Withers, Scio merchant, is mayor of the municipal commission.

A tryout was reported successful a few days ago on the air warning service alert basis recently adopted by military authorities. The service continued only a few hours. Service on a 24-hour basis was suspended October 16 by order of superior officers.

Group Seeks Postwar Aid

Silverton Planning Commission Asks For Advice

SILVERTON — Postwar activities received a portion of the attention of the Silverton planning commission meeting held Monday night at the city hall and presided over by President Lowell E. Brown.

The matter was brought before the commission by a letter addressed to Mayor Reber Allen, from the postwar readjustment commission. This urged Silverton, with other cities, to outline plans for postwar activities when unemployment again is expected to be a problem and federal assistance procurable.

Commission members voted to send copies of this letter to various service clubs, fraternal, civic and religious organizations of the town, together with a letter asking that members of these groups pass their opinions and ideas along these lines on to the planning commission.

Silverton's proposed building code now will go to the city council with the recommendation of the commission, following the public hearing held Monday night in conjunction with the regular commission meeting. No objections were raised to the code.

City Manager E. K. Burton explained to commission members the proposed fire zoning of the city as outlined during the past week by William White, engineer for the fire insurance rating bureau. The commission did not favor a fire zone one, requiring absolutely fire-proof buildings, but will recommend instead zone two for the business district and place the remainder of the city in fire zone three. The commission also asked that the city council set a public hearing date for the proposed fire zones.

Present at the Monday night meeting were Mr. Brown, Lloyd Larson, Lillie Madsen, Mrs. R. A. McCannathan, Dr. P. A. Loar, C. B. Anderson, Mr. Burton and Mayor Allen.
