it, like Don Ameche and the telephone, or Spencer Tracy and the electric light.

And there's something about being called a crooner that makes real estate developers, quarrel-pickers in a cafe and insurance salesmen regard one as their particular sucker.

It was very much on the annoying side to Powell—until he decided to urn it to his own ends.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

—MARRIAGE LICENSES— Homer Lyon, 29, forester, 1149 Court street, and Ruth Perfect, 22, secretary, both of Salem. Coe I. Lebengood, 27, laborer, Lebanon, and Miriam M. Hale, 22, sales person, route one, Tangent.

He decided that as long as real estate promoters were so anxious to sell to him, he'd buy. But first he figured out a scheme for proving properties, by checking and rechecking all the factors involved, including average income of the neighborhood, traffic and transportation facilities and building records.

Health Board Plans Giving Second Tests

Second immunizations will be given by the Marion county department of health staff nurses this week at various schools in the county and city.

The schedule is as follows: Monday, 9 a.m., Cloverdale and Washington school; 10 a.m., Pleasant View, Lake Lahish, Grant; 11 a.m., Turner, Crawford, Gervais; 1 p.m., Gervais parochial school; 2:30 p.m., St. Louis; 1:30-3:30 p.m., tuberculin testing at Mt. Angel Academy.

Tuesday, 10 a.m., Staying, St. Paul; 1 p.m., Four Corners, Silver Cliff; 2 p.m., Mahoney, St. Mary's, Stayton; Wednesday, 1:30-3 p.m., school clinic at health department; 1 p.m., immunizations, vaccinations, Woodburn; Thursday, 10-11 a.m., infant clinic, health department; 9-12 a.m., dental examinations at St. Joseph's; 10 a.m., immunizations, vaccinations, Sublimity; 1 p.m., immunizations, vaccinations, Auburn, Union Hill; 2:30 p.m., Independence.

Friday, 10:30 a.m., immunizations, Pioneer, Ankeny; 1 p.m., immunizations, vaccinations, Salem Heights; Saturday, 9-12 a.m., regular immunization clinic, health office.