Fuel Merchants Oppose Ration
Relief to residential users of oil heat, including apartment houses, was ordered by the OPA in Washington in authorizing issuance of supplemental fuel oil rations next week in cases where, due to abnormal circumstances, the original allotment was insufficient, according to word received by the Portland office of war information.

The relief covers the states of Washington and Oregon and the 20 counties of Idaho where fuel oils are under ration regulations. In general, it authorizes local boards to issue extra fuel oil rations for residential buildings, including apartment houses, private homes and cold water flats, where the applicant shows his initial ration is insufficient, due to unusually cold weather or like conditions.

Latin-American Dinner Slated
Latin-American is the theme of the banquet and program slated for Tuesday night at 6:30 by the youth fellowship of First Methodist church. Proceeds are to go to the missionary school in Bolivia conducted by Rev. and Mrs. J. Herrick, in Salem this year on furlough.

Edith Fairham is general chairman for the event, assisted by Barbara Crawford, Bob Bennett, Connie Cocking, Joe Brazie, Jim Purdy, Ross Pallese, Jane Aceton and other members of the fellowships.

War Workers 'Under Fire'

Garbed and equipped like soldiers, these mid-western war workers of the United Automobile Workers, CIO affiliate, pick their way across a narrow rope suspension bridge at Camp Aftersbury, Ind., just as a bomb throws up a shower of spray almost beneath them. They were among 250 unionists invited to spend three days living and training like soldiers so they might have a better understanding of the needs of the armed forces.—Associated Press Telegram.

Navy Invites 17-Year-Olds To Interview

The navy is opening wide the portals for those who wish to join, according to information received by Chief Quartermaster Robert O. Fallon of the Salem recruiting station. New classes opened are the construction battalion (Seabees), shore patrol, civil engineer corps, and plain seamanship for 17-year-old men.

A limited enlistment period, Monday and Tuesday, is open at the Portland office, American Bank building, for men interested in joining the civil engineer corps. They will be interviewed by Lt. Cmdr. C. Ken Weidner. General requirements are graduation from an engineering institution with a degree in civil, electrical, mechanical or architectural engineering; sufficient practice to demonstrate ability; good physical condition and US citizenship. The corps members are commissioned officers. Men from 19 to 50 will be accepted, provided they qualify. Further information is available from Chief Quartermaster Fallon at the Salem office, second floor, postoffice building.

The Seabees group is for men from 18 to 38 who are trained in carpentry or construction skills. Lt. Gettings, shore patrol interviewing office, 620 Southwest 11th street, in Portland, will interview applicants Tuesday for the shore patrol, navy police. Those qualified are men of 38 or over with three or more years of police work. The 17-year-olds are being accepted for regular training at Camp Farragut, Idaho, and upon completion of the basic course will be sent to one of the 57 trade schools operated by the navy.

Girl Says Brother Cut Her Throat

PORTLAND, March 27 (AP)—Rosella Widwie, 11, Vanport City, who told authorities her 13-year-old brother, Willie, slashed her throat as she lay asleep Saturday morning, was released from a Portland hospital late Saturday. The knife missed the jugular vein and the wound was reported "not serious." Sheriff's deputies sought the youth, who was last seen hitch-hiking from the war housing project on Portland's outskirts.

Firm to Begin War Contract

Another Salem firm, Reimann Supply company, 20 Highway avenue, is about to begin production on a new war goods contract, the proprietor, Rich L. Reimann, disclosed Saturday. Reimann's wood-working plant will start this week on its new contract, described by the owner as "a medium-sized one," for the manufacture of tool chests for the army. The plant already has turned out large orders for other types of chests. No new employees are being added to the payroll at present, Reimann said.

Farmers Complain On Slaughtering

PORTLAND, March 27 (AP)—The state grange office said Friday it had received complaints from farmers that they have not been allowed to kill and ship to market animals that were ready for sale and are now "eating their heads off."

It announced that masters of state granges of Oregon, Idaho and Washington will meet here Saturday to discuss the meat problem.

Around Oregon

More men are seeking after God per square inch in the American army and navy than per square mile in civilian life. Charles J. Pietsch, Honolulu real estate broker, turned Bible distributor, said in Portland...

Bend authorities investigated the death of William H. Delbrugge, crack Oregon marksman and former state game commission employe, who was found on railroad tracks at Crescent lake this week... Jake Aschbacher, operator of the Prineville creamery, said he had sold out to Ralph M. Henry and Lester S. Cox, Klamath Falls business men...

The Milton-Freewater chamber of commerce asked the war relocation authority to assign Japanese farm laborers to eastern Umatilla county... Portland butter distributors said the advent of butter rationing will find retailers well-stocked...

Walter Levereite, Rogue River valley orchardist, purchased the 422-acre ranch of Ben E. Harder, retired Medford banker, located in the table rock district north of Medford... Klamath Basin barbers announced prices of haircuts will rise from 65 to 75 cents and shaves from 35 to 50 cents starting April 1...

Two Beaverton girls, Mary LaCont and Ethel Hodges, by mistake followed train tracks in Portland instead of street car tracks and had to jump for their lives as a switch engine smashed their car... Death came to Andrew A. Ward, 63, Klamath Falls undertaker and deputy county coroner.

The office of price administration has broadened the list of those eligible to apply for ration certificates to purchase coal-burning stoves by a new amendment, effective March 30, 1943.

As amended, the ration order permits industries, institutions, hospitals, clinics and others who qualify under its "living," "war effort," "public health" or "safety" provisions to buy coal-burning stoves to supplement central oil-burning equipment. Originally, these stoves were available only to owners of private dwellings.

More May Buy Coal Stoves

Seed Limit Flayed

PORTLAND, March 27 (AP)—District OPA director Richard G. Montgomery Friday protested to Washington headquarters against the 50-pound minimum purchase of seed potatoes. He said the OPA ruling would discourage small victory gardeners, most of whom need only a fraction of that amount.

Homicide Charged

LA GRANDE, Ore., March 27 (AP)—The Union county grand jury Saturday indicted J. J. Lewis, 32, La Grande, on a negligent homicide charge in connection with the traffic death of Pvt. Carl Niedzialek, Holyoke, Mass. The soldier, struck by a hit-run driver, was found on the Old Oregon Trail highway near here early Friday.

Little Sent To Prison For 8 Years

Gordon Sayre Little, who earlier this month pleaded guilty to charges of burglarizing the B & C Lumber company offices here and to one charge of forgery in which a check taken from that establishment was used, returned to the Oregon state penitentiary Saturday under eight-year sentence handed down by Circuit Judge E. M. Page.

Little, who startled city police the first night after his arrest by setting fire to his bedding in the city jail and who a few days ago in the county jail succeeded in sawing out a bar and part of a screen from one window using an alarm clock spring, was given 33 days' credit on his five-year burglary stretch for the time he had spent in the county lockup.

The three-year term was added for a check for $86.21 passed at Bloch's Golden Rule store. Still hanging fire are two other forgery charges, in which similar checks cashed at the Man's Shop and S & N Clothiers were involved.

As far as possible restitution had been made to injured parties before the penitentiary sentence was handed down, according to Little's attorney, Little, whose record is said to include time in Oregon, Idaho and Arizona prisons and in the Monroe, Wash., reformatory, was accompanied in the courtroom by his mother who had come from her home in southern Oregon.

Chief Joseph At War Again

PORTLAND, March 27 (AP)—Enemy submarines should have a tough time tagging the Chief Joseph, Liberty vessel launched by Oregon Shipbuilding corporation Saturday and christened by Indian girls of the Chewama school near Salem.

The Nez Perce leader after whom the ship was named won recognition as one of the most wily military figures in US history when he led his tribe in a masterful retreat from the Wallawalla valley of eastern Oregon, across Idaho and part of Montana in search of sanctuary in Canada. Pauline Wilkinson, 15, descendant of the chieftain, christened the vessel, assisted by Luella Wilson, 17; Catherine High Eagle, 16, and Dolores McConville, 9, all in tribal dress. Umatilla Indians also were present.

To Holders, Series A and B Bonds, Spaulding Pulp & Paper Co., Newberg, Oregon.

Notice is hereby given that on and after April 1, 1943, a payment on principal, amounting to ten per cent of the original face value thereof, will be made on the Series A and B Bonds of the Spaulding Pulp & Paper Co., Newberg, Oregon, upon presentation of the said bonds to Pioneer Trust Co., successors to Ladd & Bush Trust Co., Salem, Oregon.

Notice is further given that on said date, to-wit: April 1, 1943, the interest on said Series A and B Bonds of said company will be paid for the period January 1, to April 1, 1943.
