Don't Look Now...

but... this is just the kind of a day we used to go out to Bush's pasture and look for spring beauties.

So nice to stay home for... A high school teacher reports that one of her students brought an excuse for absence from class, "because of the income tax" is said. The teacher just didn't have the nerve to ask why, it was too good.

Well anyway... if we didn't learn anything else at college, we did learn not to step on the seal of the state of Oregon, it isn't polite. We cringed everytime we saw people standing on it the day of the McNary services.

Going up!... Word comes through press releases that Lucille Cummings, former Salem girl, has come up for semi-finals in the Metropolitan auditions. When the contralto appeared before the microphone for the auditions of the air several weeks ago, she mentioned being born in Salem, attending school here and teaching music at the Blind school.

Some use, after all... At last, someone has found a good use for the governor's sunken garden. The other day we watched about ten little boys rolling down the slope. If after dark sometime passers-by see a round ball of something, rolling down the slopes, walking up and rolling down again, they'll know it's... Maxine Buren we always did like to get something for our tax money.
