Buyers Comb Stock List

Steels, Rails Falter; Rubber Makes Gains

By BERNARD S. O'HARA NEW YORK, Feb. 9 .- (AP)-Buyers combed the stock list for "special situations" today and permitted the leaders to find their own

Price movements generally were narrow and irregular. Steels and rails faltered near the close but rubbers and mixed assortment of shares pushed ahead for moderate gains.

Final hour bidding lifted Kansas City Southern Preferred 3 points and Louisville & Nashville a point or so, and it was suggested buyers felt these stocks had been neglected in the recent surge of interest in the rails.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite showed a closing advance of .1 of a point at 50.1. Transactions totaled 625,795 shares against 608,390 Tuesday.

Among gainers at the finish were American Can, Eastman Kodak, Park & Tilford, and American Distilling.

Blue Monday!

CAMP WHITE, Feb. 9 -(P)-Eugene Kearns lamented Monday that his wife could never be convinced that war is tougher than washing.

He's been unruffled by machineguns, barbed wire and mud. But when he tried to help his wife do a spot of laundry, he had to call on the doctor for treatment of a wringer-crushed hand.

Other Grains Climb; CCC Buying, Storing Boosts Trading

By WHLLARD ROBERTSON CHICAGO, Feb. 9.-(AP)-Wheat prices advanced more than a cent during futures trading today and then backed up a little near the close. Other grains climbed fractionally in sympathy.

The main bolstering influence was a report in the pit that the Commodity Credit corporation would offer to buy cash wheat from farmers and store it in steel bins at points where elevator facilities are unavailable. Traders said they believed this might take additional wheat out of circula-

Wheat closed 1/4 to 3/4 higher than yesterday's finish, May $1. 70%, oats were up %, May 79%, rye gained ¼ to %, May $1.30%-% and barley was 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, May $1.22.

Some scattered wheat buying was attributed to mills and cash interests. Demand for flour, however, was not considered aggressive and mills were said to be well booked ahead. The Northwestern Miller, trade publication. said the volume of-flour business resulting from the announcement of the February subsidy program had not been up to expectations.
