Simplify Milk Subsidy Data, Polk County

DALLAS — Making the dairy feed subsidy payments to Polk county farmers will be reduced to a minimum of inconvenience for both the producers and the county agent's office where applications are to be received and from which checks will be sent, County Agent W. C. Leth announces.

Arrangements have been made with some of the organizations that receive dairy products from this county to supply the information on the products purchased from Polk county farmers during the subsidy payment period. This will save farmers themselves the necessity of sending in such information. Those who market dairy products at more than one place should be sure, however, that such information is supplied before applications are made out.

Information on production should be mailed rather than brought in person by those farmers wishing to submit their own. A double check is made on all calculations and the application form should be rechecked by the producer when it is sent to him for signing before he returns it for payment.

All applications must be received by November 30 for payment for October production.

This payment to farmers in Polk county will be at the rate of 45¢ per 100 pounds of whole milk produced or at the rate of 5¢ per pound of butterfat if only cream is marketed.

Farmers, states Mr. Leth, might well check with the organizations with whom they market their dairy products to insure proper records getting to the county agent's office for payment.

This payment is not mandatory and will be made only to those signing applications for it.

Polk Agent Will Provide Farm News on Radio

DALLAS — Polk and Marion county farmers will have an opportunity to receive up-to-the-minute farm news as well as seasonal information through a series of farm and home broadcasts arranged with the management of radio station KSLM, Salem. These broadcasts are scheduled for 7:05 each week day morning immediately following the first morning news broadcast over that station.

Responsibility is divided with the Marion county agent's office in the allotment of time and it has been agreed that the Marion county office will be responsible for Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday mornings and the Polk county office for Wednesday and Saturday mornings.

While the discussions over these programs will center largely on timely agricultural information appropriate to the season, questions that can be answered on the program are also invited.

The Polk county agent's office will thus be heard over two stations, as there is a program on the KOAC noon farm hour on alternating Tuesdays by the Polk county agent, W. C. Leth. This program is at 12:15.
