Rye Directs Grain Rise; Wheat Lags

CHICAGO, March 3-(AP)-Grains scored additional gains Wednesday, rye leading the upturn with an advance of about a cent, but mill buying of wheat was on a reduced scale and the bread cereal rose less than 1/2 cent.

Wheat finished 11/8-3/8 higher, May $1.47%-$1.48, after the July contract made a new seasonal high at $1,49. September equalled its seasonal peak of $1.501/2.

Belief that the wheat upturn had occasioned large scale flour buying was confirmed by the Northwestern Miller, a trade publication, which said sales of northwestern mills last week were equal to 215 per cent of capacity. The backlog of orders is reported as unusually large.

Wheat also received support from the weekly government crop report, indicating some damage to the grain in Ohio valley states.

"In the western wheat belt," the report stated, "rain is needed, although in most of Kansas wheat is still dormant. In Oklahoma, while moisture is deficient, progress of wheat is reported as good, but in Texas it is rather generally poor because of continued dry-
