WOODBURN — A vigorous paper drive is being conducted by the pupils of the St. Benedict's parochial school for the war effort. It is all badly needed to make containers for shells, as well as for packing the charge in the shell.

Many citizens have commented that they have been saving paper but did not know what to do with the accumulation. Plans for Vets Are Discussed

Ask Legion Members To See Veterans Take Help Offered

SILVERTON — Mrs. Hubert A. Goode, Portland, national vice chairman of rehabilitation, American Legion auxiliary, was a guest of Delbert Reeves unit No. 7 Monday, when the post and unit featured "Parent's Night" honoring the men and women in service from the local community.

Mrs. Goode stressed the work of national rehabilitation for the more than 8000 men a week being honorably discharged from the war, urging her audience to "see that the returned veteran take advantage of the program outlined for him. Two booklets, "At Ease" and "Facts" were suggested to be placed in the hands of every discharged man.

A summary of the rehabilitation program was not only to re-establish the veteran into active life, or give him needed hospitalization, but to work for Legion legislation to protect the family of the veteran, or if a single man, to provide schooling in any line he wishes to pursue.

Another post and unit speaker of note was the department commander, Dan McDade, Portland, who pointed out the value in a legislative protective way, of the omnibus bill, before congress for the benefit of the veteran. Home folk should write their congressmen for the favoring of the bill, a strictly beneficent measure and a part of the Legion program as "a clearing house in every community for the returned veteran."

Commander McDade protested the placing of the words "mental case" on the discharge papers. Nervousness does not necessarily mean a mental case, the speaker declared, and argued that it gave the veteran a handicap. "Give him a job and encouragement," was the advice.

Another vital phase of the veteran program is distinguishing the difference between the "sanctuary" and constitutional rights of organizations, in discussing the definition of a true democracy.

More than 100 guests of officials, visitors from Portland, Stayton and local folk, were present at the joint social and program hour in which the eight members of the State Guard Songmen furnished an entertaining concert.

Clifton Dickerson, local commander, and Mrs. F. M. Powell, unit president, were official hosts.

Mt. Angel Oil Co-op Has Best Annual Report of 10 Years

MT. ANGEL — The Marion County Farmers Union Oil company has just completed the best year of its ten years' existence; William G. Stacey, CPA, submitted a report of operation and balance, sheet showing sales in excess of a quarter of a million dollars, to the patrons gathered at the St. Mary's school auditorium for the annual membership meeting. It was likewise the best turnout of patrons ever enjoyed at any meeting.

The local unit now serves most of the valley and Marion and Clackamas county. The meeting began at 10:30 and continued into the afternoon, with intermission at noon for lunch, served in the school dining hall.

The principal speaker was Charles Baker, general manager of the Pacific Supply Cooperative, of which Mt. Angel is the largest unit. He proposed a magnificent postwar expansion program that would entail expenditure of a half million dollars.

Hess William of the General Petroleum corporation stressed the possible gasoline shortage and its effect upon the farmer in his talk. He said it seemed reasonably sure that the farmer would be able to get enough gas for farming purposes but that he might be curtailed on road consumption. He also showed a film, "The Third Front", which depicts the farmer's part in the war program.

The sale of $251,921.56 as given by the auditor's report is an increase of about 8 per cent over the previous year. Gasoline sold amounted to 1,177,336 gallons, and diesel to 62,414 gallons.

The earnings for the year totaled $42,446.06 of which $25,000 is being paid to members at this time. This means an immediate return into the community of over half the profits realized. The two directors elected for a period of two years are Robert Harper, Gervais and George Kruse of Mt. Angel.

Immediately after the general elections, the board of directors met and re-elected Ernest Werner of North Howell as president; Warren Gray, Marion, as vice president; and Peter F. Gores, secretary and manager.

Werner and Gray have held their respective offices for ten years, ever since the cooperative was organized, and Gores has been manager and secretary for the past seven years.

Under this leadership the co-op has enjoyed continuous growth, climaxing its success in 1943.
