Huge Allied Aircraft Prepares for Bombing Mission

Soundphoto shows gigantic four-motored bomber being laden with missiles of destruction for some selected industrial center in Germany or in Nazi-occupied territory. Incendiary bomb containers are being drawn up to the bomber's loading hatches. Huge warplanes such as this one play an important part in the RAF's methodical offensive to cripple German war production. Each carries thousands of firebombs. Picture was taken "somewhere in England."

Pacific Coast's First Steel Mill Nearing Completion

Another of the "miracles" of America's war production expert, Henry J. Kaiser, is rising at Fontana, Calif. It is the Pacific coast's first steel mill, being built by Kaiser as a $50,000,000 answer to the skepticism of the industrial east that he could produce his own steel to build his ships. The iron ore will come from California's desert and the coke will be furnished by the coal from Utah. The plant will produce 2500 tons of steel plate daily. Above, Kaiser and T. M. Price, engineer, are inspecting structure foundations.

Ram Prices Are Boosted

ALBANY—An average increase in the price of ram sales of $4.81 over those of the 1941 sale, developed at the ram sale held in Bryant park Saturday. The average price per head this year was $42.04 while a year ago it was $37.23. Total sales for Saturday amounted to $5213.50 for 124 rams.

One buyer, Isidor Inda, Roseburg, bought 11 rams for which he paid a total of $804.50. His buy included four Lincolns and seven Suffolks. Four of the rams bought by Inda brought more than $100 each while for one of the Lincolns he paid $115, which was top price. The Roseburg buyer stated he intended to keep most of the rams for the purpose of augmenting his present flock of 600 breeding ewes, although he would deliver some rams to other breeders in his community.

Romneys outclassed other breeds at the sale, 28 changing hands. Shropshires were second with 25 sales being made. Others included 19 Lincolns, 17 Hampshires, 14 Suffolks, eight each of Cotswolds and Corriedales, three Southdowns and two Oxfords.

Speakers at the sale included Claude Steusloff and R. V. Hogg of Salem; C. P. Bishop and R. A. Ward, Portland, and W. C. Leth, Polk county agent.
