

Scio Auxiliary Hospital Still Lacks Essentials; Gifts Asked

SCIO—Dr. A. G. Prill, head of the Scio auxiliary hospital set-up under the local defense council, urges that all materials and money for the hospital be turned in to him by April 1. Prill stated that although the hospital is now well organized, and said to be better established than any other such hospital in the county, several essentials still are lacking.

The hospital was entirely financed by contributions of Scio business men and organizations and donations of materials by city and rural residents. Still lacking are 16 bed sheets, one mattress for single bed, 24 blankets, 18 draw sheets, nine pair pajamas, one set bed screens, 12 dish cloths and dish towels, and all surgical supplies. More money is needed to purchase the latter items, which cannot be collected locally, Dr. Prill stated.

DAYTON — Fifteen women attended the weekly Red Cross first aid course of instructions Wednesday at the home of Elsie Herring, R.N. Hazel Packer, Yamhill county home demonstration agent, gave a lesson in nutrition. Mrs. Walter Zwick was a new member. Mrs. Jennie Murphy and Mrs. J. A. McFarlane were guests. "Communicable Diseases" will be the subject of the next meeting.

SCIO—Principal aircraft warning station in the Scio vicinity is in need of additional volunteer watchers, according to P. W. Schunk, who is in charge of the stations in this area.

The station is currently operated on a 24-hour schedule, with 42 persons taking four-hour shifts. Most of the personnel is drawn from farm families who are finding seeding work more pressing on their time, Schunk said, in urging that townspeople share the shifts. Current schedule is one week on duty and two weeks off.

LEBANON — A squadron of the Civilian Air Patrol is being organized in this vicinity. They will hold their first training period at 10 a.m. today when they meet in the Sweet Home airport.

Officers have been elected as follows: Ralph Scroggin, commander; Joseph Gilbert, executive officer; Dr. R. S. Langmack, personnel and medical officer; R. L. Davidson, adjutant; Archie Hesseman, public relations; Vern Reeves, equipment and supplies; Edward Bro, communications; and Frank Groves, transportation.

There are four licensed pilots in this vicinity: Mrs. C. I. Leavenworth, Ralph Scroggin, Joseph Gilbert, all of Lebanon, and Dr. R. S. Langmack, Sweet Home.

Mrs. Esther Wenill announced that a joint meeting of members of the afternoon and night classes of the home nursing course will be held at 2 o'clock Monday at the city hall. All who have been asked to furnish supplies are to bring the articles to the hall at 1 o'clock.

After the initial meeting the 50 who have registered will be divided into afternoon and night classes, which will be at 2 o'clock and 7:30 on Mondays and Wednesdays, in order to complete the course within a five or six weeks period.
