

3rd Marion Cannery Set

Community Project Being Sponsored At Woodburn

WOODBURN — A community cannery, financed by the federal government and operated under the auspices of the state department of vocational education, will be ready to operate by the first of August in the building formerly occupied by the farm machinery shop of E. V. Witham and son on the highway near the end of East Lincoln street.

The project is sponsored by the Woodburn school district and will be under the supervision of Carl Magnuson, the new instructor in agriculture at the Woodburn high school. Its facilities are available to all housewives who wish to pack their own produce with a minimum of time and expense. Meats, fruits and vegetables may be processed and sealed in either a No. 2 or No. 2½ can. The cost of the cans will be the only expense to the family.

The plant will be supplied with city water and has been wired for electricity to be used in the operation of meat grinding and canning equipment. The equipment includes four preparation tables, three blanching and cooling vats, two exhaust vats, two sealers and two cooking retorts.

As one home canner can cook and seal about 100 quarts of produce in two hours, it is desirable for the continuity and economy of the work that patrons make arrangements ahead of time so that the work may be effectively organized. This may be done by telephoning the plant office, Red 112.

The Woodburn home cannery is one of three operating in Marion county. It will be open as long as there are patrons wishing to can produce.

'Mrs. Biddy' Takes Family Out of Red

ALBANY — Mrs. Paul Steidel, living on a small acreage three miles south of Albany, has a hen which defies meat rationing, her owner claims.

Mrs. Steidel has been specializing in the chicken business this spring and summer and has a good sized flock of baby chicks as well as laying hens. One of the hens, a buff Minorca, as hens will do at times, stole her nest. Her owner went on the hunt for this particular hen when she did not come home to roost, and located the nest with 22 eggs in it. At least there had been 22 eggs in it, but when Mrs. Steidel found it, there were several baby chicks instead. Carefully taking the tiny chicks away from the mother hen, Mrs. Steidel placed them in a small brooder, for fear the mother might leave the eggs after several had been hatched out. As a result, out of the 22 eggs, 21 baby chicks hatched, one egg not being fertile.

Now the family will have at least a number of chicken dinners and will not have to worry about meatless days and a shortage of red stamps, for "Mrs. Biddy" has taken care that they will not be in the "red" at least a part of the winter.

Swegle Hires Janitor

SWEGLE — Swegle school board met Monday night at the school to let a contract to Mrs. Margaret Holmberg of route 6 to clean and prepare the building for the new school year and to serve as janitor during the year. Several other items of business were taken care of also.

Bean Festival Plans Ready

Stayton Fete to Be Streamlined; Dances, Memorial Slated

STAYTON — The Santiam bean festival will get underway next Tuesday, at the Browning Brothers carnival to start setting up on the lots adjoining the Star theatre and on the Harold lot at Fourth and Ida streets on Sunday and Monday.

Two dances on the outdoor tennis court will be given, one on Thursday night and one on Saturday night of next week.

The festival is conducted on a strictly "streamlined" basis, with no queen contest. Fernando Smith, chairman of the festival committee, reports everything in readiness for the annual event. Funds netted by this festival are added to those on deposit derived from previous festivals and are earmarked for the purpose of erecting a public building when funds, priorities and other requirements permit.

So far, names submitted for the "Gold Star" memorial board, of servicemen who have lost their lives or been reported missing from the Stayton area since Pearl Harbor include: Jack W. Berry, George H. Hallin, Dale Robert Hoey, Herbert Jacob Lulay, Alfred Francis Myers, Earl A. Miller, William Spoon, Earl Thorp, Merrill Van Cleve and Lane Matthe Weinberg.

Registration Falls at OCE

MONMOUTH — Registration at Oregon College of Education for the second half of the summer session is 115. This is a 15.4 per cent decrease from the same time last year. All enrollees are women students, and most of them are women students returning to the teaching field for the emergency period.

Cecilia Brennan, placement service secretary, says she has placed just one teacher in a rural school this summer, which shows that teachers are determined to get "out of the sticks" for the duration, at least. Miss Brennan states that she could offer positions to 100 more teachers at the present time.

Businesses Change Hands; Diner Opens

STAYTON — On August 1, Mrs. Earl Maurer relinquishes ownership of the Stayton Beauty shop, having sold it to Miss Edeltrude Hovenden of Woodburn.

Mrs. Maurer bought the Germaine beauty shop three years ago on August 1, consolidated it with the Chrystal shop, and moved into the Dozier building, also on August 1.

As Mr. Maurer's business takes him out of town continually, she plans to join her husband.

DALLAS — Abis Haas, a registered druggist, has purchased the Savery drug store from Henry Savery and took charge Monday. He plans to retain the present firm name, and Mrs. Eldon R. Frink will remain as pharmacist. His family will move here later in the season.

Mr. Savery, who had been in the business for the past 19 years, will devote his time to his farm interests.

JEFFERSON — Mrs. Jim Winfrey has reopened the Texaco Dinerette and again is serving meals, after being closed for several months. She opens for business every day during the week, and closes Sundays. Her husband, Jim Winfrey, is cook at the naval training station at Pasco, Wash.

Cow Injures Stanbrough

MONMOUTH — A. C. Stanbrough, mathematics head at Oregon College of Education, also principal of the high school here, met with an accident Thursday which had serious implications for him. He had bought a cow near Dallas, and started leading her toward home, on the highway. A truck approached; the cow became frightened and leaped against the truck. The impact threw the animal 20 or more feet killing her.

Two of Stanbrough's fingers on the right hand were so lacerated by the sudden jerk of the rope, that amputation for at least one of them was feared for a time, but it is now mending satisfactorily. The truck driver took Stanbrough to the Dallas hospital where his hand was dressed.

'Open Door' Policy Sends Driver to Jail

WOODBURN — It was the "open door policy" in T. C. Gorman's justice court that sent James William Fink, 20-year-old Forest Grove truck driver, to the county jail in Salem on Friday to await arrival of Tillamook officers who charge him with larceny of a car.

Arrested by state police for reckless driving, Fink was arraigned in Gorman's court Friday morning, while his two companions, Ann M. Gartner, 22, Portland shipyard worker, and Richard E. Beaman, 16, Hillsboro laborer, hiked on down the road.

Through the open door of Gorman's courtroom, the state officer who had made the arrest heard by car radio his headquarters in Salem describe a car stolen from Tillamook and headed out to pick up Beaman and Miss Gartner. All three were taken into custody later Friday in Salem by the Tillamook sheriff.
