

SHS Seniors To Open Week With Banquet

More than 400 seniors of Salem senior high school will begin a week of graduation activities Friday night at a banquet to be held in the high school cafeteria.

Rev. Smith has chosen "Live for Tomorrow" as the subject of his address. Taking part in the program with Rev. Smith will be Rev. Irwin A. Fox, pastor of the First Baptist church and Rev. J. F. Lawson, pastor of the First Church of God.

The senior farewell assembly will be held Thursday morning, May 27, and the two graduation rehearsals will be held on Thursday and Friday evening.

Because of the streamlined school year, classes will be held up to Friday, May 27. Instructors will issue report cards Tuesday afternoon, June 1.

Youth Labor For Farms Is Slated

Organized youth groups and vacationers will have to harvest the crops this summer and fall, the Marion county farm labor coordinating committee decided at a meeting this week.

Rules were formulated for use of platoon labor by growers. These rules and application blanks for platoons are obtainable at the office of Joseph Wilson at the US employment service.

Resides the school platoons, other youth groups will be organized and governed by the county coordination committee, of which Robert Rieder is secretary. These include YMCA and YWCA work camps, Boy Scout work camps, etc., for the cherry, berry and bean harvest.

Housewives and parents are urged to arrange with neighbors for one to take care of the children freeing several for work in the fields and canneries.

The pea harvest, expected to start about June 1, came in for its share of attention. The committee has contacted Oregon legislators in Washington, DC, asking them to attempt to have pea-picking removed from its classification by the wage and hour division as factory work with a fixed wage of 65 cents per hour payable and reclassified at farm labor at the prevailing pay scale.

McNary Wires No Cane Fruit Hearings Set by OPA in Washington

Sen. Charles L. McNary telegraphed W. J. Linfoot, secretary of the Oregon cane fruit control board here Thursday, that no hearings have been scheduled by the office of price administration for cane fruit growers at the national capitol.

At a recent meeting of the board it was decided to send a representative to Washington to attend a hearing in event one was held.

Around Oregon

Edmund Hayes, Portland lumberman, was named Wednesday as chairman of the keep Oregon green campaign, executive committee which includes Nelson S. Rogers of Salem.

Among directors elected at Albany Wednesday by the Mountain States Power company were N. E. Irvine of Lebanon and Z. E. Merrill and E. B. Williamson of Albany.

Heavy catches of bottom fish, including cod, flounder and red snapper has offset a recent lull in salmon fishing on the lower Columbia river; salmon fishing suspended in the river Thursday until June 10 in conformance with a new state law.

Among graduating seniors in the ROTC at the University of Oregon who were ordered to active duty at an infantry officers training school Thursday were Richard C. Lind, Corvallis; Edward W. Moshofsky, Beaverton.

The body of Norwood Noye, 43, former organist, was found in his room Wednesday night in Portland, a bullet wound in the chest. Friends said he became disconsolate after being rejected by the navy.

Flores T. Brzykcy, 44, who was struck so hard by an automobile he was knocked out of his coat and one shoe, died Wednesday at Portland.

Last classes of the 1942-43 scholastic year will be held Friday at the University of Oregon and final exams will take place May 24-28.

Mayor Earl Riley of Portland will represent the American Municipal association at a conference of Canadian mayors in Ottawa next week.

Kathryn Fridley of Wasco was elected "queen of evensong," top honor paid a woman student at Eastern Oregon college of Education; she will preside at the school's commencement pageant.

Service Men

Where They Are—What They Are Doing

ZENA — Capt. Maurice Shepard, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Shepard, has been transferred from Camp Young, Calif., to Yuma, Ariz. Mr. Shepard and their young son have been with him in California but are awaiting further word concerning the climate and living conditions before deciding whether to go to Yuma.

The Ralph Shepards received a cablegram on Monday's day from their second son, Jimmy, from an unknown port. Jimmy is in the navy.

ORCHARD HEIGHTS—Seaman Second Class Howard Blankley, a Seabee in the navy, is here visiting his wife, Mrs. Blankley, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ammon Grice. Their home is at Curwensville, Pa., but she is staying with her parents for the duration.

SWEGLE — Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stark were in Bremerton, Wash., last week visiting their son-in-law, Henry Sundeland, who is in the navy. Since he spends most of his time at sea, Mrs. Sundeland returned with her parents Saturday for an indefinite visit.

HAYESVILLE — Kenneth Robertson has been called from the naval reserves to report for duty Saturday at San Diego. He has been attending Willamette University.

Jack Mennis reported to the draft board at Woodburn Thursday.

WAR ENCYCLOPEDIA — CAMOUFLAGE

JAP SNIPERS, IN NEW GUINEA AND THE SOLOMONS, WEAR A COAT MADE OF COCONUT-PALM HUSKS. THEY ARE ALMOST INVISIBLE WHEN HIDING IN TREES.

WHEATLAND — Everett Joeckel writes that he received his mail from home and the weekly letters sent from the United Brethren church at Hopewell regularly except that occasionally they come in piles. Mrs. Walter Kirkwood, who received the word, reports. He said he would like to see all of the family but not until "this is all over and cleaned up."

CLOVERDALE — Word has been received here by friends from the A. A. Dumbucks, former Cloverdale residents now living in East Los Angeles, that their son, Aaron, stationed with the navy at San Diego, Calif., spent a five day leave with them last week. He is expected to be transferred soon. He has been a metallurgy third class, and this is his first furlough since he entered training in February.

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—The navy recruiting station announced the signing of 10 Salem men Wednesday.

They were Charles E. Baker, Harry J. Evey, Warren L. Heisey, Grover F. Hinkle, Theodore A. Mojsirik, Kenneth E. Scott, Jack Tipton, James L. Wenger, Phillip A. Williams and Tyrrell A. Williamson.

Clarence W. Ruddell, Independence, also was signed.

Collegian Wins 4th ACP Award

For the fourth straight time the Associated College press, official rating agency for all college publications, has awarded the Willamette Collegian a superior score and rated it the only all-American of its class on the coast, it was learned Thursday from Nadene Mathews, editor elect of the Collegian.

Special credit was given Dix Moser, editor of this year's Collegian, by the ACP for his work in editing and organizing the paper which won an excellent rating on 24 out of a possible 26 points.

General features of the Collegian, listed by the ACP under the superior heading, were the front page makeup, the quality of interviews, the use of pictures and the coverage and treatment of sports stories.

Three years ago the Collegian won its first all-American award under the editorship of Marian Sanders and repeated a year later under the editorship of Hale Taber.

During the past three years the journalism department at Willamette university has been under the direction of Murco Ringalida.

Local Insurance Payments Top Million Dollars

Life insurance payments to Salem policyholders and their beneficiaries amounted in 1942 to approximately $1,060,000, the National Underwriter, weekly insurance newspaper, reports.

Payments per capita in Salem, $34.19, were higher than in any other of the principal cities except Portland where the per capita figure was $40.68. Per capita payments for the state amounted to $22.85.

Payments to Oregon residents amounted to about $24,900,000 which, the Underwriter mentions, was three times the WPA payments in Oregon for the fiscal year, more than four times the federal agricultural adjustment program payments and five times the federal payments to the state under the social security program.
