Convention Delegate Funds to Be Raised Through Dance

SILVERTON—The members of Delbert Reeves unit 7, American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Arthur Gottenberg, president, in charge, were hostesses to the post and their families Monday night, in the annual picnic supper at the city park with the regular business session following.

On report of Mrs. Jim Black, the unit voted to cooperate in sending new magazines and books to the Barnes General hospital in Vancouver, Wash. Mrs. Black said that several organizations had appealed for reading material for the soldiers being cared for at the hospital. Wednesday of this week was set for the first shipment with the group donating individual gifts of $5.55 as a start for the work. Anyone wishing to contribute new magazines or books for the cause may contact either the secretary, Mrs. Fay Bragg, at the Dickerson store, or Mrs. Arthur Gottenberg, president, at her home phone. The committee asks that new magazines or readable books of good quality only, be contributed.

Mrs. Lewis Hall suggested that the unit request the post to donate the financial results of one dance, Saturday, July 31, to the fund for paying expenses of delegates to the state convention at Baker, August 19 to 21. The men agreed to the plan and the committees volunteered their services for the affair.

Mrs. Clifton Dickerson, USO local committee chairman, asked the unit to serve at the Salem USO center Tuesday night, August 3.

Word has been received by Mrs. Jean Cunningham that gifts may now be sent prisoners of war of the Japanese government. Her son, Sheldon Cunningham, recently was reported a prisoner. Mrs. Ernest L. Starr told of having visited Mrs. Charles Johnson of Salem, the organizer, and first unit president, and that her condition is not so satisfactory. Mrs. Johnson has been very ill for a number of months. A card of appreciation will be sent Mrs. Clare Jarvis of Salem for a gift of a serving coffee pot to the unit. Mrs. Jarvis was active in the local work for many years.

Rowdies' Parents To Replace Flags On Vets' Graves

SILVERTON—Parents of rowdies are to be given the responsibility of replacing flags on the graves of veterans, decided members at the business session of Delbert Reeves post 7, American Legion, Monday night held in the city park following the annual picnic supper. Arthur Gottenberg, commander, was in charge of the meeting.

Younger boys were apprehended by local police when a daytime parade of flags was staged on the downtown streets, with the officials becoming suspicious as to the condition and quality of the flags. On questioning, the boys owned up to having taken the flags from graves in the city cemetery. The police offered cooperation with the post in making amends for the desecration and dishonor to veterans.

The post voted to pay registration fees and transportation of delegates to the state convention at Baker August 19 to 21. A scroll and service flag honoring sons of members in service will be purchased, and the post officials will be supplied with insignias of office.

James Cunningham, hurt in a logging accident and being cared for at a Salem hospital, will be sent a remembrance by the post.

The post and unit will continue meetings throughout the summer.

Platoon Pickers Find Harvest Results Poor

WEST SALEM—Only about 10 or 12 of the children of the 18 signed up in the children's labor platoon have been working with the platoon. There seems to be a feeling among the pickers that the orchards to which they have been assigned by the farm-emergency labor committee have such an inferior crop that the growers would have difficulty in securing individual pickers.

It is doubtful if the platoon will go out for berry picking, but they plan on being active in the bean harvest.

Lebanon Club's Herb Tea Draws Valley Gardeners; Seasoning Lore Revealed

LEBANON—One of the most gratifying things about the annual herb tea which was given by the Lebanon Garden club last Friday in the garden of Mrs. Clair Ford was the number of guests from other towns, members of garden clubs or similar organizations in their own communities.

This was the sixth herb tea given by the Lebanon club and Mrs. Ford, who was the hostess, was also general chairman. Mrs. Oliver Gunerson had charge of the herb festivities; Mrs. Ray Gleason of the herb punch and Mrs. Mary Hoyt of the herb tea.

Three cars, one a station wagon, brought the Eugene guests. Mrs. Fred Broders of Eugene, demonstrated the making of corsages from herbs and told where the herbs to be used could be found. Mrs. Louise Fletcher, also of Eugene, who has raised and written about herbs for many years, told about the best articles written on the subject of herbs and gave many interesting bits of herb lore in her talk.

Mrs. C. M. Howe and her daughter, Mrs. Lester Munt of Sweet Home, had an exhibit of wild herbs and of wild plants desirable for use in salads.

Mrs. W. E. Wilhelm, member of the American Herb society, told of her recent trip to California when she had an opportunity to speak of the commercial growing of herbs, particularly mint and sage, in Oregon. Miss Arlie Seaman, president of the Oregon Herb society, told about the work of that organization.

Mrs. Broders introduced Mrs. Reid of Eugene, who is chairman of the herb committee of the Eugene Garden club and she told about what they have been doing there to stimulate interest in the growing of herbs. Their last herb program included in addition to the program, a dinner in which locally grown herbs were used and to which their families were invited.

Mrs. C. A. Ratcliffe of Salem, who was chairman of the committee in charge of the herb tea given there last fall by the DAE, told about plans for another such tea this season and invited the Lebanon club to attend.

Mrs. Philip Lanning and Mrs. Pearl Wesner had charge of the booth at which the guests registered. Cards on which they could write their names were given to all of the guests. These cards were decorated with herb leaves and each bore a bit of herb lore. Miss Ruth Wight and Mrs. Clair Ford had made the cards.

The tables and booths were decorated with the national colors and with nasturtiums which symbolize patriotism. In addition to mint punch and mint tea, candied mint and candied borage leaves were served and cookies and sandwiches made with herbs.

Herb cook books compiled by members of the local club were sold and also packets of dried herbs for use in tea or other cooking. Sachets also were made and each guest was presented with a cutting of rosemary and of chervil seed.

Mrs. T. J. Vogel is president of the local Garden club and she and Mrs. Ford had asked a number of young girls to help with the reception of the guests and the care of the various displays. Mrs. Elmer Regester, who had charge of the sale of the herb book and of the dried herbs, was assisted by Gloria Shores, Nancy Gleason and Adalee McKinney assisted with

Mill Accidents Prove Serious

LEBANON—Victims of three serious industrial accidents within a week were brought to the local hospital from nearby mills and camps.

Leonard Field of Crawfordville, employed by the Powers Davis company in their Sweet Home plant, was caught by a limb and his right arm so badly lacerated that amputation was necessary.

Harold Green, employed by the Skagit-Linn company, had his middle fingers of the left hand amputated as a result of an accident in which his hand was caught in the machinery. Unfortunately he is left handed.

Grangers Talk Labor Laws

Crop Picking Ready At North Howell; Honor Roll Voted

NORTH HOWELL—Although attendance was somewhat curtailed by haying operations and cane fruit harvest, an interesting meeting was enjoyed Monday night by members of North Howell grange.

With W. H. Stevens presiding, the group authorized the purchase of a community honor roll for those in the armed service; tendered a vote of thanks to Mrs. A. B. Wiesner for her work on the coffee committee; and discussed the increase in state grange dues.

Dan Van Brocklin reported on the successful feeding of calf meat to young pigs, since the feed situation is so uncertain.

Also under discussion was the ruling by the labor commission which prohibits women and children from lifting more than 20 pounds at any time, or to carry more than 15 pounds for more than ten feet at any time.

Beans will be ready to pick in some yards by the first of next week; hops, evergreen blackberries, prunes and nuts are all coming along and all of these operations require some lifting and carrying as well as many hands.

Reporting for the Home Economics committee, Mrs. A. T. Cline named the subjects to be presented at the club meetings next winter as: 1—Understanding ourselves; 2—Making kitchens more livable; 3—Care and repair of non-electrical equipment; and 4—Women and the law.

The lecturer's program included a roll call on handy gadgets by Dan Van Brocklin; news from a member in the WAC, Caroline Baldwin, by her mother, Mrs. Thomas Bump; berry picking experiences; and special news from Mr. and Mrs. Orton Hilfiker, who have sold their farm in the middle Grove district and purchased a small tract of land on the River road north of Salem.

Mt. Angel Bids Farewell To Father Alcuin Heibel

MT. ANGEL—Mt. Angel said farewell and godspeed to one of its most prominent men, Father Alcuin Heibel, Sunday.

The farewell reception, held in the Legion Memorial hall, was arranged by Mayor Jacob Berchtold, O. L. Withers, president of the Business Men's club; Frank Heitwer, manager of the Mt. Angel creamery; Fred J. Schwab, manager of the Mt. Angel flax plant; Joseph Wavre, chairman of the school board, and A. G. Traeger, commander of the Mt. Angel American Legion.

The reception began at 2 p.m., Father Alcuin having previously been the guest of honor at the picnic dinner of the Mt. Angel fire department at Koster's grove. A short informal program was given for the first group who attended. A few words by the mayor expressed the town's deep regret at losing its leader and reiterated the question on everyone's lips, "Why must he go when we need him so badly?"

Father Alcuin himself answered the question in his talk by his explanation of the truly Christian spirit which he said was "to live for others." His work in Mexico will be that of a professor of rural sociology through which he will teach and help agricultural Mexico to a better way of living.

His parting admonition to the people whose leader he had been for eight years was "Keep your motives pure, your ideals high, work for others and work together in harmony no matter who your leader may be."

Other numbers on the program included a vocal solo by Miss Pauline Saalfeld, a talk by Rev. Hildebrand Melchoir, a few words by Sen. Carson and the general singing of old songs by all present. Mrs. Alex Scharbach was pianist.

The hours that followed until 6 p.m. Father Alcuin spent in shaking hands and saying individual goodbyes to the stream of people who came and went.

Among the out-of-town people who dropped in were Sen. John Carson and Sen. Frederick Lamport with Mrs. Carson and Mrs. Lamport of Salem, E. T. Carlson, former secretary treasurer of the Oregon Teachers' association, and Mrs. Carlton of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Heibel of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Glatt of Woodburn.

Last Friday night Father Alcuin was a dinner guest at the home of Gov. Earl Snell.

Father left for Mexico Monday, going by car.
