

Moeding Opens New Bakery

Woodburn Residents May Buy Pastries But Not Bread

WOODBURN—Woodburn again has a bakery. Saturday morning August Moeding was at his new making and dispensing his pastries, pies, cakes and rolls. He will not resume bread making until help and quality materials are more easily available.

The newly renovated shop has been opened in the building Mr. Moeding purchased from William Broyles. The brick Dutch oven of the bakery he operated for nine years in Woodburn has been replaced by a modern electric oven. New lighting and equipment has been installed also.

Woodburn had been without a place of business on Front street resident baker since early April when Moeding closed his shop for a rest and reorientation of his business.

WOODBURN—Ivan Parker, formerly of Woodburn, has been elected to the supervision of the high school at Heppner, Oregon. Last year he taught at Imbler, Ore., having charge of English classes and the school library.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker and their small daughter, Mary Martha, are visiting in Woodburn now at the home of Mrs. Parker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mills.

House of Worship Weathers Service

GERVAIS—Standing since 1887, the little old church at Gervais has been remodeled and repainted until in its 60th year its still good for more service for Presbyterians who gather each week to worship. Rev. James Aiken Smith is the present pastor.

Church Marks 60th Year

Presbyterians Sean Progress at Gervais Since Founding

GERVAIS—The Presbyterian church will enter its 60th year this week. On or near July 13, 1884, a group of Christians met here to organize the Presbyterian missionary church. Services were at first held in the Baptist church. This building now has been torn down and the Baptist congregation has gone to other churches.

W. S. Young was the first pastor. After a year with this church he was called to Los Angeles. Jacob Vorhees was the first elder and James Clark, the first treasurer. Members of the first choir were Sadie Brown, Ida Graves, Luke Smith and Dr. Cauthorn, with Mrs. Cauthorn at the organ. A Sunday school was organized before the church.

In May, 1891, the Ladies' society was organized with six members. Mrs. Clara Jones was the first president and served in that office for 40 years. At the 50th anniversary meeting the name of the society was changed to the Clara Jones Missionary society in her honor. Mrs. Ida Minakex followed Mrs. Jones as president and she was made president emerita.

In 1887, under the pastorate of Rev. Engle, the present church building was erected.

The Fidelity class of men and women who have children of school age, has taken a prominent part in the work of the church and with advice from older members undertook a few years ago, the remodeling and improving of the church building. Among the first projects was the installation of a furnace; next an addition was built on the rear of the main auditorium. During the past year the entrance was changed from the corner to the center front of the building, thus enlarging the seating capacity by about 50.

The old belfry was torn down and a new one built. The interior of the auditorium was redecorated, the pews refinished, new lighting fixtures installed and new draperies hung at the windows. New concrete walks have been laid leading from the side-walks to the main and side entrances and to the manse. The social room is well furnished, and has kitchen and dining room with tables and table service for 100, which at times is hardly adequate. Almost all the work was volunteered by members, with the ladies taking a leading part in planning and raising funds, and assisting with the painting. The work is now practically finished.

Children's Center to Open July 20 at West Stayton

WEST STAYTON—Sponsored by the Salem Council of Church Women, a "friendship center" to care for children whose parents are employed in harvesting will open July 20 at Darley's Plantation here, committee members have announced.

The center will be open week days from 7 a. m. until 5 p. m. Mrs. G. E. Ross is in charge while Miss Leora Strong will direct Bible study. The daily schedule includes clean up, story hour, handicraft, recreation, rest period, noon luncheon, outdoor story hour and nature study, flag salute, and outdoor play period.

Hot lunches will be furnished free to children at the center. Those from three to ten years whose parents are employed in bean picking will be eligible to attend.

The children also will be provided free first aid whenever needed, as well as magazines and games which are being loaned by residents of the community.

Special night features are being planned also. Monday will

Zuber Brothers' Bid Selected By Santiam Flax Growers; Plant to Be Built September 1

JEFFERSON—At the meeting of the Santiam Flax Growers association, the contract for Jefferson's flax processing plant was let to Zuber Brothers Construction company of Portland, low bidder at $79,975.

Second low bid was submitted by Concrete Construction company of Portland. Work on the construction of the plant will begin immediately, the surveying crew expected to be on the grounds Friday morning.

The Jefferson plant will be as large as any plant in the state and equipped with the latest type of machinery for greatest efficiency. The contract calls for completion in from 100 to 120 days, the first shed to be completed by August 1, and the four sheds by September 1.

The plant is a war project, financed by the Defense Plants corporation and by acreage payment by farmers. Flax from 1149 acres will be trucked to the plant from farms in Marion, Polk, Linn and Benton counties. It will employ 15 people the year around, and 40 may be needed during the rush season.

Jefferson was chosen for the centrally located in the best flax-growing district in the United States.

At the Philadelphia centennial in 1876, flax grown in the Parish Gap district north of town won every prize offered, competing with flax from every flax growing country in the world.

The plant will be built on the old Salsiney farm on the Talbot road, the buildings to be built in a semi-circle around the house, on the farm. All other buildings on the farm will be torn down. A sample of the water from the slough through the farm has shown to be suitable for retting.

The plant will be a complete processing plant, including 12 tanks and four sheds. Buildings will be of wood with concrete floors and composition corrugated asphalt roofing. There will also be the scutching shed, deseeding shed, warehouse and office, scales, a shed to house a 300-horsepower boiler and a fuel storage shed. Water pipes for general piping and fire protection will include seven and a half tons six-inch pipe, two tons five-inch pipe, two tons three-inch pipe and three tons two and one-half-inch pipe.
