Eyre Becomes Part Owner, Assistant Manager of Elfstrom's

Ralph M. Eyre, who joined the R. L. Elfstrom company in 1933, has become part owner of the entire business and assistant manager, Elfstrom announced Saturday.

RALPH M. EYRE

For the past seven years Eyre has been in charge of the paint department and more recently had acquired an operating partnership in the contracting phase of the department.

The new junior partner will assist in the management of all branches of the company's activities, whose several departments have a payroll of approximately 50 regular employees.

In addition to local contracting, the company has completed and is working on roofing, paint and floor covering contracts for numerous projects connected with the war effort.

Eyre came here in 1928, attended Salem elementary and high schools and worked part time for the Elfstrom firm during school years prior to becoming a full-time employe upon graduation.

"Ralph Eyre has been a faithful and untiring worker since joining my company," Elfstrom said Saturday. "I am indeed glad to have him more closely tied in with the operations and feel that his advancement has been most deserved."

Merritt Offers Spanish Class

Operators of business establishments here would do well to send their clerks to the Spanish classes currently held at the YMCA to get a smattering of the tongue, theorizes C. A. Kells, YMCA general secretary. A knowledge of the language, he advises, would be useful next summer if there is another influx of Mexican labor.

The Spanish classes are under the instruction of Theodore Merritt. Merritt's instruction methods stress the conversational side.

The classes meet on Saturday nights, beginners from 7 to 8 p.m., older groups from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

Victory Garden Confab Called At Portland

Better to understand and meet some of the problems incidental to the 1944 victory garden program, a regional victory garden conference has been called by H. W. Hochbaum, chairman of the National Victory Garden committee, to meet at the Imperial hotel in Portland on February 10. The session will serve Oregon interests in place of the regular state victory garden conference which was cancelled this year, reports Dean William A. Schoenfeld, chairman of the state victory garden committee, who has issued notifications of the Portland meeting.

Pertinent subjects to be touched upon at the confab will be food requirements and need for enlarging victory garden goals in 1944, seed and fertilizer supply situation, and possibility of community gardens. Accomplishments of the various states during the 1943 season will be reviewed.
