MT. ANGEL—A wedding with an unusual red and white color scheme was solemnized at St. Mary's church at 9:30 Saturday morning, when Miss Carmelita Andres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Andres, sr., and Harry L. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Baker of Portland, plighted their troth before a large assembly of relatives and friends.

Rev. Vincent Koppert was celebrant at the nuptial mass and read the vows. Miss Helen Kebler played the wedding march and accompanied St. Mary's choir. The altar and sanctuary of the church were decorated with bouquets of chrysanthemums.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, was lovely in a white satin gown of empire design with long train, long sleeves, and a sweetheart neckline outlined in seed pearls. She wore a three-tiered three-quarter length tulle veil, lace-edged, held in place by a halo of satin. She carried an arm bouquet of white mums.

Miss Shirley Grimps of Hubbard, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor and Miss Hazel Mae Baker, Portland, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid wore semi-fitted gowns of red rayon crepe. Ann Baker, junior attendant, wore a floor length frock of white net over taffeta. All attendants carried red and white carnations.

The bride's mother wore an afternoon dress of soldier blue with black accessories, while the groom's mother wore a black costume suit with white trim and black accessories. Both had corsages of white chrysanthemums.

John Baker, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Ushers were General Jones of Portland and George Andrews, jr.

A wedding dinner for the bridal party and immediate relatives was held at the Mt. Angel hotel.

A reception at the home of the bride followed in the afternoon. Miss Patricia Penner, Joyce Rosno and Mrs. Henry Zollner assisted with the serving.

For going away the bride chose a black dress with red accessories and beige coat and corsage of bouvardia.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Baker will be at home in Portland.

Coffee Ration Book Deadline December 15

Persons who do not have copies of war ration book one—which consumers will need to buy coffee under rationing beginning next Sunday, November 29, have been given notice by the office of price administration that applications must be filed with their local war price and rationing board by December 15.

Book one has been used for sugar rationing since May 5, and recently was validated also for the rationing of coffee, under OPA's rationing order No. 12. This order designated stamps 20 through 28 as "coffee stamps." First to be surrendered is No. 27, which entitles an eligible buyer to one pound at any time during the five-weeks period ending January 3.

Not only is the possession of book one necessary for the purchase of coffee, OPA warned, but it will have to be presented to local boards around the first of the year in order to receive war ration book two.

An amendment to the sugar regulations covering the subject of the notification will be issued within a few days.

The notice was addressed to those who have never applied for book one, those who were denied a book because they had an excess supply of sugar and those who surrendered their books in order to obtain a supply of sugar for more than one ration period, or because they used sugar obtained for home canning for another purpose. If an applicant has an excess supply of sugar, or is otherwise not entitled to receive a book with sugar stamps, the book will be issued without those stamps.

After December 15, applications may be made only for those born after November 15, or who, on that date, were out of the country, confined to an institution, or were being subsisted in kind or fed in organized messes of the army or navy. Any of these may obtain book one within one month after the condition preventing their registration has been removed.

In announcing the new procedure, OPA instructed its local board to take particular care to prevent anyone from obtaining more than one copy of the war ration book one. The local boards are to examine closely those who claim never to have applied for the book. The applicant must be prepared to identify himself and to prove his current address. A selective service card, driver's permit, currently dated utility bills, or post-marked envelopes addressed to the applicant, are examples of the kind of proof the boards will require.

In making the announcement, the OPA called attention again to the requirement that persons leaving the county for more than 30 days or entering the armed forces should return their ration books to their local boards. Books belonging to those who have died also must be returned.

Hopewell School Has Holiday Dinner

HOPEWELL—The Hopewell school enjoyed a Thanksgiving dinner at the basement dining room Wednesday noon in charge of their teachers, Mrs. Lenna Harrison and Mrs. Mildred Williams. Classes will convene Monday, November 30.

MT. ANGEL—The benefit card party at St. Mary's auditorium Tuesday night was surprisingly well attended and net proceeds was $106. The money will be used by Father Hildebrand to finance gifts for the boys of the community in every branch of the service. The latest report listed 164 men in service.

Father Hildebrand, who tries to keep in contact with all of them, reports them to be in fighting zones. To date there have been no reports of casualties though many of the men have not been heard from for a long time. In most cases, however, this is believed due to military regulations.

The party was sponsored by the St. Ann's Altar society. Both bridge and "660" were played and refreshments were served in the basement dining hall later.
