

Mart Recovery Swing Broad

Trading Started on Up Move; Rails Lead Buying

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The recovery swing broadened in Tuesday's stock market as large-scale buying of rails spread to most industrial groups.

The direction was upward at the start. While early demand for air transports stalled later under profit taking, closing plus marks of fractions to more than 2 points were well in the majority.

Credit for extension of the advance was given partly to good war news from the Solomons, reports of stiffening Russian resistance in the Caucasus, revived hopes for more lenient taxes and the outlook for a nearby "second front" in the wake of the Churchill-Stalin conferences.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 4 of a point at 37.2, widest gain since July 9. Transfers of 556,830 shares also were the best since that date. They compared with 293,810 Monday.

Santa Fe was among the popular climbers, touching a new top since 1937 and up a point at 45. Others at peak levels included Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Erie Certificates, Consolidated Oil, United Air Lines, Transcontinental & Western Air, Northwest Airlines, National Distillers, US Leather "A," Greyhound Corp., Paramount Pictures, Goodrich and US Rubber Common and Preferred.

The Air Transport section had the benefit of a cheerful earnings statement by United Air Lines. Rails were buoyed by a 37 1/2 per cent uptick in July operating revenues for 80 class 1 roads over the like 1941 month and prospects for favorable consideration in the new tax bill. An increased

Harvest Look Is Observed

Mission Bottom Lands Yield Large Variety Of Seed Crops, Beans

MISSION BOTTOM—The Viesko campground has taken on its usual look of a tent city. Streets have been oiled, tents are in place, trailer houses and cabins filled with people to pick hops. Picking began Monday and the Mission Bottom Hop company started last week.

Joe Ryan, new owner of the William McGilchrist place, has been picking beans for the past week with plenty of pickers.

Van O. Kelley will pick C. C. Russell's fuggles and will commence picking later hops this week. Two fifty a hundred is being paid for picking.

Threshing of sugar beet seed commenced on the Viesko Goose Lake Acres farm Saturday. Spinach has been threshed and flax is being hauled.

Peach picking commenced in the Life Townsend orchards here Monday. Among other varieties is a somewhat new one "Golden Jubilee" which promises to be a favorite. It is now ripening.

Corn Drops Into Lows

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Prospects of a fine crop, fears the government's offer to sell wheat for livestock feeding would reduce corn consumption and persistent liquidation in the September contract sent all corn futures into new low ground for the season Tuesday.

Other grain futures declined with corn. Wheat showed relative strength early but broke near the close, finishing at about the day's lows. There was a little hedging pressure and no mill buying of significance in the bread cereal.

At the finish wheat was off 1 1/2 cents, September $1.17 1/2, December $1.20-1.19 1/2.

Buyers adopted a cautious attitude toward wheat, apparently awaiting developments on the northwestern crop movement and a pick-up in flour buying. Although northwestern receipts were somewhat larger, they still ran considerably below a year ago.

Prune Prices, Dryer Needs, Discussed at State Meet

Although called primarily to discuss sanitary conditions existing in the dried prune industry, the labor situation and current prices for dried and fresh prunes came in for considerable discussion at the prune meeting morning on call of J. D. Mickie, director of the state department of agriculture.

Robert E. Rowe, in charge of the Seattle district for the federal food and drug administration, outlined the basic requirements of the federal law and application to the prune industry.

Russell White of the Portland office said that federal officials had recently seized two lots of Oregon prunes in Idaho by way of warning what would happen if conditions existing in some of the driers are not changed before the 1942 crop comes on the market.

Rowe said that from regulatory standpoint—and the same idea was presented by Mickie for the state regulatory body—prune growers must give proper attention to the handling and sorting of fruit as it is picked and delivered to the driers; attention to proper cleanliness in the driers and attention to sanitary conditions in the packing plants.

Rowe urged it as a patriotic duty for all growers to put driers in best possible sanitary conditions to prevent waste of needed dried fruit.

A resolution drawn up by a committee named from the general meeting and consisting of Mrs. Ross Simpson, Dallas, R. S. Kresnan, Dallas, and Prof. Ernest Wiegand, Corvallis, "recognized the importance of the opinions expressed by the inspection departments of the federal and state government regarding sanitary aspects of the dried fruit industry" then went on to say that due to the poor price prevailing for dried prunes this season it would be practically impossible to meet all the conditions required for proper sanitation.

Reflecting the other labor and price points prominent at the meeting, the resolution points to the need for materials, labor and more favorable prices to save the prune crop. It requests the county and state war boards to take immediate action to assist the growers of all counties where prunes are handled with their labor problems and asks the state war board to contact the federal agencies responsible for dried prune prices with view to adjusting them to meet present costs of harvesting, drying and handling.

Among speakers not already mentioned were George Neuner of Douglas county; John F. White of the Oregon Prune Exchange, Portland; Ed Jory, Liberty district; E. A. Kurtz, Keizer district; Farmer Jones, Marion county representative in the state legislature and a fruit buyer; Roy Frier, Albany; John Ramage, Woodburn; Herbert Normandin, Forest Grove.
