Where They Are—What They Are Doing

Ernest O. Carlson, second class seaman, above, has just returned to the Farragut, Ida., naval station after spending a 15-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Carlson of Sublimity. He is now taking an electrician course at Farragut.

Loring Schmidt, formerly proprietor of the Grand theatre in Salem, has been promoted from second lieutenant to first lieutenant in the transportation corps of the army. Mrs. Schmidt and their young son live at 1717 John street.

R. F. Waring, gunner's mate third class, US navy, is visiting in Salem with his sister for a few days. He has returned from 18 months service in the north Pacific, has seen action in Attu. Mr. Waring was with the Postal Telegraph company before entering the service.

Ensign John Gardner, formerly a Willamette university student and member of the Salem YMCA staff, visited briefly here this week en route to San Diego. He has had experience in the operation of flying boats and in naval photography.

Al Nowels, once an automobile salesman in Salem, now in the army, quartermaster corps and stationed at Vancouver Barracks, spent several days in Salem recently.

Lt. Marvin F. Morisky is on a 13-day furlough from Victorville, Calif., and is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Morisky of Brooks.

Lt. R. J. Stevenson of Garden City, Kas., formerly of Randolph field, Texas, is at the home of his mother, Mrs. Bessie Stevenson, for two days while on a cross country flight by way of Los Angeles. Lt. Stevenson was accompanied by Lt. E. W. Brandecker, also in the air corps.

Mrs. George R. Herberger received word from her husband that he is now in the south Pacific and is a second class petty officer. Their home is route 7, Box 430. He entered the navy in October, 1942.

SCIO—Cpl. Robert E. Pletka, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Lucille Pletka, in Scio a week, left Thursday for his army base at New Haven, Conn., where he is an instructor in photography at Yale university.

INDEPENDENCE—Lt. and Mrs. John Martin returned to Bend Sunday after spending several days in Independence at the home of Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Mattison. Lt. Martin recently has been elevated to the rank of first lieutenant.

Word was received this week by Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Carey that their son, Paul Carey, has been advanced to the rank of ensign in the navy. Paul has been a specialist at the fleet postoffice at Seattle. His new assignment has not been definitely established.

C. J. Burdick spent the weekend here visiting with his family. He is a chief commissary officer in the coast guard.

Ole Sverson arrived home Thursday to spend a 20-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Sverson. Ole, a first class seaman in the navy has been on duty in the north Pacific.

Lt. George Herley will leave Friday for duty at Bremerton, Wash. Lt. Herley has been assisting with the navy's V-12 program at Willamette university.

Service men
William G. Robison, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Robison of 20 Beech avenue, has been selected by the classification board for pilot training. He took his pre-flight training at University of Nebraska and is now in Santa Ana, Calif.

First Lt. Robert K. Powell, son of Keith Powell of Salem, has been retired to inactive duty because of physical disability. With Mrs. Powell, the former Audrey Shay, and their small daughter, he has returned to Salem and will serve as treasurer of the Salem Federal Savings and Loan association, by which he was employed before being called into active army service. He and his family will make their home at 1225 North 21st street.

roe, Va., and Camp Davis, NC, was commissioned and assigned to an anti-aircraft searchlight battalion at Camp-Hulen, Tex. He was promoted to first lieutenant in October, 1942, and was battalion adjutant at the time of his retirement.

Robert Lee Wallace, son of Mrs. Elsie Wallace of Aumsville, has reported at the naval training station at Farragut, Ida., for "boot" training.

ZENA—Byron Purvine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Purvine of Zena, has been promoted to staff sergeant at his station at Honolulu. In his last letter to his parents he said that his duties as machinist, welder, sheet metal man and crew chief of an airplane division keep him busy. Sgt. Purvine has been in the army almost two years and expects a furlough soon. He met many acquaintances in Honolulu, among them being a school teacher friend of the family, Miss Maybelle Roth, who formerly taught here and in Portland. Sgt. Purvine described the Elks club enthusiastically, saying that it was housed in an old Spanish mansion which was the most gorgeous building on the beach.

SILVERTON—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Powell have received word from their son Marshall, who is at Camp Claiborne, La. Powell is in the engineer department and will be at Camp Claiborne until he receives regular assignment. While he writes that army life is all right, the opinion of Camp Claiborne is scarcely printable. A three day hurricane was one of the features since his arrival there, he writes.

DETROIT—Pvt. Stanley White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis J. White of Detroit, who has been stationed at Camp Swift, Tex., since March 5 in the field artillery battalion, has passed the required tests for a period of training at Chicago Institute of Technology. The first elimination tests which were held recently were passed successfully and if the first 12 weeks are completed satisfactorily he will enroll for 72 weeks of training in civil engineering at the institute. His studies consist of chemistry, physics, history, geography, English, physical education and military government. Classes begin at 7:30 a.m. and are over at 8:30 p.m. He anticipates a short furlough in November.

Marion Has Most Seasonal Employers

Though in Oregon as a whole the number of employers whose operations are recognized as seasonal by the unemployment compensation commission has been reduced from 243 to 188 in the past year, the number in Marion county, highest in the state, remains steady at 25, officials of the commission said Thursday.

These 25 firms, employing 7325 persons, are in most cases canneries, it was explained. Their number of employees last year was 7548. Clatsop county with 23 firms employing 3357 persons, and Multnomah with 20 concerns employing 6405, are next in line. For the state as a whole the number of employees affected is reduced from 34,152 to 29,667.

Under the 1941 amended law, those employees who earn 25 per cent of their base year wages in non-seasonal work are not subject to benefit restrictions. Five counties—Crook, Gilliam, Harney, Jefferson and Tillamook—have no seasonal firms. Only one has been determined as seasonal in Baker, Curry, Grant, Sherman and Wheeler counties. Two main lumbering sections, Klamath and Lane counties, have 11 firms with 982 employees and 8 firms with 1787 persons, respectively.

War Bond Drive Extended to Meet Woodburn Quota

WOODBURN—The war bond drive has been extended until Saturday night in the hope that the $18,000 still needed to complete the quota in the Woodburn area can be raised before the drive is finished. According to Dean Bishoprick, chairman of the drive, by Thursday noon, bonds had been sold to the amount of $106,029.25; the quota for the district is $125,000.

About ninety per cent of the sales have been made in the house to house canvass. However it has been very hard to reach those who are engaged in cannery and shipyard work, as they are often away from home or sleeping when the worker calls. Those who have normal working hours have responded well.

Mr. Bishoprick urges that those who have not yet been contacted by personal solicitation, try to go to the bank or postoffice and make their investment to swell the sales and meet the quota.
