Jefferson Lodges
Pledge $3000;
Women Canvass

JEFFERSON—The Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges of Oregon have pledged to raise $350,000 for the third war loan drive, enough money to purchase a flying fortress. The two lodges in Jefferson planned to cooperate and sponsor a joint meeting Tuesday night. A short program was presented. A skit, "Why I Joined the Rebekahs" was given by members of the Rebekah lodge, Mrs. Lillian Smith, Mrs. Bertha Carl, Mrs. Millie Bilyeu and Miss Flora Thomas. Mrs. Leonard McCaw entertained with a vocal solo; and Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Wright also sang. Talks were given by members from Salem, including Marion county's chairman, Mr. McChord, and Irvine Wright of Jefferson. Jefferson lodges pledged $3000. Following the program lunch was served in the dining room.

BRUSH COLLEGE—Mrs. Karl W. Harritt, president of the Polk County Federation of Rural Women's clubs, plans to hold a business meeting and rally Saturday night, September 25, for canvassers on the bond drive at the home of Mrs. Paul Wallace of Brush College, for the purpose of getting reports on the progress made in different communities.

This week workers are concentrating on a house-to-house drive. Those wishing to purchase bonds are requested to visit the home of the canvasser in their district at their convenience as this will greatly facilitate the drive, which promises to be one of the most outstanding ever to be undertaken in Polk county.

Mrs. Harritt has named as canvassers in the rural sections of northeast Polk county: rural West Salem, Mrs. Roland Beaver; Mt. View and Orchard Heights, Mrs. Harold Gwinn, Mrs. W. H. Zimmerman, Mrs. A. Grice, Mrs. Duone Gibson, Mrs. J. W. Simmons, Mrs. Ray Barker; Brush College, Mrs. Carl Woods, Mrs. Paul Wallace, Mrs. Karl W. Harritt, Mrs. A. E. Utley, Mrs. Mike Focht and Mrs. O. S. Bartlett; Lincoln, Mrs. L. I. Mickey and Mrs. Nels Yenckel; Zena, Mrs. W. W. Henry, Mrs. R. W. Scott and Mrs. Ralph C. Shepard; Spring Valley, Mrs. Ben McKinney, Mrs. Carl Alderman and Mrs. Hugh Craig.

Drunk Pledges Clothes for Bail

SILVERTON — Paradox is the word that might best express the case of Charles McCannel, said to have come here from Gresham, when he was apprehended by Lewis Yates, policeman, on a charge of being "drunk and disorderly," because he was appearing as a Gungtha Din in a public place and was said to not have been sober at the time, then to have given as bail in Judge Bert Terry's city police court a good suit of clothes in lieu of a $10 fine and a 30-day suspended jail sentence.

Another unusual feature figuring in the case was the request from a brother of McCannel and his wife that they be permitted to remain for the night in the city jail, as they "had no other place to go."

The three have a car parked on the street, but they are unable to run the car, as it has two flat tires. Thursday's report on the case lined up one suit of clothes in care of the city and the trio occupying the seats of their automobile. They said they were here to help with the picking of prunes, local authorities reported.

Bilyeu Rite Set Today In Albany

ALBANY—Funeral services for Casper Wayne Bilyeu, 13, who died in the Albany General hospital Wednesday night, following an accident at the intersection of highway 99 and the South Santiam near Geary street, will be held from the Crabtree Christian church at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, September 25. Burial will be in Franklin Butte cemetery. The Fortmiller Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

The lad was born in Lebanon May 3, 1930, and had spent his brief life in Oregon. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bilyeu of Crabtree, and besides his parents is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Margie Grove of Albany, and Joanne Bilyeu of Crabtree, a grandmother, Mrs. Etta Bilyeu, and several uncles and aunts.

The fatal accident, which took young Bilyeu's life, also claimed another, that of Frank Schneider, 31, also of Crabtree, and who was driving the logging truck in which Bilyeu and another Crabtree lad, C. Dale Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Becker, was also riding. The truck which collided with the logging truck was a state truck and was being driven by Lloyd Moore of Oswego.

The three logs on the trailer were scattered along and across the highway, blocking traffic for over an hour. The truck burst into flames, and the front end is said to be a total loss.

The state truck, with trailer attached, careened from the highway and struck the residence of Mrs. Nettie Price, but damage was slight either to the house or truck. Moore and young Becker were both hospitalized, but were dismissed later in the day.

S. Sannerud, Ex-Silverton Man, Dies

SILVERTON — Harry Sannerud received word late Wednesday of the death of his father, Severin H. Sannerud, foreman of the Brooks-Scanlon steel crew at Bend. Sannerud at one time lived at Silverton for a brief time and has visited here a number of times.

He died at his home in the company's lumber camp after he had retired. He had been in apparent good health and had put in a full day's work at the camp, and with Mrs. Sannerud had come into Bend in the evening on business matters. After they had gone to bed he complained of sleeplessness, Mrs. Sannerud said, and got up and went out into another part of the house. Some time later, she went to see if he had fallen asleep and she could not wake him. When the doctor arrived he was dead.

Mr. Sannerud, who would have been 64 years old on November 3, had been with the Brooks-Scanlon lumber company since the establishment of the mill in 1915, and had been steel crew foreman for many years. Besides his wife, Inga, and the son, Harry, who lives here, two other sons, Arling and Robert, also survive.

Mrs. Harry Sannerud is the former Miss Lulu Goplerud, and is at present employed as a teacher in the Silverton schools.

Registration for Dallas Schools Slated Next Week; Courses Pointed Toward Pre-Induction

DALLAS—The city schools of Dallas will open on Monday, October 4, according to Supt. S. E. Whitworth. Registration of high school students will take place next week. The office in high school building will be open for registration on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 5. The office will also be open on Friday and Saturday nights, October 1 and 2, from 7 to 9 to accommodate those who are unable to register during the day. However, it is urged that students register during the day as far as possible, since the night sessions will probably be crowded.

While high school students may register on any of the days designated, it will be more convenient for those in charge of registration if the following schedule is adhered to as far as possible: Tuesday, September 28, seniors; Wednesday, September 29, juniors; Thursday, September 30, sophomores; Friday, October 1, freshmen. There will be no registration during the day on Saturday, since teachers' meetings will be held on that day.

It will not be necessary for pupils of the elementary and junior high buildings to register until the first day of school.

The war is having its influence on courses of study. In addition to high school courses offered in past years, there will be new "pre-induction" courses in aeronautics, fundamentals of electricity, radio code, and basic mathematics. These are the more important courses recommended by the war department. Courses in physics, chemistry and mathematics are emphasized more than in normal years.

In these days of high wages and shortage of manpower, some high school students will be tempted to remain out of school to work. All educational and government authorities who have studied the problem believe this to be a serious mistake. Few of those who remain out of school now will return after the war, and the problems of peace will more than ever require trained citizenship when the war is over, educators say.

The teaching staffs of the three Dallas schools areas follow: high school: Donald Gabbert, principal; Miss Barbara Jane Adam, home economics; O. E. Anderson, boys' physical education and athletic coach; Lloyd F. Beerman, US history, physics, aeronautics, fundamentals of electricity; Mrs. Genevieve Beharrell, civics, journalism, Spanish, Latin; Mary Martin Bradley, music; Miss Kee Buchanan, English, speech; Miss Helen Butler, librarian; Mrs. Billie Jean Dexter, English, history, Latin, debate coach; F. C. Green, mathematics, chemistry; Miss Maxine Horton, girls' physical education; Mrs. Veroka Morrison, stenography, bookkeeping, office; Ivan Noblitt, biology, general science; Dorothy Ott, English, radio code; Fairfax Parrish, manual training, shop; Miss Kathryn Rowe, typing; Miss Zada Tinker, English, general mathematics; Walter Bird, janitor.

Junior high: Lyle Thomas, principal; Mrs. Helen Holmes, fifth grade; Miss Alma Tostenson, fifth grade; Mrs. Hazel Reddick Jackson, girls' physical education and sixth grade; I. J. Padoen, boys' physical education and sixth grade; Miss Eugenia Shanks, sixth grade; Mrs. Bernice Sias, seventh grade; Mrs. Lois Alsip, seventh grade; Arthur Fowler, eighth grade; Donald Lundberg, eighth grade; T. L. Parsons, janitor.

Elementary school: Mrs. Genevieve Coad Walton, principal; Mrs. Fannie Domaschofsky, first grade; Mrs. Jessie H. Heath, first grade; Mrs. Vera Dodson Slawson, first grade; Miss Marjorie Ashby, second grade; Mrs. Margaret Wollett, second grade; Miss Dorthea Young, second grade; Miss Esther Cleveland, third grade; Miss Ruth Lierman, third grade; Miss Mildred Schneider, third grade; Mrs. Addie Gibbs, fourth grade; Mrs. Odessa Killin, fourth grade; Mrs. Dorothy Wutzke, fourth grade; H. H. Schultz, janitor.
