Oiling at Gervais—Marion county's road oiling crew, completing work of resealing Meridian road to Monitor and with it the year's patching and resealing projects in the Mt. Angel and Silverton areas, is to be moved today to the Gervais section to commence patching operations there. High grade oil has been received by the county this year, according to Commissioner Roy Rice, road executive of the court, and results of work done have been correspondingly high.

Morgan Bound Over—Upon the "recommendation" of the defendant, Justice of the Peace T. C. Morgan, Woodburn, on Wednesday bound over Ralph Thomas Morgan to the grand jury on a morals charge. Morgan, who defended himself at the preliminary hearing, called upon the girl in the case as a witness although District Attorney Miller B. Hayden had declined to call her. When Hayden's objections to the majority of his questions were upheld, Morgan declared, "I recommend this to the grand jury," later indicating he had never wanted the preliminary hearing. Such hearings are held only when wished by the defendant.

Asks Stop Signs—Requesting installation of stop signs at all railroad crossings in Marion county, Harold J. Turner, representative of the Oregon Railroad association, appeared Wednesday before the county court. All Southern Pacific main lines are now marked, but with heavy wartime traffic, safety requires posting of Oregon Electric and other SP crossings, Turner declared.

Snell Urges Cooperation In Woods Work

Successful operation of the state forestry program depends, probably more than any other phase of public work, upon cooperation. Gov. Earl Snell declared Wednesday night in a radio address over station KSLM, Salem, and KEX, Portland.

The progress made in forestry conservation from the early days until the present time was reviewed by Gov. Snell.

Oregon, he pointed out, holds a unique position with respect to its forest resources in that it has an enormous reserve of merchantable timber. "This reserve," he said, "is equal to approximately one-fourth of the saw timber supply of the nation."
Figures presented by Gov. Snell showed that in Oregon the ratio of forest resources to population is also unusually high. Of the 1,087,000 people listed by the 1940 census about 35 per cent receive their principal support from forest industries and services dependent on forest products.
"It is imperative that this resource be safeguarded to the fullest extent possible," Governor Snell continued.
The governor particularly stressed cooperation between timber owners and the state forestry department and the forest conservation law of the 1941 legislature. This law, Gov. Snell said, provides for a well balanced forestry program.
"The Oregon forestry conservation law," Snell concluded, "is predicated on the theory that the best results are obtained by using a maximum of cooperation and a minimum of compulsion."

Cigarette Tax Payment Called For

Attention of wholesale and retail dealers in cigarettes was called by the state tax commission on Wednesday to the 1943 legislative session's "unjust enrichment tax" act requiring them to remit to the state 95 per cent of the net amount they collected under the 1941 cigarette tax law.

The new law affects only those dealers and wholesalers who have not remitted the tax and the payments are due August 1.
The cigarette tax law was in operation little more than a month when collections were halted under a supreme court decision holding that referendum petitions attacking the act were valid. The voters later defeated the cigarette tax measure.
The tax commission is sending out several thousand blanks on which dealers and wholesalers will make their returns under the 1943 law.
Dealers and wholesalers will retain five per cent of their collections to cover their costs and expenses in complying with the act.

Traffic Toll Total Revealed

Pedestrian accidents in June amounted to 21 per cent of the month's traffic toll of 19 lives, Secretary of State Robert S. Farrell, jr., said Wednesday in urging greater care in walking in traffic.

There were four pedestrians killed during the month. A year ago, the pedestrian toll was exactly the same, but in that June the four pedestrian fatalities amounted to but 15 per cent of the month's traffic toll.

The June fatality figure this year was 30 per cent under the toll of June of 1942. Farrell commended drivers for this record, but emphasized the need for similar reductions in the pedestrian toll, now that more persons are walking.
