Packing Boxes, Trucks Obtained After ODT Fight

MT. ANGEL - After 18 months of quibbling by the ODT, the Mt. Liberty FU Talks Production, Angel Cooperative creamery has hauling ordered in December. 1941. Frank Hettwer, manager of the creamery, stated that the trucks were delivered last Satur-

The desperate shortage of hauling equipment which necessitated the overloading of creamery trucks from 50 to 70 per cent has thus been partially remedied.

Mr. Hettwer states that the packing box situation has also been somewhat relieved by the receipt of several box shipments and a promise of more. The box situation had reached the low level where the end of the day saw the last box used up and no promise of a new supply for the next day's needs.

As most of the boxes were used to ship butter and cheese to the army it seemed as if the red tape of the governmental bureaucracy was defeating the very ends for which it was organized.

The Mt. Angel creamery ships Mrs. Fuller are sisters. 50 per cent of its butter and 70 Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brotten have per cent of its cheese to the govmoved from Myrtle Point to 351 ernment at the present time. The overloading of the trucks to meet the nation's demands for increased production during those months that the two extra trucks were kept idle in a Silverton garage by order of the ODT caused severe damage in equipment. Not only was the wear and tear on the tires to be lamented, but many parts gave out under the double strain. These could only be secured after much waiting and wasting of precious gas in chasing from town to town.
