Quota Lifted On Slaughter Of Livestock

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—(AP) The war food administration today suspended all quota limitations on the slaughter of livestock for a two months period in a move to increase civilian meat supplies.

Previous orders relating to quotas for beef, veal, pork, lamb and mutton for all classes of slaughterers were suspended, effective immediately, until midnight October 31.

The suspension does not affect provisions requiring the collection of ration tickets for meat under the rationing program of the office of price administration.

Its possible effect, officials said, will be to channel more meat to the civilian markets for those who have the ration points to purchase it.

The requirement that federally-inspected slaughterers set aside 40 per cent of their weekly production of beef meeting army specifications is retained. All other quotas are set aside.
