Industry Pay Breaks Record

75 Millions in Two Months Near Double Same Period, 1942

Oregon's industrial payroll soared to another new record during the first two months of 1943, being almost double the total for the similar period of 1942, the state industrial accident commission said Thursday.

The payroll for January and February totaled $75,604,150, compared with $42,387,487 in the same months of 1942. The totals for the first two months of 1941 and 1940 were $29,254,592 and $23,863,926, respectively.

Before the war between 35 and 40 per cent of the state's industrial payroll was paid to Multnomah county workers, but now the figure is 75 per cent and it is still rising.

The Multnomah county industrial payroll in January and February was $52,245,838, compared with $22,041,997 in the first two months of 1942, $11,867,350 in the first two months of 1941.

The state's industrial payroll for February was $40,965,236, highest for any month in history and 50 per cent greater than any month in 1942. Of this amount Multnomah county industrial workers were paid $30,404,582.

The war has boosted payrolls of the other 35 counties, too. The industrial payroll for all counties outside Multnomah increased from $15,859,995 in the first two months of 1940 to $23,358,312 in the first two months of 1943.
