Gram the BLEACHERS

Lt. (no 'JG') Harold Hauk, the Viking football-basketball coach now durationized, reminded the other day this last was Stuart "Butch" Nelson's 10th year of footballing . . . The former Parrish junior high and Vik grid whiz who started calling signals and was "in there" for Navy when the Middies knocked off Army this fall, started his pigskinning under Hauk at Parrish in 1934 . . . He played guard that season and in '35 moved to fullback. When Hauk moved to the Villa he again shifted-"Butch", this time to blocking back . . . Then came '37 and what Hauk recalls as the best team he's ever had, Nelson the fullback. Others on that eleven, incidentally: Walt Heinie, end; Tom King and Jack Hansel, guards: Johnny Myers, blocking back, and Al Wickert and Carl Chapman, halves. Lost only their opener to Camas, Wash.

LT. HAROLD HAUK

... Hauk kept Nelson at full in '38 ... In '39 Nelson backfielded for the Oregon Frosh and in '40 for the Webfoot varsity. Then the appointment to Annapolis and more gridironing the '41-42-43 campaigns for the Middies. And not once during those last three seasons has Navy been beaten by Army . . . "Butch" is all set for graduation now at the academy after 10 years of footballing, the entire 10 highlighted of course by his last game, that win over Army.

. . For as Hauk knows, "Butch" was the only ex-Salem high footballer playing maor college ball this year . . . Roy Helser, Albina Hellshipyard athletic boss, basketballer, baseball pitcher, softballer and impromptu fisticuffer who rings his crack Hellship quint to town Friday to play the Navycats, says the only reason he's playing on the team himself is because he wants to stay in shape for baseball next summer. Roy's under contract to Portland Beavers-you figure out the rest . . . They never quit . . . "Helser th' Hurler" modestly admits the Hellships have "a purty good team,' and adds the only reason it beat Gail Bishop and the Fort Lewis Reception Center Sunday was due to the maintenance of a 10-1 lead built up in the first five minutes of play . . .

$65 Down, $935 to Go-Let's Go!

The $65 contributed by Perfection Alleys' bowlers to the "Salem Packy this morning also. Division, National Infantile Paralysis Drive" (official title) now salted away at Ladd & Bush, we now look forward to the Salem Golf club doings of the coming Saturday (sweepstakes tourney), the allbenefit basketball game between Salem and Tillamook at the Villa next Tuesday night, the healthy slice Matchmaker Don Owen will carve from the weekly wrestling show receipts the same night, the proposed all-soldier bopping bee benefit "Promoter" Ira Pilcher is working on for the armory and the Willamette-Tillamook Naval Air Station hoop skirmish January 22 . . . Also, we've been told the American Legion Capital Posters intend turning one of their Friday night jam sessions at the armory into a polio benefit. On same we check with Commander John Olson and Maestro Tom Hill right away . . . Considering all assisting factions, the village's share in the nationwide fund-raising drive should amount to around the $750 mark when she's all in and ready to be turned over to Foundation Sports Council Chairman Grantland Rice . . . Keep up the good work, mates . . . Let's push it over the $1000 mark . . . Remember, half a clinch, then Georgie just couldthe sum raised locally will be turned back to battle the disease on the local front. The other half goes into the National Foundation for research, epidemic aid and education . . .

IMCA Church Hoopers Plan

At a recent meeting at the YMCA the Senior Church Basketball league was organized and plans were laid for this year's play. Ancil Morley of the First Baptist church was elected president and the constitution of last year was adopted with a few minor changes.

According to present plans, a iamboree will be held at the Y Saturday night, January 1. All teams will play that night and then the managers will meet to decide in which division the various teams will be placed. League play will begin the following week.

The following churches have indicated they plan to enter teams: First Methodist, First Pres-byterian, First Baptist, American Rush (0) Lutheran, Jason Lee Methodist, Calvary Baptist, West Salem Methodist and First Congregational. If there are any other church groups interested, they can join the league by applying at the

Smashing Right Puts Georgie Away Early

Jammed Armory Sees Hilarious Slugfest

By AL LIGHTNER Gorgeous Georgie Wagner had best stick to wrestling. This he unwillingly proved last night when he got his battle - scarred (and brittle) chin in the way of a wild haymaker swung by one Tough Tony Ross after just 20 seconds of their third heat in their 10-rounder at the armory, said chin catching said wallop with such effect that Georgie landed flat on his back and stayed that way until Rereree Packy McFarland counted him out. Even a "coke", his wife and a helpful Don Madison failed to bring bleeding Wagner around for some second after Ross, McFarland and a hefty portion of the jam-packed gallery sought the exits.

The long - awaited punching party was all it was cracked up to be while it lasted and had the customers howling from start to finish - especially at the finish. It was a typical boxing brawl between two rasslers -not much finesse, little footwork - just one haymaker after another, hilarious through-

It was Ross all the way, too. Four-Corners Tony displayed a classy looking left jab and kept Georgie off balance with it during most of the first two rounds. And when he unloaded his right he wasn't fooling. Neither was Wagner, and between the two there were some TNT-inflated blows landed. Such was attested to by Salem Boxing Commission Appointed McFarland who after the brawl declared the bemuscled gents were tattooing each other with much more than love taps. Wagner's kisser will bear out

Wagner, more reluctant to pitch toe-to-toe than Ross, nonetheless sank a hard right in Tony's ribs early in the first round, sending Ross down for a no count. After a wild skirmish in one corner later. Ross missed in getting out of harm's way Georgie hit the deck for a no count. At the bell both were flaying away-and hard.

Ross connected with one of hiswild rights early in the second sending Wagner down for a two count. Another wild skirmish and n't help being Gorgeous Georgie in person, so kneed Ross in the tummy as McFarland parted them. Wagner was rightfully reprimanded for his naughty deed by Mc-Farland, but that was nothing compared to what Ross reprimanded him with. A jolting series of lefts and rights and down went Georgie. At "three" the bell rang, saving him, but he was actually counted out before most of the clients, including Wagner and McFarland knew it had

Dazed Georgie was an easy target at the outset of the third -wham, wham, more vicious rights from Ross and down went Wagner for the night. A kingsized right both gashed Georgie's unprotected mouth and sent him to sleep early and ab-

The largest crowd to see an athletic event in years at the armory hooted and howled approval before leaving convinced to a customer the Ross-Wagner issue is settled. Even Gorgeous Georgie will admit it now.

The two grappling matches preceding the bopping bee were also better - than - average affairs although both were marred somewhat by substitutions. Elton Owen, the referee usually, went to a sizzling 30minute draw with Jack "Bash-'em" Lipscomb and Milton Adolphus Olson, the "Human Football", survived his usual physical beating by taking the third and winning fall from Glen "Baldy" Stone, the Seattle
