War Books Club Topic

DALLAS — The executive council of the PTA met at the high school Monday night. Mrs. Raleigh Middleton, president, was in charge.

The program included Christmas carols by Mrs. E. M. Tilton, Mrs. C. S. Butchart and Miss Mildred Hubbs. Mrs. Lyle Thomas accompanied. Bette Davis told of the progress made in the prevention and the treatment of tuberculosis; and of the part of the sale of Christmas seals has in it. Miss Marcia Hill of the state library talked at length on reading material for a war-disturbed world, stressing particularly books that are suitable for young people and children. Miss Hill had many books on display which she discussed and recommended. She also gave instructions on how to obtain books from the state library.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Middleton announced the appointment of Charles Cochran and Mrs. Varnum Shreeve to the recreation committee. She also called attention to radio broadcasts that are of interest to PTA members on Saturdays beginning December 18th and continuing through February 5th at 10:30 a.m. Mrs. Azela Sager of the Oregon State college, will be the speaker for the January meeting.

Remember me?

LIKE A HAPPIER CHRISTMAS THAT WILL RETURN SOME DAY

CHRISTMAS . . . symbolic of all the good things in our lives . . . happiness, fellowship, gift luxuries and delicacies . . . many now sacrificed that Christmas may again be as we remember it. Although our gifts this year may not include Societe chocolates . . . and the usual bon bon dishes of Societe fine candies may be missing from our homes . . . there's pleasure in knowing that the men who fight for us are enjoying them. Like the Christmas that will come again — so will these delicious confections.
