'AMPHIPEEPS' FOR THE ARMY—These new versions of the U. S. Army's peep, equally at home on land or water, undergo tests on the Rouge river near Detroit. The four-wheel drive cars now come off the former Ford assembly line.

STAFF CHIEF—Maj. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland (above) is Gen. Douglas MacArthur's chief of staff in Australia. He recently returned to this country from the South Pacific in company with other officers of the command.

'MOUNTIES' IN COAST GUARD—A new coast guard unit—two men, a horse and a dog—on patrol on the Washington shore. Note portable radio carried by rider.

MEMORIAL FOR BI-CENTENNIAL—Two hundred years after Thomas Jefferson's birth, the beautiful memorial (above) in Washington, D. C., is being dedicated. The architects, Otto R. Eggers, Daniel Paul Higgins and the late John Russell Pope, adapted the classic pantheon form which Jefferson himself called the "perfect model" of a circular building.

IN THE FIELD—Capt. Winthrop Rockefeller, son of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., snapped in the field during a pause in Third Army maneuvers somewhere in Louisiana.

LENSES FOR WAR WORK—Nicola Christó Foti, 62, inspects lenses he has ground specially in the American Optical plant at Southbridge, Mass. They are destined for safety goggles to protect the eyes of war plant workers.

FOR PONCHO'S PUPPIES—Poncho, coast guard dog, displays the latest style in shoes (no coupon 17 needed) made of canvas to protect animals' feet against oyster shells. Capt. Raymond J. Materman, chief training officer, looks them over.

TRIM—Eleanor Powell, noted stage and screen dancer, demonstrates her ideas of an anti-bellum costume modified to take into account the more vigorous dance steps of the present day. It's also better on crowded dance floors.

INDIAN TIGER HUNT—American soldiers on leave, guests of the Maharaja of Cooh Behar, India (in white jacket), tracked down and killed this tiger on a jungle hunt. The chief hunter points to a hole put in the animal by Capt. Lloyd Hubbard of Nokomis, Ill. The Maharaja also goes by the name of His Highness Jagaddipendra Marayan Shup Bahadur.

NICE RESCUE WORK—Gene Goodwin, in breeches, boy, helps in Los Angeles rescue demonstration by coast guards.

VISITORS FROM SOUTH—Latin American journalists inspect Liberty ship construction in a Los Angeles yard.

DIRNDL—Quaint rose and blue printed challis dirndl, suitable for informal home wear, is modeled by Barbara Britton. It has eyelet embroidered blouse and a wide waist band.

HIPODROMO PULLS THEM IN—More than 42,000 persons, a record Mexican sports crowd, attended dedication of new $2,000,000 Hipodromo de las Americas (above) at Mexico City.

BLOOD FOR BATTLE LINES—An attendant leads one of the refrigerated Church containers used to ship blood donations to the laboratories where it is processed into plasma for treating casualties in the U. S. armed forces. The containers prevent changes in temperature, thus facilitating Red Cross program for 4,000,000 donations this year.

WAACS 'SNAP' THEIR CHIEF—After inspecting units in San Francisco, Col. Overta Hobby, director of the WAACS, poses for snapshots by admirers in the ranks.
