Workers May Be Imported

Marion county farmers short of critical year round labor are urged to take immediate steps to place their orders for workers being recruited and transported to Oregon by the FSA, if help cannot be secured locally through the US employment service and farm placement office, explains O. K. Lemmon, county FSA supervisor, Room 223, Old High School building.

"See your farm placement office first and if it cannot fill your order, they will refer the request to the FSA office for transported workers," said Lemmon. "We will help you make out an order, find what housing is available, type of worker, and wage offered. When the agreement is signed and the $10 deposit made, the request will be immediately forwarded for filing." If training other than the farmer will give is needed, special instructions will be provided without cost through local Smith-Hughes instructors of the State Department of Vocational Agriculture in cooperation with the extension service, Lemmon explained. As it takes from three to six weeks to bring out a worker and many orders have already been placed, farmers must act immediately to insure filling of labor needs.

Hicks Elected By War Chest

T. M. Hicks was unanimously reelected president of the Salem United War chest by directors of the association, Wednesday night. W. W. Chadwick was elected vice president; Lowell Kern, second vice president; Miss Helen Lockey, secretary, and Linn C. Smith, treasurer, while H. L. Braden was continued as executive secretary. Sworn in for three year terms on the directorate were F. S. Anunsen, C. W. Cray, J. J. Gard, Mrs. Margaret Grewell, Mrs. Roy S. Keene, Lowell Kern, D. H. Upjohn and Miss Helen Yockey. Eighty seven and three-tenths per cent of the last year's pledges had been collected by March 1 of this year as compared with 77.6 per cent collection on the same date a year ago. Of the $79,254.93 collected, $39,399.07 has been disbursed, the financial report showed. Most of the $11,450.49 remaining uncollected from pledges will be collected, it was said.

Appointments of senate members on five interim committees authorized by the legislature were announced Thursday by President W. H. Steiwer. House members will be appointed later by Speaker William M. McAllister. The senate appointments included: Sens. Merle Chessman, Clatsop, and P. J. Stadelman, Wasco, to investigate fishing resources on the Columbia river and its tributaries. Sen. Frederick Lampert, Marion, to prepare argument for repeal of the double liability provision involving stockholders in state banks. Sen. Louis Wiperman, Josephine, to inspect state buildings. Sens. Earl Newbry, Jackson, and Angus Gibson, Lane, to investigate state titling law. Sens. Marshall Cornett, Klamath, and William Walsh, Coos, to study three-way insurance law. Senate members of other interim committees are yet to be announced.

Sailor's Mother Spends 20 Cents To Pay 2c Tax

ST. LOUIS, March 11.—(AP)—Daniel F. Kelly, now a sailor in the navy, paid more than $40 in state income tax before enlisting last September, but he made a mistake computing his return. The state sent two letters demanding an additional tax, so his mother, Mrs. John J. Kelly, spent 20 cents carfare to make the delinquent payment of 2 cents—and it cost the state 6 cents postage to collect it.

Slayer of McNary Gets Jail Credit, Out on March 23

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., March 11.—(AP)—The state board of prison terms and paroles Thursday granted three months of additional credit to John M. Holmes, 37, former San Francisco peninsula socialite, who may leave San Quentin prison on parole March 23. Holmes, former captain in the army reserve air corps, shot and killed Wilson Davis McNary, 26, of Portland and Pendleton, Ore., in a San Mateo hotel May 3, 1941, in a dispute over attentions to a widow. Holmes then turned his pistol on himself, with the result that he was permanently blinded. A manslaughter conviction resulted in a 10-year prison term for Holmes. He entered prison August 25, 1941. Time served and credits first made him eligible for parole next June, but the board Thursday set that time ahead three months. While in prison Holmes has studied braille, typing and shorthand. He has written short stories and a novel while confined and has conducted classes in radio and telegraphy.
