

Don't Look Now...

but... We've heard a lot of discussion about how all the Mexicans bought new hats on their day off. It may be a mystery to the men, but it certainly isn't to the women, for we, too, find that there's nothing like a new bonnet to whirl the spirits from the lowest depths to the greatest heights.

Fancy Seeing You Here... Parents of army people are expected to take care of their children or pets, but Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton think their for-the-duration charge tops all others. Recently from somewhere in the wilds of Kansas or Ohio, come their son-in-law and daughter, Ike and Betty Wintermute's beautiful black and white striped kitty, Herbert. The Hamiltons don't want to complain, for who wouldn't like to have an attractive feline around the house—but Herbert just isn't that kind of a kitty.

Two long lines... of Salem citizens stand patiently outside two popular business establishments just before noon, waiting wearily for the doors to open at noon. Eyes brighten and backs straighten in one weary group only when the sound of a turning key is heard—that's in front of the liquor store. Talk is brisker in the other line, the people are younger or maybe older, but not so tired—that's the ice cream shop.

Remember when... We used to hear "the customer is always right"... when we took long drives around the country on a Sunday afternoon... when we thought stamps were what you put on letters and bonds were what they sell on Wall Street? ... Maxine Buren

THEY'RE ENGAGED... The betrothal of Sybil Spears and Carl McLeod is the exciting romantic news this weekend... Sybil has worn Carl's Kappa Sigma fraternity pin for several months, but news of the engagement didn't leak out before the luncheon on Friday when Sybil entertained for Barbara Compton... To really surprise her guests Sybil kept Carl's mother and his sister and her family upstairs until the announcement was made and then they joined the guests... Sybil presented Barbara with an orchid corsage and hidden in the box was the betrothal card... Sybil is a popular member of the younger set and exceptionally active on the Willamette campus where she is a senior... Carl is now in San Diego, stationed with the marines.

SPEAKING OF WEDDINGS

two have been memorable for their simplicity and beauty in the last fortnight... Maxine Rogers, who is now Mrs. Robert Welden, wore a becoming white faille gown with Gibson Girl sleeves and full skirt... around her neck was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom... Arranged in Maxine's long, curly brunette hair was a coronet of stephanotis and orange blossoms... She carried Mrs. Alden Adolph's white prayer book with an arrangement of stephanotis, bouvardia and orange blossoms centered with a white orchid.

Noticeable among the wedding guests were the young air corps men and their attractive wives... Many comments about the bride's table... A crystal tier of gardenias and maiden hair fern for the centerpiece... Two who served... Mrs. Richard L. Cooley in purple crepe with long sleeves and draped skirt and at the wedding she wore a net scarf and headdress of lilac... Dorothy Hardie in a striking gown of amethyst velvet... Bob and Maxine were showered with rice as they left on their honeymoon... Bob is a lieutenant and a flier at the Salem air base.

Ceremony Read By Candlelight

INDEPENDENCE—At an impressive candlelight ceremony Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, Miss Betty Addison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Addison, was united in marriage to William F. Campbell, Jr., ensign in the US naval reserve, son of Mrs. Edith Campbell and William F. Campbell. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents at 135 Third street.

Before an improvised altar decorated with large baskets of pink and white gladioluses and white anemone and lighted white tapers in a tall wrought iron candelabra, the vows of the couple were exchanged. Rev. Tilton of Dallas officiated at the rites.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Jean Ellen Irvine played the wedding music. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a winter white two piece crepe dress with pastel pink wool embroidery and black accessories. Her nosegay was of pink roses, orchid and white sweet peas and bouvardia.

The honor attendant, Miss Connie Johnson, wore a dress of turquoise blue and a corsage of white gladioluses.

Serving as best man for Mr. Campbell was Mr. William Addison.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Addison wore a black silk with sequin trim and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Campbell also wore black and a corsage of gardenias.

A reception followed the ceremony for the group of invited relatives and friends. The bride's table, covered with white linen, was decorated with an arrangement of gardenias and maiden-hair fern in crystal and guarded by lighted white tapers. White satin streamers fell from the arrangement to the floor.

The bride's cake, three tiered and in white, was surrounded by a wreath of pink and white bouvardia and smilax. Mrs. Harrison Brant, dressed in black and wearing a corsage of pink gladioluses, cut the cake. Presiding at the tea was Mrs. L. W. Porterfield. She wore a silk crepe dress of beige and a corsage of orchid gladioluses. Miss June Ramsey cut the ices and Mrs. Keith Peterson of Salem and Miss Jean Ellen Irvine assisted with the

on Tuesday night at the First Presbyterian church... Myra made a striking bride as she walked down the aisle in her white wedding gown of moire with organza skirt... She wore her veil over her face and a Mary Stuart headdress was arranged on her long, blonde hair... Immediately after the reception the newlyweds left by car for Orlando, Florida, where Captain McDowell will be stationed.

HOME AGAIN... Werner and Jerry Brown and three year old son, John Chandler... The Browns have been living in Long Beach, Calif., for two years, but plan to be in Salem for only a short time as Werner expects to be in the army... They have grand suitans.

Another who has a becoming sultan is Mrs. Frank Spears, jr... Jimmy recently returned from Georgia where she has been with her husband since spring... While in the south she did lots of horseback riding and swimming...

Brown from a summer in Iowa are Stephen and Whitney Benson, young sons of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Benson... They spend each summer with their uncle, S. Russell Bell, on his large farm and are outdoors from sunrise to sunset... The boys went right out into the fields to help harvest the crops on arriving home.

HATS OFF to the junior high school girls, who have worked practically every day since the close of school in June... Their mothers are mighty proud and tell us besides holding down store and office jobs they have gone into the fields and canneries also... One girl learned the prune business from beginning to end, started with picking and ended up in the dryer... Another pulled onion sets before daylight each morning... A number of the girls are vacationing at the beach this week, a well earned one... and what's more they have earned enough money for their clothes this winter and their parents aren't allowed to buy them a thing.

Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Glen Smith, Mrs. Clarence Harwood and Mrs. R. M. Walker.

Mrs. Cora Berry was in charge of the altar decorations and Mrs. Charles Irvine had the honor of making the bride's nosegay. When Ersign and Mrs. Campbell left for a short wedding trip into Washington, Mrs. Campbell was wearing her white dress with a winter white coat and an orchid.

Mrs. Campbell attended the Independence schools and was a graduate of Oregon College of Education in 1942. While at the college she was president of the Collecto Coeds and secretary of the associated student body. She is teaching this term in the city school system at Milwaukie.

Ensign Campbell attended Willamette university for two years where he was affiliated with Sigma Tau fraternity and the following two years at the University of Oregon from which he was graduated in the class of 1942. In August of the same year, he enlisted in the USNR and was sent to the University of Notre Dame for his doctrination. From there he went to Northwestern university in Chicago, where he received his commission as ensign, December 24. He is now on a 21 day leave following active duty in the Pacific.

MONMOUTH — Complimenting Miss Betty Williamson, the Penney store employes at Independence sponsored a pre-nuptial shower Thursday night at the home of Mrs. William Wood. The bride-to-be was presented with a handsome wool-filled silk-covered comforter.

A feature of the evening was a display of movie-reel pictures taken of Miss Williamson and her fiance, Mr. Green, by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dickson, when the young man was home on furlough last June.

Mrs. Edith Keyes of Port Angeles, Wash., is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Edna McLeod.
