Au Revoir to Mrs. Jenks ...

Mrs. W. J. Minkiewitz and Mrs. J. M. Devers were hostesses on Thursday afternoon at a party given in honor of Mrs. Walter T. Jenks who will leave soon to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Wade Thompson, in East New Haven, Connecticut, whose husband is professor of surgery at Yale university. The party was held at the Minkiewitz home on Richmond street.

The hostesses used garden flowers to decorate the table, when the 1 o'clock luncheon was served.

Invited were members of the Theater Arts Drama group, of which Mrs. Jenks has been a member for the past ten years. Those making up the group are Miss Alice Cray Brown, Mrs. Else Ehsen, Mrs. F. A. Elliott, Mrs. Blanche Jones, Mrs. Melvin Geist, Mrs. W. E. Kirk, Mrs. R. Ivan Lovell, Mrs. Ebert Oliver, Mrs. T. S. Roberts, Mrs. V. M. Sackett, Mrs. W. J. Minkiewitz, Mrs. Devers and Mrs. Jenks.

Mrs. R. C. Stuller, the former Edith Mae Jenks of McMinnville, was a special guest. Prof. and Mrs. Stuller are here for the summer while Prof. Stuller takes work at Willamette university.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Melvin Geist reviewed the book "Past Imperfect" by Ilka Chase.

Groups Will Meet ...

Marion auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold its monthly meeting on Monday night at 8 o'clock at Veteran's hall. Election of delegates to the national convention will be held during the session and reports of the state convention held recently in Portland will be made.

Deaconess Women to Meet

Members of the Salem Deaconess Hospital auxiliary will meet Monday at the hospital for the July session. The business meeting will begin at 1:30 p. m. and will be opened with a devotional message by Mrs. Irving Fox. Rev. and Mrs. Rudie Larson will be special guests and Rev. Larson, newly appointed chaplain of the hospital, will be the speaker for the afternoon.

Hostesses named are Mrs. E. D. Buell, chairman, Mrs. E. Krebs, Mrs. Monroe Cheek and Mrs. A. O. Condit.

The art and program committees of the Business and Professional Women's club held a joint meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Effie Arehart, 960 Garnet street. The program for the coming year was discussed and plans made for the issuance of the club's annual year book and roster of members.

Chairman of the art committee is Mrs. Arehart, and Miss Edna McElhane is chairman of the program committee.

Silver Anniversary ...

Prof. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Wednesday at the country cabin of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Siewert, with a group of friends. Supper was eaten out under the trees and the evening spent around the fireplace.

Attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Siewert, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Keene, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Doughton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hudkins and Prof. and Mrs. Roberts.

Prof. and Mrs. Roberts, the former Ethel Harding, then a school teacher, were married by Dr. R. N. Avison at the First Methodist church.

The President Returns ...

Mrs. George R. K. Moorhead returned this week from Boston and New York, after attending the General Federation of Women's club's board of directors meeting representing the Oregon Federation, of which she is the president.

The meeting was policy forming, stated Mrs. Moorhead upon her return home, and many speakers of nation-wide importance were present to discuss plans for the future. Heads of the women's war services were speakers: Col. Oveita Culp Hobby of the WACs, Lt. Com. Mildred McAfee of the WAVES, Lt. Com. Dorothy Stratton of the SPARS and Major Ruth Streeter of the marines gave talks, as did Mrs. Nancy Love, who heads the important women's air ferry squadron, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of the war department public relations, Miss Nancy Baird director of nursing service for the Red Cross, and Miss Margaret Hickey of the war manpower commission.

Speakers on peace and post war planning included Eli Culbertson, Senator Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota, Hon. Paul Appleby, undersecretary of agriculture, and others.

It was interesting to note, said Mrs. Moorhead, that none of the speakers invited to the meetings sent a substitute.

Party for a Visitor ...

Mrs. Harold Busick was hostess on Thursday night to members of her evening bridge club. A special guest was Mrs. Joseph Harvey, jr., a former member of the group, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Ellen Fisher, here.

Club members at the evening affair were Mrs. Wheeler English, Mrs. Wayne Page, Mrs. George Scales, Mrs. Kenneth Manning, Mrs. William Daahney, Mrs. Edward Stadter, jr., Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. Busick.

A Dance for Officers ...

A group of some 30 girls were hostesses on Friday night at a dance given for the staff officers of the 70th division in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. This is the second of such invitational dances given by the young Salem women.

The Misses Ernestine Frederickson, Helen Smith, Alice Ann Wirtz, Nancy Stricklin and Helen Ostrin acted as hostess committee, and were assisted by Major John E. Devine.

A recent bride is Mrs. Arthur Bliven, the former Katherine Gerig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Gerig, who was married at a ceremony in the Bellevue Baptist church at Memphis, Tenn., in June. The groom, a technician in the naval air corps, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bliven. They will live in Memphis as long as Mr. Bliven is stationed there. (Kennell-Ellis photo).

Vows Read at Home ...

At a ceremony Thursday at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gahlsdorf, Miss Dorothy Johnson became the bride of Mr. Robert Gahlsdorf of the navy. She is the daughter of Mrs. Earl Rowland.

The marriage vows were exchanged before the fireplace which was banked with green ferns and bouquets of white hydrangeas.

Miss Jewell Gueffroy played a medley of wedding selections, and the wedding marches. Rev. W. Irvin Williams of the First Presbyterian church read the service.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. C. A. Johnson. She wore a two-piece ensemble of navy blue and a corsage of gardenias. Miss Shirley Johnson, sister of the bride, was the honor attendant. Mr. Lyle Johnson of the navy served as best man.

At the reception which followed the ceremony, Mrs. H. A. Gueffroy presided at the punch bowl. Assisting with the serving were Miss Phyllis Gueffroy, Miss Shirley Johnson and Mrs. Lenard Robertson.

Friday morning the couple left for Norman, Oklahoma, where the groom is stationed.

Mrs. Gahlsdorf is a graduate of Salem high school and of the Oregon College of Education. Mr. Gahlsdorf was graduated from Salem high school and is now an instructor in aviation maintenance for the United States navy.

A Wedding Ceremony ...

The wedding of Miss Norma Hodge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hodge, and Lt. William J. Grijalva, son of Mrs. Amelia Grijalva of San Francisco, was solemnized in the Carrier room of the First Methodist church at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, by Dr. J. C. Harrison.

The bride, who entered the room on the arm of her father, wore a street length dress of aqua crepe with white accessories. The dress was made in two pieces, with a peplum edged with ruching, a high neck and short sleeves. The bridal flowers were pink and white sweetpeas, pink rosebuds and bouvardia.

The bride's sister, Miss Melba Hodge, attended her. She wore a gown of cinnamon crepe, with cinnamon accessories and her flowers were sweet peas in yellow and white.

The groom was attended by Lt. Leland H. Palmer of the medical battalion at Camp Adair.

Preceding the ceremony, Josephine Bross McGee sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Beauce." Jean Hobson Rich was at the piano.

Mrs. Hodge wore a dress of black and white printed sheer with a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Grijalva was unable to attend the wedding of her son.

The reception was held in the Carrier room following the ceremony. The fireplace was banked with pink and white roses, sweetpeas and blue delphiniums.

Mrs. Ferny Drury, Miss Thelma Taylor, Mrs. H. Clay Taylor and Miss Olive Cole assisted at the reception. Miss Cole, here from Cheyenne, Wyoming, is an aunt of the bride.

When the bride and groom left for a trip to the Oregon beaches, she was wearing a dress of white jersey with coin dots of cinnamon color. The dress is made with a dirndl skirt and has a quilted jacket with three-quarter sleeves. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Following their honeymoon, Lt. and Mrs. Grijalva will live in the Ambassador apartments.

Mrs. Grijalva, a graduate of Salem schools, has recently been employed in the public utilities department of the state. She was active in the Order of Rainbow for Girls, serving as the worthy advisor.

Lt. Grijalva graduated from San Francisco schools and prior to entering the army was employed by an exporting firm there. He is now in the medical battalion stationed at Camp Adair.

They'll Be Married Today ...

At 4:30 this afternoon at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Miss Shirley Joyce Cronemiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Foster Cronemiller, will become the bride of Corporal David Gordon Winthrop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vincent Davis, of Malden, Massachusetts, at a ceremony read by Rev. George Herbert Swift.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father. Miss Emily Davis of Malden, sister of the groom, will be maid of honor and bridesmaid will be Miss Betty May Vehn of Grants Pass.

Mr. William Mosher of Seattle will be best man, and ushers will be Lt. Lynn F. Cronemiller, jr., of Yuma, Arizona, brother of the bride, Mr. Walter Cline, Mr. Dean Ellis and Mr. Ralph Nohlgren.

Mrs. Thomas J. Drynan will sing preceding the ceremony and Mrs. Kenneth Dalton will play her accompaniment and the wedding marches on the organ.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper will be served at the Marion hotel, and attended by the wedding party, relatives and a few intimate friends.

Planning to attend the wedding of their niece are Mrs. H. J. McPherson of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. Noel H. Wynne and Miss Gladys Orford of Tacoma.

Following the wedding rehearsal on Saturday night, a buffet supper was served at the Cronemiller home. A crystal bowl of garden flowers and tapers in crystal holders decorated the lace covered table.

Miss Cronemiller graduated in home economics from Oregon State college and was affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta. She has been employed by KIRO and by the Seattle Times for the past two years.

Mr. Davis, a graduate of University of Illinois at Urbana, and the Cornish school in Seattle, has been educational director on station KIRO and is now stationed at Kessler Field, Mississippi, as a dramatic writer for the radio division of the public relations department there.

Does a Man's Job ...

By Maxine Buren

If you don't intend to join the WACs, you'd better not listen to Lt. Lilian Garrick, Salem's army recruiting officer. She'll make you yearn to get into a uniform and take a man's place in non-combat duty.

First thing Lt. Garrick impresses on her listeners is that the WACs are feminine, with no intention of looking or acting like men. They are taking the place of soldiers in 410 out of the 500 jobs assigned to the army. Each classification is strictly non-combat duty, she says, and women are more proficient in most of these jobs than men.

She quickly spikes the rumor that women are put through strenuous drills and very hard work at the training centers. Drilling is taught because the army believes it is the best way to teach discipline, is an excellent form of exercise, and marching is the best way to get a large number of persons from one point to another, with a minimum of confusion. And then too, Lt. Garrick says, one of the greatest thrills in being in the service, comes on the parade ground, for on you depends perfection of the drill.

But, while blond Lt. Garrick speaks enthusiastically about an interesting subject, it's the lieutenant herself that attracts her listeners. Both men and women agree she's a good recommendation for the WACs.

Though she lists Hollywood as her home address, Lt. Garrick has lived pretty much all over the world. With the name of Garrick, and claiming David Garrick, greatest of Shakespeare actors as an ancestor, her family was naturally interested in the stage. She received part of her education in England, while her actor-parents were playing engagements on the London stage. Until she was 17 she played child parts on the Broadway stage.

She was one of a group of young Americans to volunteer to drive ambulances in China during the early days of the war, and after serving there, returned home via Germany, France, and other European countries, "just to look around."

Entering with the first group of WAAC recruits, at Fort

LT. LILIAN GARRICK

Des Moines, she went in as an auxiliary, became a corporal and then went to officer candidate school. Coming out with a second lieutenant's bars, she applied for, and got a place in the speaker's bureau. After spending four and one-half months on speaking tours of the middle west, Lt. Garrick applied for transfer to the northwest on recruiting service. Following several months in Portland, she asked to be transferred to Salem "because I like Salem," she admits.

Now Lt. Garrick is awaiting a call to overseas duty, where she hopes eventually to become a correspondent for the WACs. She thinks that with her experience as an auxiliary, a non-commissioned officer, and an officer, she knows the WACs from the ground up, and could write about them.
