Land Grant

Working of Oregon's land grant system of educational support, the tasks of the state land board, faults of the scheme as originally operated and the Oregon experiment as basis for action in other states were discussed Friday in a compressed and factual address before the Salem board of Realtors by A. J. Crose, state land board property manager. Lack of records, the system by which county school superintendents sold and issued deeds in early sales of the federal grants of two sections per township and the variety of loopholes left for graft in the early administration of the properties have been criticized, Crose said.

Low prices collected for lands in those early deals, he said nevertheless, resulted in putting onto tax rolls properties which have since paid for themselves in taxes, Crose pointed out.

Money for the sale of the land goes into irreducible school fund, but "too much of it is in low income bonds and cash" today because loans are hard to secure, according to the speaker.

Fifty per cent security is required by statute and money is loaned on the value of lands and not upon the value of improve- PROBATE COURT ments, although three years ago Brown has been spending a few a provision for leans on urban property was made by the legiboard has four or five such loans chinery sold to Frank Rice. outstanding and at the close of the war a number will probably be made, Crose explained.

GOLDIE RUTH WELLS

Missionary To Be Speaker

Miss Goldie Ruth Wells, for 24 years a missionary in the Belgian Congo in Africa, will be the guest speaker at the annual observance of Woman's Day at the First REORGANIZED CHURCH OF JESUS Christian church Sunday at 7:30. Miss Wells' home is in Halsey. She went to the Congo in 1919, a trip which took her then five and Family Sing a half months. When she returned recently, because of a serious illness, the trip took her just 57 flying hours by army plane. Significant of the high regard in which Miss Wells and her work among African natives is held is the fact that she was decorated by the Belgian government in 1938 with the Order of Leopold II for "outstanding service."

Woman's day is sponsored by the Woman's Council of the First Christian church as one of four missionary-education events during the year, intended for the entire congregation and friends Mrs. A. J. #### Salem Realtors List Housing For Engineers

Even Salem chamber of commerce officials, who had told federal government representatives repeatedly that Salem is not overcrowded, were a little surprised when they were promised more accomodations than they had asked at Friday noon's luncheon meeting of the Salem Board of Realtors.

"Six, eight or a dozen houses or apartments" were sought; two dozen possibilities were listed for engineers and draftsmen expected here shortly to prepare for the new alumina plant.

If priorities for materials and work needed to put them into living conditions are available; if furniture can be rented or purchased on a rental plan, Salem will have no difficulty in providing needed housing for the first contingents of workmen, realtors

Real estate offices with accommodations for rent which do not need furnishing, new heating systems, redecoration or other installations should register them immediately with the central office at the chamber of commerce Chamber Secretary Clay Cochran declared.

Scheduled

The Christmas season will introduced at First Presbyterian church Sunday at 7:30 with a family night carol sing. Parents are urged to bring children of all ages and sit in family groups. An evening nursery will be provided for the small children. Virginia-Ward Elliott, assisted by two choirs, will have charge of the Christmas sing. The entire service will be congregational singing of the familiar Christmas songs.

At the morning service the pastor will speak on the theme "Sharper Than a Sword." The senior choir will bring two special anthems: "From Egypt's Bondage Come" (Page) and "God Is a Spirit" (Bennett). At the midweek service on Thursday the pastor will tell the first half of the nativity story as arranged in the four gospels.
