Why Vicks VapoRub Is So Good For Relieving Miseries of Childrens Colds

More than two generations ago—in grandmother's day—mothers first discovered Vicks VapoRub. Today it is the most widely used home remedy for relieving miseries of childrens colds. And here is the reason...

The moment you rub VapoRub on the throat, chest and back at bedtime it starts to work two ways at once—

Oyster Co-op Reelects 3 Directors

Warren Gray, Ernest Werner and Cornelius Stuy were reelected directors of the Coos Bay Farmers' Cooperative at the annual membership meeting Tuesday. Holt Stockton of Sheridan was elected in place of R. O. Dodson, who had asked to be relieved of his duties as a director for reasons of health. Ira Patrick and Ernest Hoisington are holdover directors.

The directors later reelected Warren Gray president and Ernest Werner treasurer, electing W. C. Cate vice president in Dodson's place. Charles B. Davis, business manager, was reelected secretary.

The cooperative's function is that of marketing oysters raised off Coos Bay beds owned by the members, most of whom live in the Willamette valley. The meeting, members reported, was entirely harmonious although the filing of several civil actions in the circuit court here in recent months reflected a disagreement which existed prior to a directors' meeting at which a change in management was effected. Members said the election's results amounted to a vote of confidence in the association's present policies.

R. E. Dimick, head of the state game and fisheries management department at Oregon State college, discussed technical problems of oyster production, declaring it was a "farming" operation and not a fisheries operation. He declared that the industry if only reasonably developed, may be expected to take third place among Oregon's farming industries.

DuBois Faces Two Charges Against Minor

Leon DuBois was arraigned in circuit court Wednesday on two charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor following indictment by the grand jury. DuBois pleaded innocent on one indictment and was allowed until November 12 to enter a plea on the second charge. The charges developed out of a charge of assault and battery brought in the justice court. Both charges involve the same minor.

Also indicted were Mervyn Gene Kensler and Doyle Clark McCann on a charge of assault with intent to rob in connection with the shooting of R. S. Shields of Me-hama last summer. They will be arraigned Friday, November 12, at 10 a. m. before Judge E. M. Page.

The shooting occurred after McCann and Kensler escaped from a flax field near the state penitentiary. Shields was seriously wounded and was in the hospital for several months.

Both Kensler and McCann were apprehended near Mill City and later were sentenced to additional terms of 20 years each for escaping and other acts which occurred during their flight.

James Oscar Green was found innocent in a not true bill which was returned by the jury. He had been charged with a statutory offense.

The jury's report was heard by Judge E. M. Page.

Marion Square Bandstand Ordered Razed

Marion square bandstand, once center of outdoor civic gatherings in Salem before Willson park became site for band concerts, has been sold for $10 and is to be razed, at a cost of $50, sometime before January 15, J. H. Davis, city engineer, revealed Wednesday.

Authority to remove the stand was given Davis at a recent council meeting. Otto Timm was the purchaser and will undertake the wrecking and removing of the building material contained therein.

Because the old structure had become a gathering place for unchaperoned children and undesirable characters, the council approved its removal.

Circuit Judge L. G. Lewelling extended the deadline to November 22 on Defense Attorney Leroy Lomax's assertion he had been unable to get over the voluminous transcript of court testimony. District Attorney Harlow Weirick agreed to the postponement. Previous extensions were allowed because of delay in completing the 800-page transcript.

Folkes was convicted on May 28 of slashing the throat of the bride of a young ensign as she lay in berth lower 13 of a limited train passing through Oregon last January 23.
