

Grains Vary, Close Even

Traders Follow Saving of Wheat In Making Alcohol

By WILLIAM FERRIS CHICAGO, Nov. 10. (AP)—With the market closed tomorrow, Armistice day, grains fluctuated within narrow limits today as the good and bad news about balanced one another.

At the close wheat was 1/4 lower or 1/8 higher, December $1.57 1/4, May $1.56 1/4.

Traders were interested in reports from New York and Washington that some Atlantic seaboard distilleries were re-converting to the use of molasses in industrial alcohol production.

The wheat saved by the reconversion would help to ease the tight feed situation, and this fact, it was thought by some, accounted for the comparative easiness of rise.
