County Heads Ponder Roads

With a view to fixing minimum standards as to road conditions before acceptance and dedication as county roads, the county court and County Engineer N. C. Hubbs early this week viewed several short thoroughfares in the Salem suburban area. Not all of the stretches of road which will be under consideration this spring have been inspected, court members declared.

Included on the list so far are a portion of Childs avenue a quarter mile in length; a similar length of Branch avenue; a half mile each of Sunset avenue and Mabel avenue and its extensions; .7 of a mile of Kurtz road; .6 of a mile of Cloverleaf road; Abrams avenue and Carlton way totaling a half mile.

Church Begins Public Rites

Rev. Orval C. Keller, superintendent of the Oregon district of the Pilgrim Holiness church, announces his denomination will begin public services in Salem Sunday. Heretofore the group here has been meeting in homes.

Regular services and prayer meetings will be held in a remodeled store building at 975 Market street. Services will be held at the usual hours each Sunday. Dr. E. P. Dixon, Newberg, will be pastor for the present, assisted by Rev. Keller.

All Pilgrims and friends in this area are invited to attend.

Salem Labor Hears Talks By Officials

"If we don't realize our danger, we may be defeated in this war," declared Russell Brooks, United States consul, while Gov. Charles A. Sprague stressed "the all out effort in which all groups must participate," in talks Tuesday night before the Salem Trades and Labor council.

Brooks, a Salem native who has been assigned to Casablanca, French Morocco, told of his most recent station, South Africa. In describing its size, great similarity to Oregon and telling of its history and progress, Brooks said that country is based on one commodity, gold, and its future probably depends upon gold.

Gov. Sprague considered the need of workers in war industries and told of Oregon's efforts to obtain contracts as a substitute for peace-time work which cannot now be done. He mentioned progress in workmen's compensation and unemployment measures and declared the state would likely see better wages and labor conditions in agriculture this year.

Lost 'Femme' Entertained By Students

Little Carol Hageman, about 4 years old, was lost Tuesday afternoon, and efforts to restore her to her parents were made by a policeman, the chairman of the school board and several others. Her identity was learned after her mother, Mrs. C. F. Hageman, called police in search for the girl.

Carol was first seen wandering along down the sidewalk at Cottage and Ferry streets. Mrs. David Wright, school board head, in a car, followed her. A young cyclist, Lawrence Barstow, 326 South Winter street, herded her out of traffic. Then Carol continued on to the basement of Waller hall on the Willamette university campus, where she defied all efforts to learn her name. After the mother had been located, Carol was entertained by students in the Collegian office.

Victory Food Drive Talked

Oregon's place in the "foods for victory" campaign was outlined by William Teutsch, assistant director of the state extension service. Oregon State college, when he spoke Tuesday at the annual agricultural program of the Kiwanis club.

Increased production of all types of dairy products and small seed are two of the greatest contributions this state can make, he declared. Shortage of labor and machinery must be faced, Teutsch concluded, and post-war panic avoided by keeping free of indebtedness and increased capital outlays.

Other guests of the club included presidents of Farmer Union locals, grange masters, Gov. Charles A. Sprague, and prominent county and state agricultural leaders.

Secretary Speaks At Church Meet

Mrs. Jenne H. Howland, Winona Lake, Ind., general corresponding secretary of the Women's Missionary society of the Free Methodist denomination, will speak at a public service in the local church, corner Market and Winter streets, tonight at 7:45 o'clock.

Mrs. Howland, who has had wide experience as speaker at church and youth conventions, will address members of the women's and young people's missionary societies at a covered dish luncheon Thursday noon at the church.

Four Deputized for Food Contamination

Deputizing of four Medford men to cooperate with Ted Tibbutts, field representative for the state agricultural department there, in emergencies which may result in contamination of food, was announced here Tuesday by J. D. Mickle, state agricultural director. The five will work with J. D. Patterson, chief chemist in the department of agriculture.

Jury Denies Damage Claim on Southern Pacific and Driven

A verdict for the Southern Pacific company and Frank Schaffer in the damage action brought against them by Ila White was brought in by a Marion county circuit court jury Tuesday afternoon following deliberation of less than an hour.

Case of Ben Kanteberg vs. Prudential Insurance company, continued over from Monday is scheduled to occupy Judge E. M. Page's department of circuit court the remainder of this week.

Court Denies Rehearing in Damage Action

Petition for rehearing of the damage suit in which Lucile E. Willoughby obtained $15,000 damages from her aunt, Myrtle L. Driscoll and Gordon Harris was denied in an opinion of the state supreme court here Tuesday.

The damages were granted in Circuit Judge G. F. Skipworth's court in Lincoln county and later were upheld by the supreme court. Defendants then sought a rehearing.

Miss Willoughby was injured when a passenger automobile, owned by her aunt and driven by Harris, plunged off the highway west of Corvallis.

The supreme court opinion was written by Justice Harry Belt. Elmer A. Buckhorn, Portland, was admitted to practice law in Oregon on a certificate from the District of Columbia.

Paper Firm to Saw Logs

Logs will be sawed again, probably in 60 days, at the sawmill of the Oregon Pulp & Paper company lumber division here, Manager E. A. Linden said Tuesday in announcing rehabilitation of the plant.

No new machinery is required, however, as the mill, purchased several months ago from the Charles K. Spaulding Logging company, includes equipment from the dismantled Spaulding plant at Newberg. Employment of large crews is expected when the plant again begins operation.

Construction was begun Tuesday of the three-story addition to be used as a box factory and to enlarge the cabinet works quarters. This work also will take about 60 days. The structure is situated at the northwest corner of the sash and door factory, facing Court street.

Sprague Mulls Naming Judge

Gov. Charles A. Sprague indicated Tuesday that it may be several days before he announces a successor to George Norris Woodley, 66, judge of department 4, Oregon district court in Portland. Woodley died recently of a heart attack.

Several applications for the office were said to have been received at the executive department.

Service Men Where They Are What They're Doing

Donald Earl Barclay, left Sunday for Portland where he entrained for his station in the US naval reserve. He has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Parmenter at 808 North Commercial street for several years.

Allen F. Colstrom, son of Orel M. Colstrom, Forest Grove, Ore., was recently promoted to the rank of sergeant in the US army air corps. Stationed at McChord Field, Wash., he enlisted at the Salem recruiting office in October, 1940.

The following enlisted in the navy in Portland Monday: Alfred D. Driscoll, Leonard L. Foltz, Joseph E. Gately, and Leland C. Smith, all of Salem; George N. Berry, of Monmouth; Arlie D. Fox, Independence; Gilbert H. Reeves, Jefferson; Don R. Sheffield and John M. Cole, Albany, and Emmett L. Long, Lebanon.

OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 17-(AP) Word of the death of her son, Capt. John L. Du Frane, Jr., 33, an army pilot in the far east, in an air engagement was received Tuesday by Mrs. Margaret Du Frane of Oakland.

Captain Du Frane was graduated from Oakland's University high school, and from Oregon State university, where he played end on the football team. He later became president of the Du Frane Machine and Engine Works, founded by his father.

A widow, Mrs. Mercy Du Frane of Virginia Beach, Va., and two sons, four years old and 11 months old, survive.

Sprague Asks Protection on West Coast

More adequate protection for people residing on the Pacific coast against alien activity, particularly Japanese, was urged by Gov. Charles A. Sprague in a telegram sent to United States Attorney General Francis Biddle Tuesday.

"I do not believe the measures now being taken are adequate," Governor Sprague said, "and I urge further and prompt action to remove this menace and recommend internment."

"We want no repetition of the Honolulu experience here. Recommend that your agents confer with military and police authorities to plan positive protection for Americans, with decent treatment of Japanese."

Fag Tax Fund Disposition Is Pondered

With the state tax commission attempting to reach a decision as to how the cigarette tax collected between January 8 and February 3 may be refunded, the suggestion was reiterated here Tuesday that the money be turned over to the Red Cross or for state or national defense.

The collection, halted by an opinion of the state supreme court directing the secretary of state to refer the cigarette tax law to the voters at the November election, amounted to $45,000. This is now on deposit with the state treasurer.

Officials favoring use of these funds for defense or Red Cross purposes said such a course probably could be determined through a joint conference of wholesale dealers and the Oregon Retail Grocers association which sponsored the referendum attack on the cigarette tax law.

Defense Unit Chiefs Named

Appointment of two division heads for civilian defense in Salem was announced Tuesday by L. F. LeGarde, chairman of the city defense committee.

J. H. Davis, city engineer, becomes chief of the new demolition squad. He is succeeded as superintendent of air raid wardens by Jack Minto, who has been his assistant.

Mrs. W. E. Anderson was named chairman of women's defense activities.

Carpentry School For Camp Planned

Applications for a new cantonment carpentry school, under the defense training program, will be taken beginning today at the Salem office of the US employment service, 710 Ferry street.

The class will be conducted at Salem high school shops for about 40 applicants at the start.
