More About Music Week . . .

Several pre-Music Week programs have been arranged by members of the committee for the observance of the nationwide celebration beginning May 2. Officially, the week will begin with a memorial concert next Sunday at 3 o'clock in the First Methodist church, when Dean Melvin H. Geist directs a chorus of Salem singers in a program.

Pre-Week Program

On Monday night at the Salem high school auditorium, the high school orchestra under the direction of Vernon Wiscarson and the high school choruses directed by Miss Lena Belle Tartar, will present a program. The entertainment is set at 8 o'clock, and the public is invited. No admission will be charged.

This is a program given as the high school's contribution, and is titled "Music of the United Nations." Music from England, Russia, China, United States and parts of South America will be on the program.

Special emphasis during Music week this year, is put on "What music can do in the war effort," and this among other concerts planned for the week, is designed to promote better understanding among the United Nations.

The Willamette university school of music will present two concerts on Tuesday, May 4 at Waller hall. The university symphony orchestra under the direction of Lewis Pankaskie will give a concert on Thursday at 8:15 o'clock in Waller hall, when Bennet Ludden, pianist, will be presented.

Junior Club Helps

As is their custom, the members of the Junior Woman's club will give musical programs at the state institutions during Music week. At the state hospital, they will sponsor a program by Priscilla Meisinger accordion sextet. Mrs. John Korteborn will sing a song and William Fawk will be at the piano.

The sextet will play at the penitentiary, with Patricia Meisinger as accordion soloist, Geradine Schmoker violin soloist, accompanied by Ruth Bedford, and Corydon Blodget, vocalist.

The concluding program planned for Music week is a concert to be sung by Cpl. Mackey Swan, on Sunday afternoon, May 11. Cpl. Swan has appeared as soloist for service clubs, on the local radio station and at several Salem churches and has already endeared himself to Salem audiences.

Well Known Here

His will be one of the outstanding programs of the week and will be open to the public. Cpl. Swan is a former member of the Philadelphia opera company, having sung with that organization for two years. His voice was well known to eastern radio listeners and concert goers before his enlistment in the army.

The program as planned by Cpl. Swan will include several arias, a group of German lieder, some spirituals and a group of modern English numbers.

Mrs. Kenneth Dalton will be his accompanist.

Something for Russia . . .

Attics of Salem and vicinity will feel the effects of war when housewives enter into the drive for clothes for Russians, which will be sponsored on the week of May 3 to 5 by the former "Bundles for Britain" organization.

The women who have taken it upon themselves to collect clothing, have obtained their former office on Court and Commercial streets, over the Hutcheon Paint store and will be on hand all that week to take clothing brought by citizens.

It is needless to tell of the extreme need for clothing by people of Russia, one of the committee stated, but she urged women to donate every possible garment. "Scour your attics," she said, "Give everything you can't find a real need for."

All manner of warm clothing is needed, especially for children. Mittens, woolen scarves, shoes and warm dresses and coats are among the clothing especially asked for.

The committee in charge asks that all garments be put in as good condition as possible. Formerly, local cleaning establishments were generous in donating cleaning service, but now most plants are overloaded, they cannot do the cleaning.

The women who formerly functioned as "Bundles for Britain" and are now making the collection for Russians, include Mrs. Clifford Brown, Mrs. W. A. Scott, Mrs. William Burghardt, Mrs. Taylor Hawkins, Mrs. Carleton Smith and Mrs. Wilbur Berry.

Candlelight Ceremony . . .

Special candlelight initiation ceremonies will be held next Monday at 7:30 p. m. for two new members of the Salem Junior Woman's club, at the North Cottage street clubhouse. Miss Hattie Bratzel, club president, will preside, and the membership committee in charge of Mrs. Joseph Felton, is arranging the ceremony. At 8 o'clock guests and prospective members are bidden to attend a party given by the club in honor of future members.

Bridge, pinochle and other card games will be in play, with prizes awarded for honors. Miss Margaret Mullen is arranging a special musical feature and will play several numbers. A group of songs will be sung by Mrs. E. C. Crawford, Mrs. Joseph Felton, Mrs. Roy Mink, and Mrs. Clinton Standish.

Past presidents and other club members will participate in a special feature centered around the Junior club scrapbook, which will be shown by the scrapbook committee, Mrs. Robert Worral and Mrs. W. G. Nibler. This committee is in charge of the party, and tea will be served following the evening's program. Assisting the committee in arranging the program are Mrs. Wayne J. Page, Mrs. E. Lee Crawford, Mrs. Thorne H. Hammond, Miss Nellie Forster, and Miss Margaret Mullen.

On Easter Day . . .

Most Salem families are spending their Easter Sunday quietly at home. Few have out of town members of their families coming, for gasoline restrictions and added responsibilities of wartime which take so much time, have limited travel, even for short distances.

Entertainment of soldiers for Sunday dinner is still being taken care of by the home hospitality committee of the USO, but many families are inviting soldiers whom they have previously entertained in their homes. Other hosts prefer to drop over to the USO just before dinnertime on Sundays and ask soldier-guests for dinner.

Mayor and Mrs. I. M. Doughton will be guests at the home of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Doughton for Easter dinner. The family meal will follow service at the Presbyterian church, where two-month-old Shirley Margaret, daughter of the Donald Doughtons will be christened. The little girl will be christened in the same dress her father wore at a similar ceremony.

Besides the grandparents, Mayor and Mrs. I. M. Doughton, guests will include the other grandmother, Mrs. Samuel J. McKee of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wilson and daughter, Elaine of Albany.

Breakfast Served

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sprague will be hosts at an Easter morning breakfast at their 14th street home at 11 o'clock, following the earlier church service. A group of Salem couples will be guests.

Mr. Sprague's sister, Mrs. A. R. Graham and her daughter Miss Mary Graham of Portland, houseguests, will also be present at the Sprague's breakfast.

Miss Ann Lindle of Portland is here for the weekend at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Carl W. Emmons. Miss Lindle is a teacher in the Portland school system.

A family gathering will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Crawford today, with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ogelvie as guests of their son-in-law and daughter and family at dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burgoyne will spend Easter Sunday in Hood River and will attend the wedding of their niece, Miss Ruth Burgoyne, and Mr. Pat White, which will take place today.

In Roseburg

Dr. and Mrs. L. O. Clement are guests today of their brother-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Barnett and sons, Jimmie Clement, the grandson, will be christened today.

Following christening services at the First Presbyterian church for Susan Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bush, the family will gather at the home of the child's grandmother, Mrs. Ludwig Mickelson for dinner. The christening dress is the one worn by her grandmother and great-grandmother. The cap was knitted by her great-grandmother.

At the dinner being served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Mickelson on South Commercial street will be Mr. and Mrs. William Bush, Billy Bush, Mrs. Ivy Y. Coons, another grandmother, Mrs. Marjorie Walker and Mr. C. B. Glover.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Cooley today will be a group who are in Oregon from California, to attend the regional conference of vocational agricultural directors in Portland.
