Engineer Is Speaker

Lt. Col. Des Islet, area engineer, talked Tuesday night to guests and members of the Salem Business and Professional Women's club about Camp Adair. Answering a question as to the moral effect on Salem and nearby towns, Lt. Col. Des Islet said that the American soldier was the best type in the world but will take lots of recreation. He pointed out the need for available clean recreation and said "The uniform makes them more of what they are. If moral, more moral; if immoral, more immoral." He stated that wives and families who will follow army men here did not like to be exploited but wish to pay reasonable rents and prices for foods and necessities.

During the business meeting which concluded the evening's activities, reports on the state convention held at Roseburg the weekend of May 16-17 were made by Miss Helen Fletcher, Miss Hilda Fries, Miss Dorothy Cornelius and Miss Hilda Swenson.

Hostesses to Fete Visitor

Mrs. Ralph Nohlgren and Miss Beryl Seacat have invited a group of friends to tea Saturday afternoon at the A. H. Nohlgren home on Court street in compliment to Mrs. Philo Hall (Mary Virginia Nohlgren) of Newark, New Jersey, who is visiting in the capital for several weeks.

Twenty-five of the honor guest's former Willamette college friends have been invited to call between 4 and 6 o'clock. This is Mrs. Hall's first visit home in two years. She is a graduate of Willamette and a member of Beta Chi sorority.

Betty Clark was hostess to members of the Berean guild of the First Baptist church this week. Mary Copley conducted the business meeting, which was followed by a skit and a program given by Evelyn Jones. Virginia Morley gave a report and Florence Morely led devotions.

Ernalee Thompson of Salem is scheduled to receive her BA degree at the eighty-third annual commencement of Whitman college on Monday, June 1.

Miss Rachel Yocum arrived home Thursday from Caldwell, Idaho, where she has been a member of the College of Idaho faculty for the past year.

Syrups for Fruits Cut

Women who want to make application for sugar for canning will have to give information about how much they canned last year, and what they plan to put down this season. According to the new regulations, all fruit will have to be canned in a thin syrup, using 1/2 cup sugar to each quart of finished fruit. Each family will be allowed 1 pound of sugar extra per person for preserves and jelly.

The amount of syrup needed for the average quart of fruit is 2 cups, so the syrup will be that which is usually listed in canning books as "very light." However this decrease in sweetness is no new thing to many women who can their fruit entirely without sugar, sweetening it as it is being served. Small fruits, like berries and other fruits to be used in pie, gain in flavor by this sugarless canning method. It has been suggested by the United States department of agriculture that mashing some of the fruit to make a syrup will require less sugar to make a syrup of eating flavor. Open kettle canning also brings out the natural sweetness of fruit.

Honey or corn syrup may be substituted to half the amount of sugar in the jar of fruit, but further sweetening may impart natural fruit flavors. Strong flavored sorghum, molasses or maple syrup will impart a distinctive flavor to the fruit, overshadowing its natural goodness.

If you are used to rinsing out stockings one evening to wear the next morning, better change your tactics with rayon hose. After testing hundreds of pairs, the office of price administration consumer division gives this advice: have at least two pairs and alternate in wearing because it takes rayon a long time to become thoroughly dry and it is easily damaged when it is wet. So hose washed on Monday night should not be worn until Wednesday morning.

8-Pound Boy Born To Pioneer Couple

PIONEER—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Theiss are the parents of an eight pound son, born at the Bartel hospital in Dallas Saturday. The baby has been named Douglas Arthur.

Mr. and Mrs. Merie Prindel, formerly of Valsetz, are visiting at the Ralph Weaver home this week. Mrs. Prindel is a sister of Mrs. Weaver.

Air-Conditioned Hat

If you like your hats air-conditioned, you might like this chapeau of sheer black horsehair, designed to frame face and coiffure. The hat was exhibited in the Belmont Park, New York, fashion show as "patriotic, pretty and priority-free."

Dudley Strain Named Pastor Of Christian Church Here

Rev. Dudley Strain, a former Oregon man, was selected Sunday by the congregation of the Salem First Christian church to head the church as pastor, succeeding Rev. Guy L. Drill, who died in March this year. He is now ministering at Bargserville, Ind., and is expected to arrive in Salem the end of June.

Rev. Strain attended Butler university in Indianapolis, graduating in 1935 with his BA degree. The same year he traveled abroad, part time in the Holy Land, where, in Jerusalem, he studied in the American School of Oriental Research. In 1938 he received his bachelor of divinity degree from Yale Divinity school and in 1939 his master's degree.

Rev. Strain has had 10 years of pastoral experience. He is at present chairman of the Youth Work committee of Indiana, which endeavors to counsel with youth groups and leaders in the churches in that state.

Thirty two years of age, he spent his boyhood days at Oregon City. He is married, his wife being the former Helen McClay, who was at one time president of the Oregon Christian Endeavor union. They have one daughter 1 1/2 years old.

New Camping Aide Revealed

Plans for the two-week session of the Boy Scout camp from June 14 to 28, at Smith creek camp are fast taking shape, reports Ronald Ruddiman, local scout executive. Announcement of a new assistant director was made, J. S. Coie, a veteran scoutmaster of Pullman, Wash.

"I have known Dr. Coie intimately for over ten years," says Ruddiman, "and I know his qualifications are high. He has had experience in all phases of the scout work, and has the training for camp director. He holds the Eagle rank.

"Inasmuch as we have to lose our former assistant, Bob Day, to the army right now, I know of no one better able and available to take his place." Dr. Coie is member of the faculty at Washington State college. The registrations of scouts of Marion, Polk and Linn counties are rapidly lengthening the list.

Cannery Workers Select W. Brown

Wendell C. Brown of Salem has been elected president of a newly-formed Oregon council of cannery and process workers, it was announced Thursday. Mrs. Ida Buck of Salem is secretary-treasurer.

Salem has been designated as the council's regular meeting place and the next council session set for June 14 at the labor temple. The council is an AFL affiliate.

Aid Classes Said Ready

Opening of a new first aid class, scheduled for next Tuesday afternoon at the city YWCA was announced Thursday by the Marion county Red Cross offices simultaneously with a declaration that enough instructors are currently available to make possible the opening of other classes should public interest warrant.

The heavy program of first aid classes recently completed had made it almost impossible to promise persons seeking such training that there would be a class for them. Red Cross workers explained. Those interested in enrolling for the training should notify the county chapter office in Salem in writing, it was said.

The Tuesday class is to be held at 2:30.
