Train-Auto Crash Kills Ivan Parke

Death was instant for Ivan William Parke, 47, of Watertown, SD, who drove in front of a Southern Pacific train on the Smith street crossing near the state fairgrounds at 10 o'clock Friday morning, coroner L. E. Barrick has declared.

Only witness to the accident was Delbert Otjen of 2170 Church street, who said he saw the Parke car approaching the tracks at a low speed just before it was struck by the southbound freight. The car was badly damaged although not demolished and a dog in the car at the time it was struck was so severely injured that investigating officers asked that it be killed.

Parke, with his wife and one son, had recently returned to the Willamette valley and taken up temporary dwelling at Burk's auto camp in West Salem. At the time of the accident, he was said to have been en route to the Willamette Cherry Growers' association plant, where he had previously been employed and where work had been promised to him this season.

Voice Added To Coos Coal Proposals

PORTLAND, May 15—(P)—Coos county coal mines could supply sufficient fuel for Oregon's two army cantonments and ease the civilian fuel situation, F. W. Libbey of the state department of geology and mineral industries, said Friday.

Supplementing a request made by Governor Sprague to Secretary Ickes that the Coos mines be reopened, the department's mining engineer said the problem was largely economic.

He said the department had asked the army for its precise needs and fuel budget in order to give the mine owners an idea of the potential market.

Libbey asserted the mines could operate at the prevailing price for coal shipped in from Washington, Utah and Wyoming. The competition which forced them out of business was from fuel oil, sawdust and hog fuel dealers.

Cooperation in Ration Asked By Governor

Gov. Charles A. Sprague was notified by Leon Henderson of OPA Friday that card rationing for gasoline would be instituted in Oregon and Washington on June 1. In his message, Henderson advised the governor that his office was acting on orders of the war production board. Henderson asked for cooperation of the governor in meeting the emergency.

"From the partial information I have," said Governor Sprague, "I believe that rationing in the northwest is due to demand of the military to insure adequate supplies for its purposes. If it is a military order I know our people will acquiesce. The issuance of cards giving quantity preferences to essential workers will help meet the situation arising in defense areas particularly where the influx of workers has made too much of a drain on the reduced supply of gasoline."

The rationing plan will be the same as that being put in effect in the east, OPA said. It will operate for a 30-day period, until July 1, when a more comprehensive coupon rationing plan will be instituted.

Registration will take place in the elementary schools on May 28 and 29.

The "A," "B" and "X" cards to be issued the approximately 700,000 car owners, as well as to all owners of inboard motor boats, will be the same as those issued in the east except for the number of units. In view of the fact that the plan will be in operation for a shorter period—30 days instead of 47—there will be fewer units on each type of card.

26 Prisoners Given Required Tests of Blood

Activities report of the Marion county department of health shows that blood tests were given to 26 prisoners in April. According to Oregon law every prisoner in a city or county jail is required to have a blood test. The health department now gives the tests. Immunizations for the four month period of 1942 have nearly doubled those of last year. Smallpox vaccinations have been given to 1419 as compared to 825 for 1941 with 1359 diphtheria immunizations as against 748 last year. During April there were 173 smallpox vaccinations and 270 diphtheria immunizations. An extensive immunization program has been carried on this spring by the health department due to the expected increase of population of cantonment and the fact that citizens must be protected against outside infection.

Births increased the number of deaths for the month with 102 births and 77 deaths. There were four infant deaths during April and communicable disease deaths numbered cancer 7, diabetes 3, apoplexy 7, heart disease 19, and kidney disease 8.

Chickenpox led in the number of communicable diseases for the month with 21 cases. Other diseases were mild with 3 reported cases of measles, mumps 4, pneumonia 4, tuberculosis 8 and whooping cough 1.
