Where They Are—What They Are Doing

Ensign Rodney Vandeneynde, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Vandeneynde, is home on leave and will report on December 4 to San Diego. Last week he received his commission following graduation from midshipman school at Columbia university, New York. He is a former University of Oregon student.

Harold Bernard Allen, whose home address is on route 7, Salem, has been promoted from second lieutenant to first lieutenant of military police, the war department has announced.

Aviation Cadet Don Bower, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hugh Bower, spent Sunday and Monday at the home of his parents. He has been stationed at Yakima, Wash., with the navy air corps and is enroute to St. Mary's pre-flight school.

Lt. Wallace Sprague is now attending a naval training school in New York City. He has been stationed in Washington, DC. Mrs. Sprague is residing with her parents in Maplewood, New Jersey.

Pfc. Lester Hagen, formerly stationed with the field artillery at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, has been in Salem visiting his wife, the former Betty Pugh, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hagen and other relatives. He will report to Lawton, Oklahoma, following his furlough, and will be accompanied by his new station by Mrs. Hagen.

Pvt. Lester G. Falk, son of Mrs. Nellie Falk and the late Conrad Falk, 100 Iowa avenue, has left for New York. He recently spent a short furlough visiting at home.

Is Her Time His Time, or Vice Versa?

CAMP ADAIR, Ore., Nov. 29 — Cpl. Joseph Bonvicino, of the 70th infantry division headquarters detachment, Camp Adair, doesn't know what time it is in Oregon—and better not ask him. It all began when Cpl. Bonvicino, who hails from the Bronx, forgot to change the setting of his watch from Central to "Bronx" time when he was en route home for his furlough, six months ago.

As a result, he was an hour late for a date with his one-and-only heart interest, nearly causing a romantic mishap or worse. Then and there he set his watch on Bronx time—and when he came back to Camp Adair, he kept it that way.

All went well, until last week, when he received a letter from the one-and-only informing him she had set her own watch to Oregon time "so I can keep track of your movements, too." Just don't ask Bonvicino "What time is it?" for a week or two.

Adairmen Really Eager for France

CAMP ADAIR, Oregon, Nov. 29 1943 — Soldiers of Company L, 274th Infantry, can hardly wait to open a second front, in person. Their only condition is that the front be near St. Nazaire, France.

Reason: Pfc. Ernie Keinholtz of L company is one of the two or three people alive who know the location of a cache of thousands of bottles of the finest French wines, buried just before the German invasion of France.

The fabulous hoard was buried in feverish haste by a Swiss uncle of Keinholtz, employed as caretaker of the large estates near St. Nazaire. The wealthy owner and his employe, working furiously, salvaged what they could of the priceless wine cellar. Selecting a remote site in the orchard, they dug the wines under.

Only a few trusted friends and relatives were told the location of the hidden treasure, among them Keinholtz.

DALLAS — Delane Holter, seaman first class, spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Holter. Holter is stationed at Seattle and has been in the service since February.

Capt. Max W. Pemberton, stationed in Australia, has been promoted to headquarters commandant from company commander according to word received by Mrs. Pemberton.

SILVERTON — Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Satchwell are expecting a visit from their son, Ensign Wayne Satchwell, who has been taking special training at Harvard. Ensign Satchwell is expected to arrive Thursday for a brief leave.

James F. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hunter, 2380 Broadway, is spending a short leave with his parents. He is in the navy and is stationed at Seattle. He attended Salem high school in 1942.

Pfc. Darrell C. Woodward, formerly of 451 North Cottage street and Frank Dye of route 1 have been enrolled in special courses in the southern signal corps school at Camp Murphy, Fla.

NSecond Lt. Raymond F. Ringwald, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ringwald, route 3, Salem, is now stationed at Laughlin army air field, Del Rio, Tex., part of the army air forces training command, where he will receive a nine-week specialized course in piloting the Martin B-26 Marauder, world's fastest medium bomber. Only the pick of officers graduating from other twin - engine training schools throughout the country are selected to take this course.

Klamath Crops At All-Time High

KLAMATH FALLS, Nov. 29 — (AP)—Klamath basin's 1943 agricultural crop was estimated at an all-time high of $22,000,000 by C. A. Henderson, county agent, today.

This figure—gross sales value—covers 728,000,000 pounds of food, sufficient to feed all America's armed forces for about two weeks, Henderson said. The previous record was $16,000,000.

Seals Displayed For Each of 37 Years, Past Sale

Thirty seven Christmas seals are on display in the lobby of the Ladd and Bush bank, representing the 37 years seals have been sold for the benefit of tuberculosis sufferers. The collection, complete with one from each year, was assembled by members of the Salem Stamp Collectors club and put on display by them.

According to Mrs. Ruby Bergsvik, executive secretary of the Marion county health department, money is being turned in even earlier this year than in previous years. Stamps were sent to hundreds of residents of the county, with return envelopes for a cash remittance and the promptness of their return is taken as an indication of an extremely successful campaign for fund raising.
