Where They Are—What They Are Doing

ROY POTTER

SGT. "BUDDY" AMBROSE

Cpl. Roy Potter dropped the prefix from his name this week and became a civilian once more. Arriving here Friday from Walter Reed hospital with a medical discharge, young Potter plans to spend two months here at the home of his mother, Mrs. Lovey Potter, recuperating. He will always carry a limp as a reminder of right leg wounds received in action in Africa.

Enlisting in February, 1939, he went first to Hawaii, but was sent from the states to Africa with his infantry unit. He arrived in the United States last November 28 for hospitalization at Walter Reed, had been home from the hospital since before his most recent stay there. Prior to entering army service, Potter was employed by Montgomery Ward and before that had driven a truck for Wieders laundry.

Another son of Mrs. Potter, Sgt. Floyd "Buddy" Ambrose, who enlisted in December, 1935, has returned to his duties with the coast artillery in Panama after a recent furlough here.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Moots of route 2, Salem, have learned that their son has arrived for his training at the Farragut, Idaho, naval station.

Gordon Reeves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Reeves of Salem, has completed his first course at the flight training center in Ontario, Calif., and will be transferred to Gardner field, Taft, Calif., for his basic training.

In the fourth contingent of men from the enlisted reserve corps at Oregon State college the following men have been listed: Russell A. Beardley, Salem; Erland Joseph Anderson, Silverton; John T. Lindley, McMinnville, and John Robert Pescheck, Albany. Students in engineering courses may take their 13 week basic training program in the army and then apply for reassignment to a college for specialized training.

Men who have qualified for training to become naval engineers or marine corps second lieutenants were Ronald M. Smith, Salem, and Charles W. Maxon, Grand Ronde. Others passing qualifying tests were Charles H. Beardsley, Robert P. Aiken and Leighton C. Fairham, Salem; Harold M. Cox, Sheridan; Robert M. Ohling and Warren W. Conley, Albany; Robert Paul Knoll, Corvallis; James G. Spinup, St. Paul, and William L. Loersch, Lebanon.

Arno Carl Nelson, Salem; Harry Leroy Simmons, Sheridan, and Crownin Charles Logue, Silverton, enlisted in the navy at the Portland recruiting station.

Raymond W. Lamka, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lamka, 1845 South 12th street, has been promoted to lieutenant, senior grade, in the navy according to word received by his parents. Lt. Lamka who graduated from Salem high school and attended Willamette university, is assistant navigator on board an auxiliary naval vessel in the south Pacific.

Harry W. Heekes of 1100 Chemeketa street, Salem, is now stationed with army air forces in Kearns, Utah, where he is studying subjects which will prepare him for his work with the ground crews.

Ferry Edward Clippell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Clippell, Lyons, has completed his 45-day course in the maintenance and repair of peeps and jeeps at his training station in Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Leo E. Larsen, route 4, Salem, is now stationed at Fort Knox, Ken., where he is learning methods of operating tank and truck radios before being assigned to a combat with the armored units.

Lt. and Mrs. Gilbert Mater left Monday for Camp Haan, Calif., after a furlough in Salem and Portland. Lt. Mater is the son of Mr. Howard Mater. His wife is the former Katherine Boyer of Stayton.

Donald Hagg, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Hagg, 497 South 23rd street, and his wife, the former Naomi Dressler, are in Salem on a visit to their parents. Hagg, a radio technician 2nd class in the navy has just completed a radar course at Treasure island and is enroute to a new station in the east. He was formerly weather observer here.

A brother, Kenneth, is still in radar school at Treasure island.

John Martin, nephew of Mrs. C. G. Olson and Mrs. W. L. Phillips of Salem, has been graduated recently from Willamette university and will report to Columbia university where he will take navy training.

LINCOLN—Pfc. James W. Mickey, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence I. Mickey, is happy in the air corps program at Chanute Field, Ill. Their second son, Robert Mickey, is stationed in north Africa. The last message his parents received said that he had just received his first mail in three months. "We are cleaning up the mess left by Adolph and his boys," he said. In speaking of north Africa, he said he wouldn't trade a little bit of Oregon for all of it. His wife, the former Eileen Tarpley, is employed in the Western Union at Portland.

WEST SALE—James, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kessel, has enlisted in the army and will be leaving for camp in about two weeks. All four of the Kessel boys are now in the service as volunteers.

GERVAIS—Sgt. Cleo J. Grassman writes his parents that he has moved from Muroc, Calif., and now is stationed at Biggs Field, El Paso, Texas. His brother, Glen Joseph Grassman, seaman second class, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Grassman in the St. Louis district. He has been transferred from Farragut, Idaho, to Bremerton, Wash.

Cpl. Harold Leith was home from Bloomington, Ill., this week. He is leaving June 21 for Salt Lake City where he now will be stationed.

Word from Pat DeJardin, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. DeJardin, is that he now is stationed at Camp Roberts, Ark.

JEFFERSON—Mr. and Mrs. John DeWall left Thursday afternoon for San Francisco, Calif., for a visit with their son, Sgt. Walter DeWall and Mrs. DeWall. Sgt. DeWall was married June 3 to Miss Louise Boswell at the Presidio. He has been in the service since January, 1942. They plan to be gone several days.

Virgil Wilson of the navy, stationed at Pasco, Wash., and Mrs. Wilson visited Wilson's father, A. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, Monday. Wilson is having a five day leave and they also are visiting relatives and friends at Fruitland.

Dexter Dale Deur, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rise, has returned to Jefferson this week, having been released from army duty. He had been stationed at Fresno, Calif., since April. Mrs. Deur has been staying in Jefferson with her parents.

Mrs. Georgia Whitman left Saturday for Seattle, Wash., to visit her husband, John Holly Whitman, who is in the navy with a gunners crew. She also will visit her brother, Eugene Hunter, in an army battalion. He had completed his basic training at Fort Lewis and been transferred to Seattle.

INDEPENDENCE—Mrs. Herman Kylo received word from her husband this week that he is stationed with the air corps in England. He likes the country very much and says the people are grand to the soldiers. Their food is rationed, but they receive plenty to eat. He wrote of the flocks of cuckoos and love-birds and the amount of noise they make. Sgt. Kylo is with the ground crew of the air corps. Master Sgt. Bill Becken has been transferred to office work with the air corps in England, where he has been stationed for some time. He writes that he likes the country and the people very much, and that the climate is very similar to Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Westerman from Pasco, Wash., visited this week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dickinson. Mr. Westerman is a machinist's mate second class with the navy, and is stationed at Pasco. Mrs. Westerman remained here for a longer visit.

Since he has been stationed in India, Flight Officer James E. McNeil, son of Mrs. J. McNeil of North Commercial street, has made numerous trips into China and Burma, he has revealed in letters home. It was following a trip to Burma and an incidental bombing in that country that Sgt. McNeil lost his Indian servant. The boy lit out for the jungles and did not return. Too much noise to suit the lad, McNeil, who is in the US flight transport service, suggests. The native languages of China and India are among the bits of knowledge his group is picking up, McNeil writes. "I know all the swear words, any way," he declares.

WCTU Urges Tight Clamp On Liquor

PORTLAND, June 18.—(P)—The Oregon liquor control commission Friday heard pleas for tighter restrictions from one group and an easing of restrictions from another.

Representatives of the state Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Anti-Liquor league urged a tight lid clamped on sources of intoxicants in war plant and military areas. They also asked the commission to ban liquor advertising in Oregon and not to purchase liquor from producers advertising in out-of-state publications.

Spokesmen for Portland and Astoria night clubs urged that the midnight closing hour be extended to allow civilians to be served until 2 a. m.

Andrews Move to Scio

BRUSH COLLEGE—Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Andrews and son, Eugene, have moved away to Scio from the Louis Himmel farm here. The Andrews family has been active in community and school affairs. They are now on a 130 acre farm which they have rented.

Haymakers in Trouble

AUMSVILLE—Haymakers here, are finding trouble taking care of their clover hay crop. Donker brothers have had 35 acres cut for the past week and will have to keep turning it.

Naval Monies Largest in All History

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(P)—A $27,637,000,000 naval appropriation bill, largest in history for the expanding fleet, was made ready Thursday for final congressional action when house and senate conferees adjusted differences.

Senator Overton (D-La.) said he hoped to send the measure to the president Friday.

The conference added $173,539,000 to the appropriation total approved by the house by accepting senate amendments providing additional funds for pay, training and maintenance of naval personnel.

The measure carries $9,118,000,000 for 29,142 airplanes.

Two Speakers Named

George Alexander, state penitentiary warden, and Ernest M. Jachetta, state liquor control commission attorney, were listed among speakers for the western probation and parole conference in Portland June 25-26.

Carriers in Service

Philip J. Gallagher, Woburn, Mass., president of the National Association of Postmasters, said at Portland that approximately 2800 postmasters are in the armed services.

Sideshow Odd Angles On Day's News

FORT WAYNE, Ind.—(P)—A romance that started with failure of a WAVE to salute an army officer, and an ensuing reprimand, ended with the exchange of marriage vows recently at Base Field.

The principals were First Lieut. Jack Irving Levy, former Chicago lawyer, and Harriet Mindich, formerly of New York and now with the WAVES in Cleveland.

Their romance started when both were on duty in Indianapolis. She failed to salute in passing Lieutenant Levy and he "called her" for it.

Mundy said he knew of two legislators within the last ten years who could neither read nor write. "One," he added, "got himself elected three times."

PORTLAND—(P)—Mrs. Pauline M. Johnson sent her five sons off to war with the one wish that they all meet in the city of her childhood—Berlin.

ST. LOUIS—(P)—The professor thought he had heard them all, but a soldier-student's explanation for absence from class was a new one even to Dr. Marion E. Bunch, associate professor of psychology at Washington university.

He had just finished teaching an evening class which meets once a week when a soldier volunteered: "I'd like to tell you why I wasn't here last week. I happened to be in Australia that night."

made a habit of sleeping on the wooden cover of a well—a very cool place.

Recently, Hughes related, "Sport" got a running start and jumped for his favorite spot. He was rescued with a lasso. Someone had moved the cover.

CINCINNATI—(P)—Walter Hurd, 46, a cafe night watchman, slept soundly while his mattress burned, two shells in his revolver exploded from the heat, and neighbors pounded on the door. He did not awaken until police arrived. He suffered first degree burns on his arm.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(P)—A bill to require Illinois legislators to have an eighth grade education was introduced in the house by Rep. J. S. Mundy, a democrat.

Mundy said he knew of two legislators within the last ten years who could neither read nor write.

SPOKANE—(P)—Mrs. James Garvin awoke from a sound sleep and heard someone walking about the room.

"Who's there?" she asked.

"Jim."

Mrs. Garvin checked to see if husband "Jim" was in his usual place. He was still sleeping peacefully.

Meanwhile, intruder "Jim" disappeared and so did $95 from husband "Jim's" pockets.

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—Thirty five years ago circus boss fired 13-year-old A. C. Peters without pay from his job of carrying water for the elephants—and just when Peters thought he had worked enough to earn an admission.

The circus, Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey, made amends recently.

After Peters described the incident in a letter from his Allentown, Pa. home, James A. Haley, senior vice president of the circus, sent him two tickets.

WALLACE, Idaho—(P)—The Wallace Press-Times carried this classified advertisement: "Party who stole accordion and quart of whisky from car parked in front of old miners home is known. Return liquor to Press-Times and keep accordion and no questions will be asked."

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(P)—The gold rush of '49 had its counterpart in a fire that leveled a local packing plant's main building.

After firemen left, hundreds of residents sifted through the ruins rigging out choice pieces of barbecued pork, barbecued beef and smoke ham—no ration points required.

CLARKSDALE, Miss.—(P)—The draft followed Sherman Jenkins' sons one at a time until it took all twelve. His boys range in age from 19 to 39 years.
