School Fund To Be Sent To Districts

Officials here discovered Friday that under the so-called school support law of the 1943 legislative distribution of funds will be made by the secretary of state direct to the clerks of the various school districts and not to the county treasurers as originally intended.

The law provides for a $5,000,000 "ceiling" of surplus state income tax funds to be distributed among the Oregon school districts for the purpose of offsetting school district levies.

Farm Workers Asked For

More orders for full-time agricultural workers have been received at the US employment office, Joseph Wilson, agriculture manager, revealed Friday. Several calls were received about two weeks ago, but all have been supplied.

Hop Labor Is Needed

The demand for hop workers has been falling off a little this week due to the showers, and in some fields, the ground is too wet to work, Joseph Wilson, agriculture director of the US employment service, stated Friday. High school boys are expected to supply enough labor today but the demand for workers may arise again next week.

Realty Freeze Cancelled by National Unit

The death knell has been sounded at least once for the real estate profession during the current war and the slaughter has been prevented only by organized action on the part of those who realized what was occurring in federal governmental circles, Larry Bome, secretary of the Oregon State Association of Realty Boards and of the Portland board, told Salem board members at their Friday noon luncheon.

Real estate would have been frozen had one order prepared and on OFA listings not been withdrawn before it was issued, Bome declared, maintaining that national representatives of realtors had been the moving force behind the cancellation.

Threat to the profession in postwar years may lie in the failure of the government to do anything with the thousands of "temporary" housing units it has built, contract for which says nothing about removal or razing. Private enterprise in Portland has constructed 1874 housing units during the housing emergency while public agencies have built 18,000 units. The country over the ratio is one to two, Bome said.

A second postwar threat, he declared, is the plan hatching among the "public housers," persons in bureaucratic authority who believe that at the close of the war the government will build and sell or build and rent the only new residences in the country.

The proposed sales tax in Oregon, the speaker declared, would cut property taxes by 50 per cent in every category, and real estate brokers and those in related fields should feel the responsibility for educating the public to approve the measure in 1944.

In line with the rapid-pace conversion in five months of a timbered fastness inhabited by wild game into a six-camp training station receiving its first recruits, Farragut took no respite on its anniversary from its job of turning out thousands of men for a fighting fleet.

Police Seek Salem Youths For Vandalism

Following a clue they have not yet revealed to youngsters of the city, Salem police inspectors have cornered and questioned several boys in the last 36 hours in an attempt to learn identity of four lads who tipped over 33 headstones, breaking some, in historic Lee Mission cemetery in North Salem early this week.

The boys who played so destructively in the grounds where lie buried the first white mother and child to die in the Oregon country, the founders of the mission which eventually became the city of Salem and many of the members of pioneer families of the state, scampered through shrubbery and flowers, leaving footprints which indicate their number and would place their ages at from 9 to 12 years, investigating officers said.

Mexican Workers To Pick Oregon Umatilla Peas

FENDLETON, April 23—(AP)—R. T. MacIlroy, Portland, Farm Security administration official, has informed Umatilla county pea growers that 2,000 Mexicans will be ready for transfer here from California about June 1.

Growers estimate 6,000 workers will be needed to harvest the county's 60,000 acres of peas. The pea growers' association will guarantee 75 per cent employment. It recommended a 75-cent an hour minimum wage for harvesters, based on a 10- or 12-hour day, an increase of 10 cents over last year.
