

Stocks Divide Gains, Losses

Call for Specialties Offsets Profit-Taking; Trade Relatively Light

By BERNARD S. O'HARA NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Demand for specialties served as an offset for profit taking in most of today's stock market leaders.

Mild irregularity prevailed at the start. Closing gains and losses of fractions were about evenly split although a few isolated favorites jumped 4 points or so.

Earnings prospects, as much as anything else, apparently motivated buyers. The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 50.4.

Modest improvement was exhibited by American Telephone, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Sears Roebuck, Caterpillar Tractor, Douglas Aircraft, American Can, Texas Co., American Cable & Radio, Paramount Pictures and Johns-Manville.

On the offside were U. S. Steel, NY Central, Southern Railway, Pullman, Chrysler, General Motors, US Rubber, Boeing, Allied Chemical, Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward, Philip Morris and International Harvester.

Agriculture Faces Postwar Regulation The relationship between agriculture and government in the post-war years will depend to a great extent on the relationship between government and industry and labor, believes William A. Schoenfeld, dean and director of agriculture at Oregon State college.

The dean recently made one of the principal addresses at a western states meeting of the council of state governments held in San Francisco. In his address on "Post-War Agriculture" Dean Schoenfeld pointed out that, while regulation is abhorrent to the American farmer, if after the war governmental policy continues to protect industry and labor, then agriculture will have to have comparable recognition if it is to attain any measure of equality.

"However, there will be serious question as to such agricultural protection programs with the government debt and taxes at the high points which will be experienced after the war," the dean pointed out. "Thus any forecast as to post-war agriculture must contemplate that its economic position will be established in its broad implications by political trends that shape the national economic policy."

For agriculture in the far west, however, the dean foresees a continued development of local production and marketing possibilities as affected considerably by the greater industrialization of the west.

"With renewed and more permanent industrial activity on the Pacific coast and with all business stimulated and population in-

Wheat, Rye Up; Oats Weak

Distilling, Feeding Demand Boost Bread Cereal to Season High

By WILLIAM FERRIS CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP)—Distilling and feeding demand for wheat, coupled with a broader commission house interest, gave the bread cereal gains ranging to about a cent today. Rye was up with wheat, but oats displayed weakness.

The market opened strong when an unusually small number of selling orders entered the pits. When December wheat reached $1.57, however, a fair volume of selling was uncovered and the market backed down. Prior to the close another sharp upturn developed.

At the finish wheat was 1/4-1/2 higher, December $1.56 1/4, May $1.54 1/4, rye was up 1/4-1/2, December $1.13 3/4, oats were lower to 1/2 higher and barely closed 1 1/4-1 1/2 lower.

All deliveries of wheat hit new seasonal highs and sold at the best levels since the boom days of the late 1920s.

The strong demand for cash wheat was illustrated by visible supply figures. The supply decreased 6,201,000 bushels last week to 156,050,000 bushels. In the same week last year, the visible supply increased 524,000 to 221,740,000 bushels.

The Commodity Credit corporation was revealed to have purchased only 36,739,000 bushels of wheat in the July 1-Oct. 9 period against sales of 134,832,000 bushels.

East Side Market PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 18 (AP)—The onset of cooler weather throughout Oregon prompted brisk buying at the East Side Farmers' market today. Demand was heavy for tomatoes.

Increased by commercial relationships with the orient which seem assured, this region in the course of 10 to 25 years may very likely become a much greater factor in demand for farm products. An example of this trend is found in my state.

"The Pacific Cooperative Poultry Producers formerly shipped 95 per cent of the eggs handled to eastern points. Now, only 5 per cent are shipped out of the trade territory."
