

Grange Hears Of Parks, Trees

North Howell Admits New Members; Meeting Changed

NORTH HOWELL—An interesting lecture hour featuring famous trees was presented at the regular meeting of North Howell grange Saturday following the noon recess. The lecture hour under the direction of Mrs. C. E. Waltman, concerned the smallest park in the world, the redwood tree at the corner of Summer and Union streets in Salem, reviewing the fact that in early history, the entire north residential part of the city was taken up by Daniel Wald and was a wooded area.

Mention of the Riding Whip tree in the Willard district was made also. Musical numbers were presented by Mrs. W. Strachan and Mrs. Martha Vinton.

New members by initiation and demit card are Mr. and Mrs. John Othoff and Hazel Beals. Several members plan to go to Union Hill on the third Friday night in April where candidates will be given the 3rd and 4th degrees.

At the regular Home Economics club meeting last week, the women presented Mrs. W. Shachan, outgoing president, with a glass coffee maker. Members serving at the USO center in Salem on Sunday were Mrs. Thomas Bump, Mrs. K. D. Coomler, Mrs. W. M. Oddie, Mrs. M. A. Dunn, Mrs. C. E. Waltman and Mrs. W. Strachan.

Named to serve as hostesses for the April meeting were Mrs. J. J. Jackson, Mrs. Thomas Bump, Mrs. Paul Damewood and Mrs. Wm. Davidson.

Of importance is the vote which concluded the day time meetings and marked the April grange meeting for the second Monday, April 12, at 8 p.m.

Reporting for the coffee committee, Mrs. A. B. Wiesner announced a ration supply is available under a recent ruling of the OPA.

Andersons Leave On Southern Trip

SILVERTON—Mr. and Mrs. George E. Anderson have gone to Longmont, Colo., for a business trip. They have property interests there. They plan to be gone three months or more and will visit also in New Mexico before returning.

Miss Vivian Hannan left this week for Los Angeles, where she will visit her two brothers, Van and Kenneth, for several months. She planned to stop at Coquille to visit a few days with her brother, Connie, and also at Medford to visit other friends. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pasley of Fruita, Colo., are newcomers to Silvertown. They are the parents of Roy Pasley, who with his family, has been here for several months. Both of the men are employed in the shipyards.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bell are now living on their 11-acre place they recently purchased from the Charles Meritt. Mr. Bell is a shipyard worker. The Meritts bought the Thomas Lee acreage on Pine street and will take possession soon.

Mrs. Etta Loomis returned to her home here this week after three months absence during which time she assisted in the care of her brother's wife, Mrs. G. W. Bardsley of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Wall, who have been living in the Loomis house, have moved to Portland, where he is employed in the shipyards.

Boosters Buy Radio

BRUSH CREEK—Members of the Booster club have voted to buy a radio to present to the men at Camp Adair.

Farmers in the Brush Creek area welcomed the Friday night rain as most of them had completed their early sowing which was taking the place of grain which should have been sown last autumn. More spring grain will be put in later in the season.

Valley Births

TALBOT—The birth of little Delene Ethel Gurgurich March 10 at the Deaconess hospital makes the fifth generation in her family. The baby's ancestors by generations include Mrs. Mary B. Nye, great great grandmother; Mrs. Edna Reines, great grandmother; Mrs. D. E. Blinston, grandmother; Mrs. Al Gurgurich, mother. Mrs. Gurgurich will be remembered as Iene Blinston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Blinston.

LINCOLN—Word has been received here of the birth of a baby boy to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Walling, Jr. The child is a great grandson of Mrs. J. D. Walling.

SILVERTON—Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hackett are reporting the birth of a daughter at the Silvertown hospital Saturday night. The Hacketts live in Mount Angel.

Monmouth Dressmaker Seeks Hobby, Joins Round Robin Cactus Club

By MRS. BEULAH CRAVEN

MONMOUTH—Some one has said that each of us would be better citizens and happier individuals were we to adopt a hobby. Even so busy a man as Franklin Delano Roosevelt derives much relaxation, it is said, from his hobby of stamp collecting. The hobby indulgence seems to recreate that much needed "play-spirit" which furnishes an interim of carefree living, revitalizing tired minds, nerves and muscles.

One resident of Monmouth, Mrs. Rosalie Andrus, realized about five years ago that she greatly needed a diversion in her life. She has been a dressmaker here for 20 years, and her work kept her so much indoors, that when she did attempt to work in the garden, the sun's heat was too intense for comfort. She decided to start a rock garden and be out of doors enough to acclimate herself to sun and wind.

A short time later she received a letter from an unknown woman in Glenwood, Iowa, inviting her to join a Round Robin Cactus and Hobby club, having a national membership. This woman had obtained Mrs. Andrus' name through the latter's sister, Mrs. Earl Coburn of Dayton, who, with her husband operates a bulb farm, and had sent bulbs to the Iowa woman.

Mrs. Andrus joined the club, and soon began receiving the club members' letters, which are written and sent in round robin fashion, from member to member. About every 60 days the letters reach her, and from them she gets garden notes, exchange ideas on hobbies, and informative and interesting data on the home life of each letter writer, and on features of statewide interest in the various areas represented. One gets the feel of vicarious travel, which is truly, a helpful substitute when one can't actually make trips to those distant places.

Through the club Mrs. Andrus has received cacti plants from Texas, Iowa, Minnesota, Virginia and Kansas. Each member has her own personal hobby, and Mrs. Andrus collects miniature china baskets. Many in her large collection have come to her as gifts from her club members. Some of these baskets are but one inch tall. She has received many cacti containers, and has about 60 varieties of cacti, from the tiniest specimen to one from Arizona which is now four feet tall. She has 15 varieties of the succulent sort—those which are spineless.

The club members are professional and business women and a few are retired. One member is very deaf, and in this way she maintains contacts which keep her interested despite her handicap. Another member has a pet and flower shop. Every member has a garden.

Mrs. Andrus finds that her club members particularly enjoy receiving coast highway scenic booklets, also those describing the Willamette valley and Crater Lake. Some of her letters descriptive of the Willamette valley and this part of Oregon have been read at women's club meetings in other states, so she is advertising Oregon while promoting her hobby.

Her rock garden has grown to include a little patio with a pool, and its margins contain many plants, bulbs and shrubs received from her hobby club friends. One interesting specimen is a Texas rain lily, which grows a tall stalk on which a lovely pink bloom comes, then that dies down and afterward foliage appears. Another unusual plant is a Brazilian plume, a tropical plant with a bloom similar to our wisteria. It adapts itself well here as a house plant in cold months.

Mrs. Andrus is the wife of J. O. Andrus. Their daughter is Mrs. Marion O'Brien of Nehalem. Their home is an attractive stucco bungalow on East Main street.

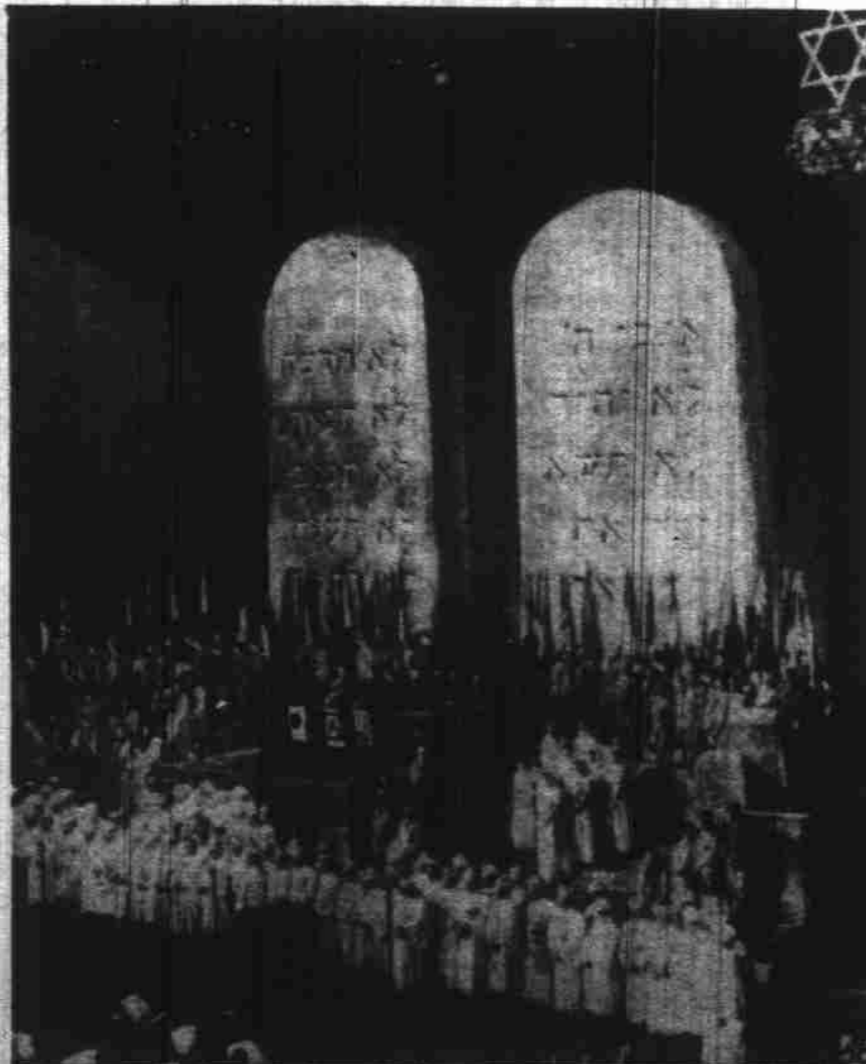

By continuing her program of some outside work each week, Mrs. Andrus has improved her health, and widened her knowledge of nature and outdoor life, in gratifying degree. At first she had only shrubs in her garden, now she has a constantly enlarging number of flowers, raising her own gold fish. Her hobby club sponsors publication of a small leaflet magazine titled: "Back to Eden" which offers much valuable information to gardeners.

Although she has never personally met any of her club members she has grown to know much about each of them through the exchange of letters and gifts, and feels that she has enriched her life immeasurably without sacrificing the "bread-and-butter" vocation which necessarily cuts her off from much social activity. She hopes that at some future time her club members will arrange to meet in some central or mid-west state, to further the happy comradeship they have built up through correspondence.
