Marion Men Join in Vote

About 300 County Farmers Eligible For Referendum

Marion county wheat growers, who last year approved wheat marketing quotas by a vote of 193 to 16, will join wheat farmers throughout the nation in voting at the second wheat marketing quota referendum on May 2.

Approximately 300 farmers in this county will be eligible to vote in the referendum, the county AAA office reports. Only those farmers growing more than 15 acres of wheat are affected by marketing quotas, and accordingly are eligible to vote on quotas.

Quotas for the 1942 wheat crop ere proclaimed by the secretary of agriculture last July, when it became apparent that the wheat supply would exceed the marketing quota level set by law. The greatest supply of wheat on record, 1,428,000 bushels, is now in sight for 1942-43. This is nearly 100,000,000 bushels more than last year's huge supply.

With Marion county farmers doing their part in American agriculture's great wartime food production program, W. M. Tate, chairman of the county AAA committee believes that it has become doubly important that marketing quotas remain in effect for the 1942 wheat crop.

Labor, materials, and machines are going to be scarce in 1942, and to obtain the production needed in the Food for Victory program, Of Equipment agriculture must concentrate every effort and resource on needed crops, the chairman pointed

The chairman reported that without producing a single bushel this year, the United States has enough wheat on hand to supply all home needs and foreign outlets.

Indicative of the size of present supplies is the recently announced feed wheat program. whereby wheat is made available to livestock and poultry producers at the local loan value in an attempt to reduce stocks and provide storage for the 1942 crop.

Bale Ties Hit By Shortage

Instructions Given For Conservation; Of Present Supply

Another threat of shortage this week drew a prescription for conservation from the Marion county USDA war board-bale ties are the latest agricultural item to be affected by the war-time shortage

Robert E. Rieder, of the county USDA war board, asks farmers, dairymen, stockyard operators and livestock producers to exert special efforts to conserve the present supply of bale ties. Such efforts will allow ties which are carefully removed from bales now to be re-used this summer. Rieder suggests that bale ties be removed without cutting, or be cut as close to the loop as possible. When baling, short pieces of wire bale ties which ordinarily would be discarded can be spliced and Rieder has been informed that farmers will need between 90,000 and 100,000 tons of 14 and 15gauge wire for baling hay and straw and other forage crops in 1942, or the equivalent in weight to about three modern battleships, or 3000 medium tanks.

Repeating the previous call for conservation of burlap, Rieder asks farmers not to sell their old burlap sacks. Supplies of new sacks will be limited, he points out, and every old sack should be saved for use at harvest time.

Grain Market Prices Rise

CHICAGO, Feb. 16-(AP)-Wheat prices were up about a cent a bushel Monday at the Commodity Credit corporation, government ever normal granary agency. raised by that much the price at which it offered old grain for sale to millers. Other grains followed the upturn in wheat, rye and soybeans advancing more than a cent at one stage but later losing much of this gain due to profit taking. Failure of the government to increase its asking prices on corn and feed wheat held feed grain advances in check. Wheat closed %-% cent higher than Saturday, The new COC minimum price for No. 2 grades of wheat here was $1.32, a cent higher than the price which had been in effect about a month. Grain men pointed out that this price was slightly over the quotation at which millers could buy wheat for May delivery in the futures market and several cents over quotations for spot delivery.

Thus, while restricting purchases in both the futures and spot markets, the premium quoted for government grain still left leeway for possible price gains in the open trade and thus encouraged
