Morris Rites Set Monday

SALEM HEIGHTS—Funeral services will be held for Benjamin Morris, 74, who died at his home here Thursday, at 2 p. m. Monday from Rose Lawn funeral home, Rev. Robert A. Hutchinson officiating. Interment will be in City View cemetery. Morris had been a resident of Salem for 44 years.

Benjamin Morris was born at Azoca, Wis., in 1867. After owning and operating a jewelry store in West Bend, Iowa, for a number of years, he was forced by ill-health to go by covered wagon to Missouri and thence on to Salem in 1898. While at West Bend, he married Theresa Belle Hubbard in 1891. She died in 1926. After coming to Salem he engaged in various businesses, among them being operation of a fish and poultry market on Ferry street.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Leora Matlock, and three sons, Jay, Lester and Leslie, all of Salem; a sister, Mrs. Lillian Anderson, and two brothers, Henry and Joe, all of Los Angeles, Calif., and another brother, Elmer, of Wahpeton, ND.

Women Enter War Industry

Three Leave, Build Planes

The mid-Willamette valley's reservoir of womanpower, tapped early in the war to replace men in offices and agriculture, today turns first of an anticipated stream of workers into the aircraft industry.

Three Salem women, Elfrida Bombeck, Mrs. Genevieve Coggins and Edna Bates, left Salem on Friday to report Monday at Columbia Aircraft company's Portland factory. Six are to leave Monday from Silverton for work at the same establishment.

Another 50 women are in training in three classes now conducted in Marion county, according to C. A. Guderian, director of defense training for this area. The sheet metal classes are held at Salem senior high school, Silverton and Chemawa.

Bennett Goes Into Marines

Deputy District Attorney Talbot Bennett has enlisted in the US marine corps and will be sent to an officers' candidates training school when called to active service, it was announced Saturday. With a rank of private first class at the present time, Bennett will continue in his present position until called.

District Attorney Miller B. Hayden has said that no provision has been made for replacing Bennett although he has been considering the matter for some time since learning of his deputy's plans.

Bennett, a graduate of Willamette university, came to Salem from Washington county to accept appointment as Hayden's deputy.

Church Elects Lay Leaders

PORTLAND, June 20—(AP)—The Methodist church's annual Oregon conference Saturday elected Dr. Edward L. Clark, Multnomah college president, lay leader.

Coincidences Cause Calls For First Aid

What Capt. Percy Clark declared "an unusual series of coincidences" marked activities of Salem's city first aid crew Saturday afternoon.

Called by radio as they left the scene of one service, members of the crew drove their red car to Court and Commercial where they had been informed a woman had fallen. There they found that Miss Hazel Supan, 431 North Capitol, had apparently sprained her right ankle as she stepped from the curb.

Scarcely had the car arrived at its headquarters at the east Salem fire station after taking Miss Supan home before another had brought Mrs. Dale Taylor for first aid. She had injured an ankle at the same corner a few minutes before Miss Supan's fall and had been taken into Busick's grocery store to await the arrival of the first aid car, only to see it pick up a different patient.

First call of the afternoon was from Walte's market, where Frank Porter, Swegle storekeeper, had suffered a heart attack. He was sent home by Clark.

Frank Stuer, 15, Mehama, visiting at the home of an aunt near Salem Heights school, was struck on the back of the head by a 2x8 board late Saturday afternoon as he assisted with some construction work. First aiders sent him to a physician.

Ceiling May Be Shortage Cause

PORTLAND, June 20—(AP)—Price ceilings on canned goods may result in a shortage of many staple commodities for the consumer, J. M. Lansinger predicted Saturday. The executive secretary of the Oregon Food Merchants' association said the public cannot expect a retailer to stock canned goods that cost more than the retail price.

Lansinger urged revision of the OPA ceiling order.

Citizens' Defense Corps Must Take Allegiance Oath

The office of civilian defense has requested that every person enrolled under the citizen defense corps take an oath of allegiance to state and nation, Jerrold Owen, state civilian defense coordinator, announced here Saturday.

Owen said this oath need not be taken before a notary public but should be written, signed by the person taking it and witnessed by an official of the defense corps. The oaths would be filed with the county defense coordinator as a permanent record.

In addition to placing a person definitely on record as to loyalty to his state and nation, this oath may serve a practical purpose in the event legislation now pending in congress is adopted providing compensation for persons injured in line of duty in civilian defense activity, Owen added.

A standard oath has been prescribed by the state defense council, although county councils may prepare their own forms in case they desire to do so.

June Arrests Are Reported

There were 47 arrests for drunken driving in Oregon during May, Charles P. Pray, superintendent of state police, reported to Gov. Charles A. Sprague's office Saturday. Fines imposed in these cases totaled $3936.80.

Forty six persons were arrested for reckless driving and 196 for violation of the rules of the road. There were 1267 arrests in the state police traffic division during May, with fines of $9400.85.

Arrests in the general law enforcement division numbered 302 with fines of $1262, and 45 acquittals. There were 123 arrests in the game code division and four arrests in the commercial fisheries code division.

The state police investigated 310 complaints during May of which number 185 were classified as cleared.

The Klamath Falls team won the ritualistic contest with Lakeview second and Medford third.

Road Traffic May Be Halted

Marion county engineer N. C. Hubbs has announced that travel over the North Santiam highway will be halted for periods of possibly two hours at a time while a crew replaces sections of the 150-foot bridge over Sardine creek between Niagara and Detroit. Work on this and seven other bridges on the North Santiam highway are being rebuilt under a joint agreement between the state and the county.

Hubbs said he expected to arrange for a sign to be installed at the junction in the mountains or at the junction at Sisters routing westbound traffic over the McKenzie or South Santiam highways in order to help avoid delays on the northern route.

Funeral Held for Former Salem Man

Private funeral services were held Saturday morning at the IOOF cemetery here for Orrin C. Smith, who died earlier in the month at Los Angeles.

A poet of some note, Smith was widely known over the northwest for his mountain climbing here. For approximately 20 years he had made his home in the Los Angeles vicinity although he was born and reared in Salem and had attended the old Washington school here. He was the son of the late Dennis L. Smith and Elizabeth A. Smith, who made their home on North 15th street. The body was brought back to Salem by Smith's sister, Mrs. Grace Chenoweth of Salem. In addition to his sister he is survived by three nephews and one niece, Joe, Paul and Walley Chenoweth and Ruth Norodny.
