

Child Health Drive Slated

Immunization against smallpox and diphtheria of every child of school age in Oregon is the goal of a child-health drive to be conducted throughout the state between now and the close of the school year by the state departments of health and education, announced Thursday by Dr. Frederick D. Stricker, state health officer.

President Roosevelt has officially proclaimed May 1 as National Child Health day, signifying the importance of child health as an implement of national defense in the war emergency. City and state officials, civic health and educational leaders in all parts of the state have already signified their intention of cooperating actively in the drive, Dr. Stricker said.

Glee Seating Change Told

A change in the reserved seats for Freshman Glee, to be staged in the Willamette university gymnasium Saturday night, was announced Thursday by the glee committee, headed by Jim Glasse. Each class will be given a block, eliminating students standing in line for hours to acquire reserved seats.

The seniors have reserved the east balcony; juniors, south balcony; sophomores, north main floor; freshmen, south main floor. Alumni seats will again be in the north balcony and faculty and trustees have seats east main floor.

Scheduled practices are being held daily. Early morning and night practices have been eliminated this year.

Truck Pool Predicted

PORTLAND, March 19—(P)—Federal truck rationing officials Thursday predicted trucking equipment might be pooled within a short time.

Director Frank E. Landsburg of the Oregon-Washington motor carrier division of the interstate commerce commission said competing operators might be included in the pool which would embrace logging and agricultural industries. He said the pool, if created, would keep all available trucks from becoming idle.

During the first 10 days of the truck rationing program, he said, 950 applications—three times the quota number for the district—were received.

Ban Sought On Fireworks

Cooperation of the public and local authorities in banning the use of fireworks in Oregon during the duration of the war was urged by Gov. Charles A. Sprague here Thursday.

Request that fireworks be banned was received at the executive department in a letter from Maj. Gen. Kenyon A. Joyce, commanding the northwestern sector. Another request involved prohibition of flares and lights along the Oregon beaches.

Governor Sprague said the latter restriction automatically would restrict clam digging to daylight hours.

Clam diggers also are prohibited from loitering about military establishments.

Witness Incident Receives Ruling

A recent incident at Roseburg involving a member of Jehovah's Witnesses sect selling religious literature and a student selling defense bonds nearby, does not provide ground for prosecution of the Jehovah's Witnesses under the Oregon laws, Attorney General J. H. Van Winkle ruled here Thursday.

Van Winkle said "it does not appear that the conduct was violent or that the individuals concerned uttered 'fighting words' or words which naturally tend to provoke breaches of the peace."
