Where They Are—What They Are Doing

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Boley have received word from their son, Pfc. Francis G. "Don" Boley, that he graduated from the Air Force technical school at Lincoln, Nebr., on May 5 as second high man of his class. He was to have been sent to a cadet engineers' school but after taking and passing a test for tall gunners, was sent instead to a gunnery school at Fort Meyers, Fla. He will go from there to an aviation base.

Don was married early in February at Lincoln to Miss Jane George, daughter of Mrs. L. S. George of route 7, Salem. Mrs. Boley has returned to Salem while Pfc. Boley is at the gunnery school.

He has a brother, Kenneth Boley, who was one of the marines on Wake Island and is now interned near Shanghai. Mrs. Boley has a brother in service in Canada.

Don Boley is a graduate of Salem high school and formerly was a Statesman carrier.

SCIO—Pfc. Harold McDonald, paratrooper in the marine air corps, is under medical treatment at a San Diego naval base hospital, according to a phone call to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. McDonald, at Scio this week. McDonald enlisted in the corps in December, 1941, and was with the first occupational forces landing on Guadalcanal. He has more recently taken part in the New Guinea campaign, where he is reported to have had several planes shot out from under him, and to have contracted an infection. He expects to visit Scio on furlough following his release from the California hospital.

MILL CITY—Edwin Stone, aviation machinist's mate, third class, of the naval air patrol is home this week on furlough. Stone recently has been stationed in Bermuda and has traveled considerably since being in the navy. He is a 1936 graduate of the Mill City high school. He then drove a logging truck for O. J. Downing until the time of his enlistment in February, 1942.

Spending a ten day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Domogalla, 955 Union street, is Charles Francis Domogalla, third class petty master in the navy. He enlisted through the Salem navy recruiting station on September 26, 1942, taking his recruit training at San Diego. After six weeks training at the US naval hospital, Balboa Park, he was assigned to duty at the US naval hospital at Seattle. Two months ago, Domogalla was transferred to the receiving barracks at Portland. Upon return to his station, he will be assigned to duty at sea.

LABISH CENTER—Mr. and Mrs. O. G. McClaughry received a letter from their son, Cpl. Ed McClaughry, this week from North Africa where he has been stationed with the chemical warfare division for some time. He said that he is well and has been very busy.

Arthur G. Upston, son of Mrs. Arthur Upston, has been promoted to the grade of sergeant technician third grade after attending anti-aircraft artillery school at Camp Davis, NC. Sgt. Upston is now stationed at Camp Haan, Calif.

THIGHS' RIGHT—Movie experts say Dorothy Gilmore has the most shapely thighs in Hollywood and Dorothy shows how she developed them by doing her housework.

After taking his first physical examination, Walter R. Waterman of Seattle son of Mrs. Edna R. Waterman of Salem, enlisted in the Seabees. He was inducted into the navy as a petty officer 2nd class last Thursday. Selling most of their furniture, he moved his family to Salem and left on Tuesday evening for the east coast for his base training.

His wife and one year old son will remain in Salem during his absence.

Ralph Seastone, ship's cook, second class, is spending ten days leave with his parents at 758 North 18th street.

SILVERTON—Harold Adams, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Adams of Silverton, who has been in naval reserve while attending Willamette university, received orders to report for active duty June 21. He will be sent to Columbia university, New York, for officers' training.

Mrs. Adeline Dick has heard from her son, Gene, that he is now in a San Diego hospital. He wrote that he expected to come home soon on a leave. He had been in a hospital in Samoa before reaching the states.

Cpl. Frank Krupicka of Woodburn, who received serious wounds in battle at Guadalcanal, is now recuperating in the San Francisco, Calif., army hospital. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Krupicka, and his sisters, Mrs. Russell Gardner and Miss Sonie Krupicka, left Woodburn last week to visit Cpl. Krupicka in California.

Capt. Don Faujade, former Salem city police radio operator, was promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel in March, according to word received here by Chief of Police Frank A. Minto. Faujade is now in Africa.

Mrs. Helen Mayfield, route two, has received word of the promotion of her son, Ray J. Zielski, from petty officer third class to petty officer second class. He received the extra stripe May 1. Zielski now is gunner's mate, second class, and is with the US navy in Aleutian waters. He was in Salem on leave during March.

ALBANY—Lt. Walter Kropp, Albany, who is "somewhere over seas" at present, came in close contact recently with his home town, according to a message received here by Mrs. Mark V. Weatherford. It occurred at Lt. Kropp was seated in the officers' quarters and one of the boys in uniform remarked, "This book I am reading is from your home town." Naturally the Albany man investigated and on the fly leaf was inscribed, "this book is presented to the boys in arms by Mrs. Mark V. Weatherford, Albany, Oregon."

Pfc. Frank Hoge, who has been visiting in Albany with his mother, Mrs. Erma Hoge, and his grandfather, F. C. Ballard, has left for San Francisco, and will be stationed at Mare Island. Hoge who had a 15 day leave, has been with the US marine corps seeing active service in a number of naval battles, and is being transferred to Mare Island.

Robert Potts, who now is stationed with the US signal corps in Virginia, has been transferred to Camp Pickett in that state from Athens, Ga., according to a telephone message to his mother, Mrs. Leslie Potts of Albany. Young Potts was born and reared in Albany, and is a graduate of the local high school.

Cadet Marvin Leroy Duke of Lyons has completed the three-month pre-flight course at the US navy pre-flight school in Del Monte, Calif.

Robert Speaker, a Salem resident stationed at the naval air base in Pasco, Wash., has been promoted to the grade of aviation machinist's mate third class, which is a third class petty officer's rating.

Pfc. John R. Moses, former Salem high school student, has been assigned to the army air force technical training command at Sioux Falls, SD, for training as a radio operator and mechanic. Pfc. Moses is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Moses, 8223 E. street, Vancouver, Wash.

LABISH CENTER—Elmer McClaughry has been confined to his home with the flu for several days. John Bisanz also has been quite ill with the flu.

'Cruiser' Due Wednesday; Seek Recruits

Coming to Salem Wednesday and Thursday, June 2 and 3, will be the US navy's recruiting cruiser, Chief Quartermaster Robert B. Fallon of the Salem substitution announced Saturday.

The cruiser, a power unit and trailer measuring 9 by 50 feet, is equipped with the latest in sound apparatus for public addresses and motion picture projection.

Manning the cruiser will be Chief Specialist F. T. Garesche, Specialist First Class Stanley Church and Yeoman Third Class Arthur Allen.

Accompanying will be representatives from the WAVES and SPARS including Yeoman Third Class Inez Ford of the WAVES and Ensign Frances Buxley for the SPARS. Information of interest to women will be given out by these two.

The navy's new educational programs will be discussed by the Portland recruiters, as will the types of duty in the Seabees. Too, they will explain the new army-navy joint induction process.

Savage Soon To Leave WU

After serving 22 years as business secretary of Willamette university, N. S. Savage has submitted his resignation effective July 1. Following his retirement, Savage plans to spend some of his time at his Sunny Crest ranch near Los Angeles.

Savage has worked under four Willamette presidents and has seen the enrollment of the university double during his years at the university.

Before his resignation becomes effective, Savage plans to aid his successor in becoming familiar with the office routine and book-keeping system which he has developed and simplified during the past 22 years.
