Leaders Generally Go To Lower Levels; Trading Down

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Specialties overrode profit taking with modest advances in Thursday's stock market but leaders generally shifted to lower levels.

Losses at the start ranged from fractions to a point or so but these were reduced or cancelled in many cases at the close.

Dealings dwindled appreciably on the retreat. Transfers of 305,840 shares compared with 503,810 the day before.

Deals of 60 stocks was unchanged at 37.1. It was a narrow market, 605 individual issues being traded against 703 Wednesday.

Of Thursday's total 217 were down, 204 up and 184 unchanged. Homestake mining, a recent weak spot, came back 1 1/2 points.

Amerasia petroleum was up 1 1/2 at a new 1942 peak, along with Transcontinental & Western Air, Otis Elevator and US Rubber Preferred.

Union Pacific, declaring the usual $1.50 dividend and reporting a bulge in 7-months' met in relation to the same 1941 period, was one of the few rails to finish a trifle ahead.

Improvement was registered for Du Pont, Standard Oil (NJ), Kennecott, Youngtown Sheet, Sears Roebuck, Sperry, Liggett & Myers "B," Reynolds Tobacco "B," Corn Products and Goodrich.

Dow Chemical was off 2 1/2 on small volume and Allied Chemical lost 3/4.

Declines were shown for US Steel, Chrysler, Bethlehem, General Motors, Santa Fe, NY Central, Anaconda, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, American Telephone and Texas Co.

Onion Types Established

Standards for Spanish type onions have been adopted by the state department of agriculture as result of a recent hearing in Ontario where growers requested that separate grades be established for this type onion.

These standards are in addition to the onion standards already in effect and apply only to the Spanish type.

Growers of Spanish type onions may grade either under the new standards for this type or under the US standards for northern grown onions or the regular Oregon standards for onions.

Minimum size of onions under the Oregon standard grade set up for Spanish type is 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Not more than five per cent, by weight, of the onions in any container may be below the grade requirement and not more than two per cent of this tolerance will be allowed for onions affected by decay.

Copies of the standards may be obtained by addressing the department's plant division at Salem.

Foods Condemned Due to Weevils

Sanitary inspections made last month by state department of agriculture representatives resulted in the seizure and condemnation of an unusually large quantity of foodstuffs.

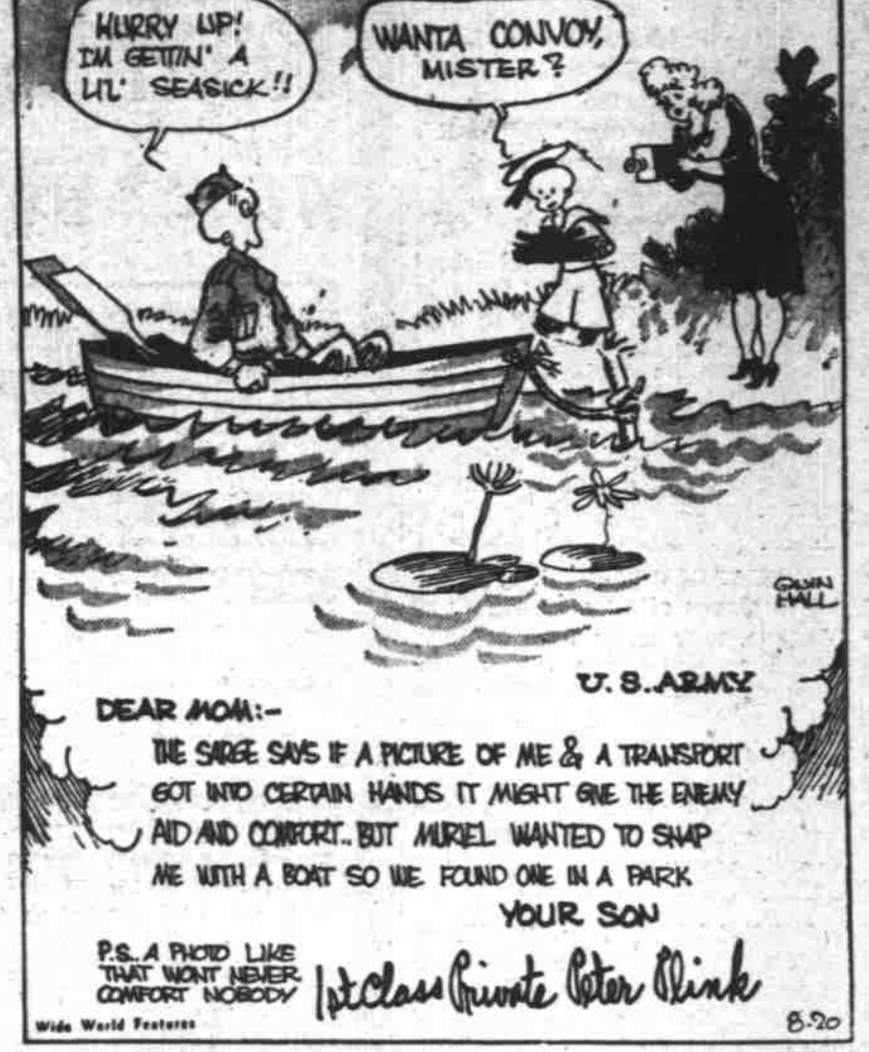

Most of the seizures were due to presence of weevil in the products. About 125 pounds of dried fruits and 36 sacks of cereals were condemned; also 20 pounds of peas that were infested with worms.

Cracks and chips caused condemnation of 52 pieces of utensils and dishes in places where food is prepared or served.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Grain prices sagged fractions to a cent a bushel at times Thursday in a reaction from Wednesday's upturn during progress of the allied raid on France but corn led a brisk rally late in the session that wiped out or reduced early losses.

Good demand for cash corn along with substantial shipping sales of both corn and wheat and some mill buying of the latter helped to simulate the rally. Covering of previous short sales added to the buying.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 lower, September $1.18 1/4-3/4, December $1.21 1/2-3/4; oats 3/4-1/2 lower; soybeans unchanged to 1/4 off and rye 1/4-3/4 down. Earlier in the day both wheat and rye were off about a cent.

Time to Treat Root Borers

DALLAS—The last of August and the first of September is the most effective time to treat peach and prune trees for the control of root borers.

Material commonly used fortunately is available this year at only slightly increased prices over other years. This material chemically known as paradichlorobenzene is best used when the soil temperature is 60 degrees Fahrenheit or above, according to W. C. Leth, county agent.

An ounce is used for ordinary trees six years of age or older. Three-fourths of an ounce for trees four to five years old and for trees one to three years old one-half ounce is recommended.

This material can be injurious to young trees less than four years old if not properly used. The mounds of earth piled on top of the poison about the trees should be torn down on the young trees after the treatment has been made for four to six weeks.

It is usually best to treat a whole orchard or group of orchards in the same neighborhood at the same time. When this is done and the treatment given for two consecutive years it might be unnecessary to treat again for a considerable period of time.

When only part of an orchard is treated the adults of this insect are free to migrate into the treated sections the coming year and re-infect the treated trees.

Growers generally who have good crop prospects and whose orchards are in good condition should strongly consider treating for borers especially if the outlook for fruit prices continues good the next few years.

Complete information on the method of treatment can be obtained at the county agent's office and station circular 109 on control of western peach and prune root-borer, is available on request.

Nursery License Due Sept. 1, War or Not

The state department of agriculture had a new one to contend with this week. A nurseryman reported that he had heard that the department was not issuing new licenses during the war period.

Department officials were quick to spike the rumor—and license fees are due as usual. The nursery license year starts September 1.

Wool in Boston

BOSTON, Aug. 20 —(AP)—(USDA) Sales in scoured eight months' wools were made in the Boston wool market today at a price range of $12-13.15.

Some California eight months' wool was reported sold at a clean price of 94-95 cents. Dealers in mohair are disappointed in the small amount of business which resulted from recent release of mohair for civilian use.
