Woodburn Cubs Meet

Younger Boys Organize Sponsored by Scouts And Rotary Club

WOODBURN — Plans for organization of a Cub pack under the auspices of the Rotary club and the Boy Scouts is developing enthusiasm among the younger boys. Since the first meeting attended by prospective cubs, boys of 9 to 11 years and their parents, den chiefs have been appointed from the Boy Scouts to assist den mothers or groups of neighborhood boys.

The four dens begin meeting this week. Dens 1, 3 and 4 met at the homes of the den mothers after school, as follows: den 1, with Donald Kemmerich as chief met with his following at the home of Mrs. Leslie Paulson, South Settlement; den 3, led by Jerry Ellington met at the home of Mrs. Fred Odgers, East Young street; den 4 with Mrs. H. W. Roberts, northwest of Woodburn with Donald Crosby as den leader. Willis Meisenheimer is den chief for group number 2, which will meet Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. J. Rudi on the Pacific highway near East Lincoln street.

In the library club rooms Donald Lundberg, assistant scout executive, met with the four boy leaders and the den mothers and the pack committee, which includes Harold Ticknor, cubmaster, M. G. Henderson, Leslie Paulson and H. Hodkin, Tuesday night.

This group of leaders will hold a conference session at the library once a month, but the cub activities will be in the homes and back yards. Any 9, 10 or 11-year-old boy is eligible, and may gain admission to a den, if he has the cooperation and consent of his parents. Parents are invited to meet the executive committee to learn about the out-door activities and achievement ideals of the youngsters. It is necessary for a parent to be with the boy as he registers. The fee for registration is 50 cents, the weekly dues are five cents. When a cub reaches the age of 12 he is eligible for membership in the Boy Scouts.

Farm Machinery Repair Class Starts Monday at High School

A class in farm machinery repair for farmers will open Monday night, January 24, at 7:00 p. m. in the agricultural shop of the vocational building, senior high school. These classes are free to any farmer who wishes to repair or construct machinery.

However, he must purchase any materials or parts used on his machinery. This is one of three such classes being held in the Salem communities to date and is sponsored by the Salem schools in cooperation with the State Board for Vocational Education. Farmers who live close to Waconda are requested to contact Gene Goldade, who is in charge of the class at Karl Brown's repair shop. Those living close to Pratum should contact Ted Dewey who is the instructor of the class held there.

William Porter, automechanics instructor of the Salem high school will instruct the classes at the Agricultural shop on 14th and D streets. The kind of work which has been most popular in these classes is the repair of tractors, trucks, pickups and motors. Also the construction of big rakes, saw mounds, garden tractors from old cars, elevators and so forth. Farmers may do their work individually or in groups of two or three as they choose. They need not sign up. Just come out Monday night with a job to work on. Neal E. Craig, agricultural instructor, Salem high school, phone 6737, will give further information.

Community Clubs

MACLEAY — Because of illness of several members, the community club meeting, scheduled for last week has been postponed until February 11.

Officers for the year will be elected at the February meeting.

The Polk County Farmers' Co-operative Warehouse has been donated to store the papers temporarily and serve as a collection depot. Whenever possible, families are asked to take collections of waste paper directly to the depot. Students in the Dallas schools will bring waste paper from their homes to their respective schools on Friday and Monday.

The Dallas high school Victory Corps will pick up bundles of waste paper from homes in Dallas which have not been able to send or bring in their collection. If the weather is fair the paper should be placed on the parking strip or porch, but if rainy, members of the Victory Corps will call at the door.

Only newspapers, magazines and cartons properly prepared and securely tied in bundles can be picked up by members of the corps. State salvage headquarters suggest that the magazines be tied in bundles not more than 18 inches high and that the newspapers and collapsed cardboard cartons be tied in bundles not more than 12 inches high.
