Former Pupil Speaks On Food Subsidy Proposals

ZENA-A representative group of Spring Valley Farmers Union members and a number of guests from other locals, attended the meeting in Zena school house.

Main speaker on the program was a former Zena boy, Merritt Nash, who spoke interestingly in support of the subsidies to stop inflation.

Mr. Nash, who with his brother has purchased the Frank Durbin farm, east of Salem, plans to make it into a modern dairy farm.

The Nash brothers Jersey herd broke the world's record for production for herd of over 40 cows in 1938. They have a champion cow and bull.

Merritt Nash is an enterprising young man. A former Zena student, later graduating from Oregon State college with honors, he then attended New York university where he received his master's degree. He worked with OPA in Idaho

In closing his talk the speaker gave reminiscences of his school days and boyhood on the Zena farm. Another interesting speaker was Mrs. L. Streeter, director of activities in the Orchard Heights junior Farmers Union, who spoke of problems confronting the youth in the country areas and the splendid incentive toward leading a useful and well balanced life offered by the junior Farmers union organization. Following her talk several in
